Compare Good Queen Mary.
Men's Tragic Destiny.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE "CENTURY OF PROGRESS" exposition is opened for the second year with a success big enough to please even Chicago. Anything must be big to satisfy Chicago.

Already it is apparent that this year's greater and better exposition will eclipse the first year, in attendance and in every other way.

The day before the opening, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Company, gave a dinner for important men, at which were discussed, ably, matters of greatest importance to every human being in this country. You will read more about that in this column hereafter.

HENRY FORD was there to inspect his new exposition buildings. Before he realized it, half a dozen young Americans, twelve to fifteen years old, had recognized him, appointed him their guide, without pay, and kept him busy for an hour explaining everything to them, while his distracted secretaries tried to remind him of important business appointments.

Mr. Ford told them:

"These boys are more important. There is nothing serious the matter with a country when the young people are interested in new ideas."

DO NOT FAIL to visit Chicago's wonderful "Century of Progress Exposition" this summer. See what has been done in the past century of progress. See your country, coming and going, and ask yourself what the next century of progress will accomplish, when this little depression stomach-ache shall have been forgotten.

REALLY BIG world-news tells of an alliance, of arms, between Soviet Russia and "capitalistic" France. The same old story as in the days of czars: France and Russia unite, with Germany, feared by both, between them. This time, France has an alliance with a real POWER, and France will probably, this time, as formerly, express her joy with friendly loans.

Germany worries, but should not be surprised. Chancellor Hitler's denunciations of Communism invited that Russian-French alliance.

QUEEN MARY, of England, celebrated her sixty-seventh birthday on Saturday, all her family around her, all Britain and the rest of that "far-flung" enterprise wishing her many more happy years. Queen Mary has always set a good example, most important in every mother, queen or washwoman.

CONTRAST QUEEN MARY with some other queens, with foolish, unfortunate Marie Antoinette, who asked, "Why don't they eat cake?" when told the people had no bread.

Contrast her with the ancient Queen Didi, reputed builder of Carthage, who raced up and down the beach, yelling after Aeneas, who had left her, then stabbing herself to death. And Aeneas was not even her husband.

Or contrast Queen Mary, respectfully and distantly with Catherine the Second of Russia, who knew, intimately, young and old gentlemen, exceeding in number the feet of a centipede, and she made them all rich at the expense of miserable, slaving Russian moujiks. Of course, Catherine did many fine things. For instance, she purchased at a high price the scientific library of the philosopher Diderot in need of money and told him to keep it with him in Paris until she could decide where to put it. She never decided while he lived, and she bought and preserved intact the six thousand volumes of Voltaire's library, after his death. But morally, she left everything to be desired. Happy the country with a king and queen like George and Mary, working hard, always behaving well, eager to carry out the wishes of the British people.

MUSSOLINI, observing world-wide preparation for war, and no disarmament, says, "If I must fight, I must," and gets ready, wastes no time sobbing or sighing.

Before nineteen forty, beginning at once, he will spend one thousand million lire on fighting surface ships and the same huge sum on fighting airships.

"Many's tragic destiny is war," says he, and tells Italians to prepare for long hard times, to meet the war bills.

At least eighty per cent of Europe wants peace, and does not know how to get it.

MAN'S "TRAGIC DESTINY," as Mussolini says, may be war for the next few years, or generations or even centuries. But centuries are small specks of time in the life of the earth and the future of mankind.

We have been beating, cheating, fighting, enslaving, biting and eating each other for half a million years, but there are hundreds of millions of years ahead, and already there is improvement.

Civilized men do not collect heads. They do not burn captive kings alive, as Cyrus was about to burn Croesus, or force parents to look on while their children are tortured to death, or stretch men on the rack for religious differences, or saw them in two lengthwise for revenge. "Tragic war" will disappear, as cannibalism, slavery, the debtor's prison, and other horros have disappeared.

BAD NEWS of strikes and other dissatisfaction continues. Troops in Toledo again firing on the mob, radical rioters in New York City fighting police.

Some news is better. The Minneapolis teamsters have adjusted their difficulties and the

MRS. FRANK J. KIER

HOME ROBBED, CAR HITS TREE

When hard luck comes to the socially prominent Mrs. Mary Myler Kier she gets it in double doses.

The Pittsburgh socialite and mother of the Baroness Jean Pellenc, of Paris, paid a $10 fine in Traffic Court today after a hearing before Magistrate Charles F. Papale on a reckless driving charge.

And yesterday "Inwood Lodge," the Kiers' palatial home at 1201 Beechwood boulevard, Squirrel Hill, was entered by thieves and robbed of several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry, including a $500 gold watch, a pistol and a small amount of cash, according to a police report.

These occurrences interrupted for a time the preparations of Mrs. Kier and her husband, Attorney Frank J. Kier, to leave for New York, where they will sail June 6 for a trip to Paris and a visit with their titled daughter, the former Frances Kier, a Pittsburgh debutante.

Mrs. Kier was arrested on the reckless driving charge after her automobile allegedly ran into the rear of a car driven by Attorney E. Jack Kent, of 822 South Negley avenue, at College avenue and Howe street, yesterday afternoon. She then is said to have crashed into two trees.

Kent's car, forced against the curb, snapped off a fire plug and turned over twice. He was slightly injured. Kent blamed Mrs. Kier for the accident. Magistrate Papale dismissed a reckless driving charge against Kent.

Mother, 26, Gives Birth to Five Girls

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 28.—(AP.)—Mrs. Olivia Dionne gave birth to five girls at her home, a few miles from Callander, nine miles south of here, today. All are healthy and "chirping," Dr. A. R. Dafoe, of Callander, the attending physician said.

Mrs. Dionne is 26 years old and has six older children.

U. S. Calls Political Friends to Testify Against Senator

BULLETIN.

Strange markings on ballots were shown to the jury late today by Maurice Nernberg, government handwriting witness. The government contends these markings represent vote cheating for the candidacies of Senator Coyne and Congressman Muldowney.

Government prosecutors today turned to State Senator James J. Coyne's closest political friends in their effort to convict the Senator and 11 other Republicans of conspiring to steal the congressional election of 1932.

They called to the stand as government witnesses leaders of the Republican organization—William H. Coleman, the county chairman; C. J. McBride, a state appraiser, and George Metzler, former police magistrate and member of the Legislature.

They called these witnesses after two other government witnesses, James and Timothy Bailey, brothers, had been accused of testifying against Senator Coyne because they wanted revenge for the loss of their places on the city payroll.

SLEUTH CALLED

And after Government Prosecutor James I. Marsh had pleaded surprise in examining one of his own witnesses, Mike Stabile, county detectives was called.

Coleman and McBride and Metzler all testified to being with the Senator on election night, on early morning after. But nothing in their testimony seemed, in

WAGNER SEEKS STEEL PEACE

Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, interviened today in an effort to avert a threatened steel strike, with a telegram asking M. F. Tighe, of Pittsburgh, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and tin Workers, to come to Washington for a conference.

Tighe and other officers sought to reach Wagner on the telephone and by telegram. Tighe said:

"There seems to be some mix-up over this. What we want to know is who intigated this move of Senator Wagner's. If it is his own, we certainly will comply with his request."

Tighe denied there had been any split among the Amalgamated's membership concerning the union's demand for recognition from steel companies demanded by June 10.

In Washington, the Labor Board chairman refused to discuss his plans, indicating he believed there was more chance for removing successfully in the situation if he did not talk about it for publication, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

13 Burn to Death In Bus in France

BORDEAUX, France, May 28.—(INS.)—Thirteen persons were burned to death today near here when a bus carrying tourists from Spain crashed against a pole and burst into flames. The doors jammed and only four of the passengers could extricate themselves.

Barbara Locks Out Alexis

International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 28.—America's $40,000,000 princess may never reach the first milepost along the royal road to romance.

Still in the first year of a gilded honeymoon with Prince Alexis Mdivana, Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth 5-and-10 fortune, was locked in her suite at a London hotel today, tearfully awaiting the arrival of her father, and defiantly refusing to discuss the reports of an impending divorce.

To a point-blank inquiry Princess Barbara flared into the trans-Atlantic telephone:

"Won't you let me handle my own affairs for once in my life?"

"But Miss Hutton"—to America she is still Miss Hutton—"your countrymen have a natural interest in your happiness—"

There was a sharp click over the Atlantic ether waves, and then the voice of the English telephone operator, speaking in cold accents:

"Sorry, America, but the Princess is no longer there!"

Neither was the Princeling Mdivani, who has been occupying a connecting bedroom in the suite at the Hotel Claridge, but whose preference for the society of his polo ponies and his Parisian cronies is alleged to have brought about a definite break with Barbara.

In answer to imploring letters from Barbara her father, Franklyn L. Hutton, was hurrying to her side as fast as the liner Bremen can carry him.

He sailed at midnight Saturday.

NRA SUSPENDS PRICE-FIXING

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 28. — The NRA today started removing the fair trade practices and price-fixing restrictions it has imposed upon the scores of so-called service trades and industries as a whole.

In accordance with President Rosevelt's executive order scrapping codes for minor industry and service trades, Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson suspended the fair trade practice sections of seven industries.

Under the President's order members of these trades will continue under the provisions applying to maximum hours and minimum wages and also guaranteeing the right of collective bargaining and abolishing child labor. The President reserved the right to cancel or modify any of the service codes of minor industry agreements.

TRADES LISTED

The seven industries included under Johnson's order are motor vehicle storage and parking, bowling and billiards, barber

Japan's Dying Hero Insists on Ceremony

TOKIO, May 28.—(INS.)—Admiral Heihachiro Togo, Japan's national hero, was nearing death today in his eighty-eighth year, because of his anxiety to pay proper homage to his emperor on the twenty-ninth anniversary of his victory over the Russian fleet, which was yesterday.

For several days he insisted on leaving his sickbed to practice the bow he would make toward the palace when the emperor left it to attend the celebration of the admiral's victory.

Bullitt on Tour Of Russia by Plane

MOSCOW, May 28. — (AP.) — Ambassador William C. Bullitt, of the United States, set out by airplane for South Russia where he intends to spend a brief vacation on the Black Sea coast and in the Southern Ukraine. The trip, which is the first long distance flight ever made by a foreign diplomat in Soviet Russia, will require about 10 days.

CUBAN THUGS WAYLAY U. S. OFFICIAL

'Get Out of Town', They Warn; Gunmen Fire On Ambassador

HAVANA, May 28.—(AP.)—While the Cuban national police searched for the gunmen who yesterday shot up the residence of Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador, a group of gunmen today waylaid the automobile of H. Freeman Matthews, first secretary of the American embassy, and smashed its windshield.

Matthews was not in the car at the time, but the assailant who smashed the windshield declared to his American chauffeur:

"This is for Matthews!

"Get out of Havana within two weeks. This is your last trip to town."

Authorities interpreted the act as a direct threat against the diplomat whose authority here is second only to that of the ambassador.

ARMED QUARTET

The attack on the automobile was made by four men armed with machine guns and pistols. The car was being driven by Charles Taylor, who was returning to Matthews' home after delivering the secretary this morning at the United States chancellery in downtown Havana.

At the intersection of twelfth street, not far from Ambassador Caffery's home, which was riddled yesterday by Anti-American bullets, the young men drew up alongside Taylor, threatened him with their weapons and delivered their "ultimatum" after shattering the windshield of the auto with a pistol butt.

Yesterday's shooting of Mr. Caffery's residence was regarded as an attempt to assassinate the embassador.

FIRE ON AMBASSADOR

The cabinet, shaken by the affair, met in a special session to discuss the plot against Caffery's life. The explosion of two bombs in a residential section shortly after midnight added to the excitement which gripped Havana.

The attempt, made in gangster fashion, did not harm Caffery, but may cost the life of Francisco Ortega, a soldier on guard at the Caffery home.

Four unidentified men rode slowly by in an automobile and blazed away with sawed-off shotguns into the entrance of the home. It was the hour Caffrey usually left for the Yacht Club.

The ambassador was some distance away at the time. One of the several shots tore off Ortega's leg.

Police blamed "Communists or other Radicals" for the attempt.

Communist leaders denied any connection with the incident.

Lucas, Republican, O. K.'d as Magistrate

The first Republican to be named a police magistrate in this administration, Attorney Anthony Lucas, of 1815 Wittmer street, North Side, was confirmed unanimously by Council this afternoon. He fills the vacancy caused by resignation of Charles J. McCall.

POLO GROUNDS, New York, May 28.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Giants were tied this afternoon in the first game of a doubleheader.

Larry French and Hal Schumacher were slab rivals in the early fight.

Giant officials made of the event something of a holiday occasion. Before the first game the National League and world championship pennants were raised upon the flag poles.

Mrs. Barney Dreyfuss, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. John McGraw, widows of the former Pirate owner and Giant manager, were honor guests. A crowd of 15,000 was on hand.

The game in detail:

Police Hunt Father As 'Kidnap' Suspect

Believed to have "kidnaped" his own two children, Jerome Collison was sought by police today after his wife, from whom he is separated, filed a complaint with Wilkinsburg police charging him with non-support, assault and battery.

Collison, driving an auto with Ohio license plates, was thought to be headed for Columbus. Mrs. Collison told police that her estranged mate came to Wilkinsburg yesterday, took the children and disappeared.

EGAN GETTING P. S. C. POST

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, May 28.—The appointment of Thomas C. Egan, Philadelphia attorney and chairman of Gov. Gifford Pinchot's unsuccessful Republican Senatorial campaig in Philadelphia, to the vacancy on the Public Service Commission resulting from the death of George W. Woodruff, will be announced this afternoon, the Governor's office said today.

Egan will be appointed for the remainder of Woodruff's term which expires July 1, 1941. To serve until then, however, his appointment must be approved by the State Senate.

A native of Shenandoah, Egan is 39, married and has two children. He enlisted as a private in the World War in 1917 and became a second lieutenant. After the war he studied law at the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated in 1921.

'Coin' Harvey Hurt, Condition Serious

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—(INS.)—Suffering from a fractured left hip, W. H. (Coin) Harvey, 83, free silver advocate and presidential candidate of the Liberty party in 1932, was brought to a hospital here today from Rogers, Ark. His condition was described as serious.

ROSSI, CODOS SAFE IN PORT

Dump Gas at End Of 38½-Hour Ocean Flight

BULLETIN.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 28.—(AP.)—The French fliers, Rossi and Codos, brought their trans-Atlantic plane Joseph Le Brix to a safe landing at Floyd Bennett Field at 2.38 p. m. eastern daylight time today.

They appeared over the field from the northeast at 2:30 p. m. and circled the airport three times, dumping gasoline in preparation for their landing.

They came down in a long, graceful glide and rolled their big plane for a considerable distance before bringing it to a stop.

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—Two hardy Frenchmen backtracked the Lindbergh trail today and were within striking distance of duplicating the only other non-stop ight across the Atlantic from Paris to New York, made four years ago by two of their countrymen.

Apparently forced to abandon, because of mechanical trouble, their original non-stop objective, the Pacific Coast, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi drove their huge silver monoplane, Joseph Lebrix, southward down the New England coastline to New York.

Nearing Boston at 1 p. m., Eastern Daylight time, they notified officials at Floyd Bennett Field to make ready to service their ship, and sent their respects to President Roosevelt through the Canadian Ministry of Marine.

CALIFORNIA-BOUND

They were expected to reach New York on their daring flight about 3 p. m. It was expected that they would take off then for California, completing the 6,100 mile journey in two jumps instead of one as previously planned when they took off from Paris at 12:10 a. m. Sunday morning.

Wireless conversations with the Radio-Marine Corporation station at Chatham, Mass., brought the report that their monoplane had developed "minor trouble." This was thought to be the cause for the stop in New York.

Theirs is the second successful flight over the dangerous westward ocean route from continental Europe to the United States. They were preceded four years ago by Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, who flew non-stop from Paris to Valley Stream, Long Island.

It was not determined, in wireless messages from the Joseph Lebrix, the extent of the trouble other than "minor," and a message to the comander the United States fleet advised officials only that they intended to land at Floyd Bennett Field.

ATLANTIC CROSSING

Flying in from the sea with the dawn, Codos and Rossi sped their silver monoplane over North America at first hoping to reach the Pacific and a pot of gold—a French government prize of $66,000.

The airmen, who had planned such a non-stop flight as never

'Squire' Must Pay Costs In Domestic Quarrel

Justice of the Peace E. C. Shoop, of Springdale, was named as the "real prosecutor" and ordered to pay costs by a jury in Criminal Court today in acquitting John Swick, New Kensington, on an assault and battery charge.

Swick's wife had testified she asked Squire Shoop to compel her husband to stop abusing her and her stepson, John Mentecki, 16.

When she was unable to pay $27 costs, her husband was held for court, she said, on information which she had sworn to at Shoop's suggestion. Visiting Judge W. A. McConnell told the jury it could place the costs on Shoop if it saw fit.

Companionate Marriage Advocates Seek Divorce

LONDON, May 28.—(AP.)—Earl and Countess Russell, both authors with unconventional views on the subject of marriage, are the principals in a divorce suit which has been docketed for trial during the summer term of court.

The Countess filed the suit, alleging unfaithfulness, the only legal grounds in England, and the case was listed as undefended.

The Russells—they prefer to be known as Bertrand Russell and Mrs. Dora Russell, rather than by their titles—have advocated companionate marriages and "preliminary partnership."

One of Mrs. Russell's views was:

"Complete inexperience is inadvisable both for men and women when they marry. I would not insist on absolute faithfulness after marriage."

Russell in a book in 1932 came out for companionate marriages in universities. He said:

"With economic independence of women marriage as it has existed since men took to agriculture is likely to end. Women will share their children with the state rather than with the husband."

COYNE'S FRIENDS PUT ON STAND AS WITNESSES FOR U. S.

DEFENSE CHARGES BROTHER OF BAILEY THREATENED TO JAIL SENATOR

itself, to implicate Coyne with the conspiracy.

Coleman and McBride told of having breakfast with Coyne in Child's downtown restaurant some time after 3 a. m. on the morning after election.

Metzler testified to meeting the Senator and other Old Guard Republicans early in the morning at Penn and Main streets—after the returns had begun to indicate that all was not well with the Republican ticket.

HOTEL RECORDS

They preceded to the stand W. E. Lang, an auditor for the William Penn Hotel, and Maurice Nernberg, government handwriting witness who was expected to testify that markings on ballots taken from disputed wards indicated cheating.

Government Prosecutor James I. Marsh asked Lang for hotel records which would indicate whether Senator Coyne was registered on election night in the hotel—where the government contends the vote-stealing conspiracy was hatched.

Defense counsel objected to Nernberg's testimony, contending it had not been shown any of the defendants handled any ballots. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker overruled the motion.

Prosecutor Marsh brought from Stabile, the county detective, that he had driven Verona about the Third Ward to the polling places on election day.

Stabile testified that that night he had gone home from the William Penn Hotel.

Marsh, pleading surprise, contended that before the grand jury Stabile had testified he went from the hotel to the Amerita Club, hangout for Verona and his friends.

Stabile did not deny this.

James and Timothy Bailey, important government witnesses, today were accused of testifying against State Senator James J. Coyne because they wanted revenge for the loss of their places on the city payroll.

These charges against the Bailey brothers were made by Attorney O. K. Eaton, counsel for Coyne.

Muldowney was an interested spectator in the courtroom today when Eaton hurled his insinuations at Timothy Bailey, whose brother James had charged that Mayor McNair and the Mayor's secretary wanted him to testify for Coyne.

THREATS CHARGED

Eaton charged that Timothy Bailey, in the presence of other city employes, had threatened:

"I'll get those Irish pigs, Coyne, O'Malley and Muldowney, if Jim (his brother) and I have to frame them.

"We'll get them and put them in jail . . . We'll put that fat-head Coyne out of business . . . Jim and I are going down to testify before the grand jury and we will fix them."

To all these charges Bailey entered an emphatic dnieal.

Eaton had pursued the same line of attack when James Bailey, the discharged city assessor, was on the stand.

Witnesses who followed Bailey to the chair included Police Lieut. Michael O'Connor, Albert Barry, ex-city detective, and Mark Conley.

They corroborated minor points of the Bailey testimony, in fixing the presence of Martin Mullen and Pat O'Malley, both defendants, in the Tenth Ward on election night.

Government prosecutors will dip into a dozen or more ballot boxes today and display to a jury of 12 men ballots which they contend are either doctored or counterfeit.

And with this evidence Prosecutors Louis E. Graham and James I. Marsh will have all but completed their case.

DISPUTED BALLOTS

With the contents of the disputed ballot boxes—from the Second, Third, Fourth, Tenth, Fifteenth wards — the prosecutors plan to show principally that Congressman Muldowney, a Coyne man, was the beneficiary of the vote-cheating. Muldowney's election was, at the time, contested by the Democratic nominee, Mrs. Anne Felix.

Today and possibly tomorrow the prosecutor's shafts will be aimed not only at Senator Coyne but at those of the remaining defendants who thus far have been barely mentioned. These are Alderman John J. Verona, John A. Fugassi, Frank O'Halloran, George W. Savage, Louis J. Conley, Assemblyman Patrick J. Maloney and Harry Fink, former deputy constable for Verona.

'TARGETS FOR U. S.'

Those who have figured more or less prominently in the testimony, besides the Senator, are his brother, Tom Coyne; Walter Butler, of the Fourth Ward; Martin Mullen, Tenth Ward district chairman, and P. J. O'Malley, the Coyne leader in the Strip.

O'Malley and Senator Coyne were the targets for the testimony of the government's star witness, James Bailey, the discharged city assessor, who charged that he was fired because he refused the request of Mayor McNair and the Mayor's secretary, Theodore L. Moritz, to change his testimony so that it favored the Senator.

Bailey testified that O'Malley came to see him in the Tenth Ward on election night, explained that the Senator had sent him, and asked Bailey's help to doctor the ballot boxes.

18TH VOTE TRIAL

This is the eighteenth trial growing out of the federal grand jury probe last June and July which resulted in indictments against 107 men and women on charges of vote frauds in the Thirty-second and Thirty-fourth Congressional Districts.

There have been 59 convictions and 18 acquittals. The first two cases tried ended in disagreements by the juries, but convictions were obtained when retried.

Another case, that against five members of the election board in the Second District, Second Ward, ended in a jury disagreement, but it will be again listed for trial, it was said.

Testimony as Coyne Defense Grills Witness

Timothy Bailey, brother of James Bailey, the government's star witness, resumed his place on the stand when court opened today.

Over and over Attorney Mead Mulvihill had the witness trace his movements between 1 and 3 a. m. after the polls had closed.

Bailey had testified that he was in the neighborhood of the polling place of the Fourth District in the Tenth Ward and that several persons had asked him to locate his brother.

Q.—Who was present when Maurice O'Conner delivered a message to you?

A.—Mark Conley.

Bailey then testified that he saw a car stop near the polling place, that one of two men who got out of the car asked for directions to the polls, that he followed them to the polls.

Q.—Whom did you follow to the polling place (about 2 a. m.)?

A.—A man by the name of John Donaghue. Another man got out of the machine and they went into the polling place. I didn't go in. I waited until these two gentlemen came out and I went home.

Q.—Were there many people in there?

A.—Well, I saw one man who shouldn't have been there.

Attorney Edward G. Coll took up the cross-examination.

Q.—What time did you go to bed?

A.—I didn't get to bed until about 5 o'clock.

Q.—What kept you up so late?

A.—Well, I was waiting for my brother.

Q.—But didn't you answer Mr. Graham's question last week by telling him you didn't hunt for your brother?

A.—Well, I didn't hunt for him.

Attorney O. K. Eaton began questioning him:

Q.—Do you know Ralph Bigley?

A.—Yes; he worked for the city.

Q.—Were you working for the Department of Public Safety in December, 1932?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Was Mr. Bigley working for the city then?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know Senator James J. Coyne?

A.—I don't know him to speak to.

Q.—Are you friendly with him . . .?

Prosecutor Graham objected.

Q.—Did you, in the presence or hearing of Ralph Bigley, in a room in the City-County Building in the latter part of December say, in reference to J. J. Coyne and Mr. O'Malley: "I'll get those Irish pigs, Coyne, O'Malley and Muldowney, if Jim and I (meaning James Bailey) have to frame them and we'll put them in jail?"

A.—No. Never.

Q.—Wasn't your job in the city eliminated about that time?

A.—My job was eliminated.

Graham made objections to several questions of a similar nature and Eaton continued:

Q.—Did you talk to Bigley shortly after you lost your job?

A.—I talked with him, yes.

Q.—Did you say on one occasion that "we will get them and put them in jail?"

A.—No, never.

Q.—Do you know Joseph A. Moore?

A.—Yes, he's a city employe.

Q.—He was chief clerk in the bureau of fire. Was his office in room 205, City County Building?

A.—I believe it was somewhere on that floor, and may be.

Q.—Did you say in his presence or hearing, "We'll put that fat-head Coyne out of business?"

A.—I never use that kind of language.

Q.—Well, did you say it without the offensive language?

A.—No.

Q.—Did Bigley not ask you, on one occasion, "who is we" and you answered "Jim and I."

A.—No.

Q.—Did you say in the Civil Service room of the City-County Building, in the presence of James J. Lloyd, "We are going to get Coyne and O'Malley?"

A.—I never talked to him in the Civil Service room.

Q.—Were you in any other room and made that statement?

A.—No.

Q.—Do you know John F. Dalton?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you say in the presence of Dalton that Coyne, O'Malley and Muldowney were through and "Jim and I are going down to testify before the grand jury and we will fix them?"

A.—No.

Q.—Did you and your brother, in the presence of Lawrence O'Neill and Clarence Obitz, in the O'Neill Motor Company, say, "We will get that big pig-headed Coyne if it's the last thing we do. We will put them out of politics and in jail?"

A.—No (the witness smiled).

Q.—Did your brother say that in your presence?

A.—He was never there in my presence.

Q.—And didn't you add, "You're dam right we will?"

A.—I'm positive I never said that.

Q.—The Muldowney mentioned in my (Eaton's) questions was in charge of the budget for City Council at that time, wasn't he?

A.—I don't know.

Albert Barry, the ex-city detective, now unemployed, was then called by the government. He testified he had been chairman of the Eleventh District of the Tenth Ward for the Republican organization.

He testified he and Martin Mullen were in Mullen's home about 11 o'clock election night. He "thought" Maurice O'Connor, too, was there.

Police Lieut. Michael O'Connor took the stand for the government. He testified he saw Martin Mullen and Maurice O'Connor near Fifty-fourth and Butler streets about 11 p. m.

Q.—Did you see Patrick J. O'Malley?

A.—I seen Pat O'Malley between 11:30 and 12 standing outside Martin Mullen's home. He came in a machine and remained not more than seven minutes.

Mark Conley was called and asked if he had seen O'Malley or Mart Mullen and he replied in the negative and dismissed.

Maurice O'Connor, brother of the police lieutenant, was called. Graham questioned him:

Q.—Do you know Mart Mullin?

Yes.

Q.—Did you see him election night?

A.—Yes, I walked up to his house, and saw him in front.

Q.—During the time you were there, did you see Pat O'Malley.

A.—I saw him.

Q.—What time?

A.—Between 11:30 and 12.

Q.—How long did he stay?

A.—About 10 minutes.

Q.—During that time, did you see Timothy Daily?

A.—No.

Attorney Coll cross-examined and tried to get the witness to specify a definite time when he said it was sometime after 11.

Q.—Did you see James P. Bailey in front of Mullen's house?

A.—No.

Graham objected and the question was stricken from the record.

John L. Friel was called, and was identified as a legislative candidate on the Democrat ticket opposing P. J. Maloney and George Metzler.

Q.—Do you know George W. Savage.

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you see Savage election night?

A.—Yes. I was with Mr. Bennett and Mr. Sheehan and George said "hello" from his car, somewhere along Butler street.

James Sheehan told of touring in search of election returns with Friel and Joseph C. Brennan, runing mate of Friel, and seeing Savage again early the morning after election in front of Alderman William Scott's office on Butler street.

Q.—Did you get in?

A.—No, the door was locked. I kicked and rattled. A car pulled up behind us, Savage got out and we just exchanged greetings. I told him we couldn't get in.

Joseph C. Brennan, asked if he could identify Savage, answered:

"The day before yesterday he introduced himself to me."

Q.—Can you recognize him as the man you saw the morning after election?

A.—No, I can't tell.

Q.—Did you get any returns?

A.—I saw tally sheets in the Fourth District, Ninth Ward. They showed 325 for Metzger, 115 for Brennan.

Q.—When the complete count was made, was there a difference?

A.—It ran about the same.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Savage and Mr. Maloney election night?

A.—No, I saw them the next morning.

Q.—When?

A.—About 1:30 they came to my house and asked me to direct them to some of the districts so they could get the returns. We visited the Eighth and Ninth districts. In the Ninth, we couldn't get anything, so we drove down to Alderman Scott's office on Butler street.

The witness testified he then went to the home of Charles Martin, Republican chairman of the Tenth Ward.

Q.—Were Mr. Savage and Mr. Maloney still with you?

A.—Yes, sir . . . His sister wakened Charlie (Martin). I told him Mr. Savage and Mr. Maloney wanted to see the returns. He gave me the keys (to the real estate office of his brother, William Martin) and we went down to the office . . . I left them about 5 to 3 in front of Mr. Martin's office.

Martin's sister, Miss Effie Martin, then took the stand and verified the call at the house in Aiken avenue. Charles Martin, the ward chairman and former city assessor, was then called. He, too, corroborated Fullen's testimony, explaining that during the night returns in the legislative fight had been gathered at the office.

Q.—Did you telephone your returns to Republican headquarters in the William Penn Hotel?

A.—No. Why should I?

Cross-examintion:

Q.—There were no (ballot) boxes at that office, were there?

A.—No, sir (smiling).

George C. Metzler, a successful Legislature candidate from the Second District in that election, was then called and in a booming voice answered all questions, disclosing his appetite for beer.

Q.—What did you do after the polls closed?

A.—I covered the ward getting returns, then went to the fire engine house in Forty-fourth street?

Q.—Did you see Mr. O'Halloran, Mr. Maloney and Mr. Savage there?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did O'Malley come in?

A.—No, sir (shouting).

Q.—Where did you go from there?

A.—To a club at Fiftieth and Harrison streets to drink beer . . . with (Lou) Conley.

Q.—Did Conley get a telephone call?

A.—I think he did . . . He answered it and said, "Come on, George, we're going up street." Then we went to Penn and Main.

Q.—Who did you find there.

A.—A number of the boys were there, a crowd of both sides of the street . . . I think Maloney was there . . . And O'Malley, Savage and O'Halloran.

Q.—Did you see Coyne after some time?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Was Coyne alone?

A.—He was alone.

Q.—What was said?

A.—Nothing except casual conversation, how-do-you-do and we shook hands.

Q.—Did the Senator withdraw with anybody?

A.—No sir . . . This was between 4 and 5 in the morning and the Senator had went home before I left . . . I went back to this club and drank more beer with Conley. I remained until 8 a. m.

Conley, O'Halloran, Savage and the Senator then stood up and were identified by their friend Metzler. The Senator was chewing gum and smiling.

Mike Stabile, the county detective, followed to the stand.

Q.—Do you know John Verona and John Fugassi?

A.—Yes, sir.

(Fugassi and Verona stood up and were identified.

Q.—What were you doing on November 8, 1932?

A.—I was riding around to polling places in the Third Ward with Verona.

Q.—Did you go into any of the polling places?

A.—I don't know whether he went in any but he talked to people on the side.

Q.—When did you leave Mr. Verona?

A.—About a quarter to seven in front of the Amerita Club, Fernando street.

Q.—What did he say or you say to him?

A.—Well, he said good night, I remember.

Q.—Did you see him again that night?

A.—No.

Q.—Did you go to the William Penn Hotel later?

A.—Yes, around 9.

Q.—Who did you see?

A.—I saw Mr. Fugassi in one of the rooms.

Q.—What floor?

A.—I don't recall the floor.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Coyne during the night?

A.—Yes, I saw him in one of the rooms, but I don't recall what floor.

Q.—What was Senator Coyne doing?

A.—He was sitting at a desk, doing nothing in particular.

Q.—Did you see him telephone?

A.—I don't remember seeing him phone.

Q.—Do you know Tom Coyne or Walter Butler?

A.—No.

Coyne and Butler stood up.

Q.—Did you see these men in the room?

A.—Not that I know of.

Q.—How long did you stay?

A.—About 10 minutes.

Q.—Where did you go then?

A.—Home.

Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, after a side bar conference, cross-questioned:

Q.—When you left Verona in front of the Amerita Club, what did he tell you, that he was going to eat?

A.—Yes.

Q.—In your conversation with him, was there anything said by Mr. Verona?

A.—He said he was going out to Jim Clark's house.

Q.—What took you to the William Penn Hotel? What purpose?

A.—Just wanted to go around.

Q.—But what purpose?

A.—I thought I might get a glass of beer.

Q.—Did you get one?

A.—No, they didn't have any.

Prosecutor Graham here began re-questioning.

Q.—How long were you at the hotel?

A.—Five or 10 minutes.

Q.—What time did you get home?

A.—Quarter to 11.

Q.—Did you go back to the Amerita Club?

Here Stabile paused and pondered, and answered "no," and Graham passed on.

Graham examined his book containing grand jury testimony, and pleaded surprise, asking Judge Schoonmaker's permission to question Stabile along the grand jury lines.

It was granted.

Q.—Did you not testify before the grand jury that you returned to the Amerita Club after leaving the William Penn Hotel, stayed there for a while and then drove up Wylie avenue, getting home about a quarter to 12?

A.—If I said it before the grand jury it must be so?

Q.—Would your recollection be as good now as it was in June, 1933?

A.—I can't recall going back to the Amerita Club.

Margiotti questioned Stabile, but he could not recall, he said.

Charles J. McBride, appraiser for the state and at the time of the 1932 fall election, treasurer of the Allegheny County Republican Executive Committee, was called.

Q.—Did you seen Senator Coyne the night of the election?

A.—Yes. On the mezzanine of the William Penn Hotel.

Q.—Where did you go?

A.—We went to Thompson's, no, it was Child's.

Q.—Who accompanied him?

A.—There was a crowd, eight or 10. There was Roy Clunk, the assistant district attorney; John Frankel, an attorney; Fugassi, and a number of others.

Q.—How long did you stay.

A.—I'd say about an hour. We all walked back together.

Q.—What then?

A.—Senator Coyne said he was going home and John Fugassi said he was going home. I told Fugassi there was a fellow who would drive him home. That was around 4:15.

Magiotti cross-examined.

Q.—Who was supposed to drive Fugassi home?

A.—M. M. Mervis. And the last I saw, Mr. Mervis was taking Mr. Fugassi home.

Attorney W. H. Coleman, the Republican county chairman, took the stand.

Q.—Did you see Senator Coyne and Fugassi at Child's?

A.—I did. I was with them. After, we walked up to the Union Trust Building and separated, I to a hotel and bed.

Q.—Who all were at your table in Child's?

A.—Charlie McBride, a young man named Gray, John Frankel and Roy T. Clunk and probably a few more, I'm not certain.

CHICAGO FAIR SETS RECORDS FIRST 2 DAYS

Attendance, Receipts, Bookings All at New High Marks

CHICAGO, May 28.—(AP.)—Paced by two record breaking opening days, the Chicago 1934 World's Fair was in full swing today with leaders viewing it as a harbinger of better business days.

Attendance was 63,111 above last year's parallel days, figures for the first two days' attendance disclosed.

Saturday's crowd this year was 154,663 compared with 119,675 a year ago, and Sunday's, 80,807 against 52,684 a year ago.

THOUSANDS RE-EMPLOYED

Railroads, airlines, bus companies, lake carriers, hotels and cafes joined in agreement that the new edition of the fair already had given indication it would pep up as many lines of commerce as did its 1933 predecessor.

A survey by a firm of hotel accountants disclosed that about 23,000 clerks, bellboys, cooks, maids, porters and managers would be added to employment rolls in the hotel business alone.

One Loop hotel hired 1,000 new employes, another 800 and another 350. Other estimates from various hotels showed each was putting on all the way from 25 to 300 new workers. Hotels reported reservations about 30 per cent ahead of the same time last year. One had its advance bookings boosted 80 per cent.

1,000 CONVENTIONS

Chicago will be host during the summer to almost 1,000 national conventions.

Aviation companies reported bookings into Chicago today ahead of the opening period last year and several scheduled flights were made in two sections. A company which handles about 90 per cent of the all-expense tours sold by railroads for the Fair said it was contracting 3,000 rooms daily this year instead of the 2,500 handled last year.

No official figures were available as to the amount of money expended by the first day's crowd at the fair, but concessionaires said they were doing a "good" business.

Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the exposition, said he was certain that both the attendance and the amount of money put in circulation by the fair crowds would be greater this year than last.

And last year's estimates of business created by the fair, directly and indirectly, were as high as $400,000,000.

Kidnaping Hoax

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

TELLS ACTRESS OF 'PLOT;' HELD

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Writing a swift finale to an alleged kidnaping plot directed against Maureen O'Sullivan, dark-eyed Irish film actress, detectives today arrested Colum McConaster, 24, and booked him on investigation of suspicion of extortion.

McConaster said that he recently had arrived here from St. Louis.

He admitted, detectives said, he had informed Miss O'Sullivan she was to be kidnaped, in the hope that she would reward him for the information. The actress yesterday was approached and told:

"I happen to know that you are going to be kidnaped. Be careful."

She promptly reported the incident to Hollywood police.

'ARMY' MAKES DRIVE PLEA

Residents of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County are being urged today to assist the Salvation Army in its current drive for $108,500 to defray this year's expenses.

Everyone in the county must support the drive if necessary funds are to be raised, according to Executive Chairman F. F. Schauer, who said:

"The Salvation Army has been in Pittsburgh more than 50 years. It never has been found wanting.

"It needs $108,500 and it needs it badly. It simply must raise that money to carry on.

"We earnestly request that all people who have not been approached by workers send 'heir donations to the Salvation Army, 425 Boulevard of the Allies."

More than 204,000 people, all residents of the county, were assisted in the past 12 months by the organization, according to Schauer.

Roosevelt Gives Up Week-End Cruise

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt passed up his usual week-end cruise down the Potomac to spend Sunday in the White House.

Two reasons contributed to this, a desire to work intensively at forthcoming messages to Congress and the fact that a garden party for war veterans kept the President at home past the customary sailing hour Saturday.

Today

other important strikes are settled.

HOW AMAZING that workmen of different beliefs, union and non-union, should insist on settling disputes with clubs, guns and bricks, when the vote could do anything they want done, and no heads broken.

The brutal fighting recalls the Kilkenny cats, tails tied together, thrown over a clothes line. They tore each other to pieces, although the cat-owner was not there, gets no scratches. Similarly union and non-union men club and shoot each other, although the "owners," labor leaders and labor employers, are far from the scene and are not scratched.

That would seem silly to an angel, looking down.

PATRIOTS LOSE FIGHT AGAINST 'RED' PARADE

Charge 'Desecration' of Memorial Day by 'Communists'

Patriotic organizations who sought to prevent what they term the "desecration" of Memorial Day by Communists today lost their fight after making unsuccessful pleas to Mayor McNair, and Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall.

Aimed at the attempts of the radicals to turn the national holiday into a Communist "National Youth Day," the Federated Patriotic Orders allied with the Grand Army of the Republic sought to prevent a parade on the South Side scheduled for 2 p. m. Memorial Day.

Refusing to revoke the permit for the parade, police said they could not legally do so. Mayor McNair, who is a Civil War veteran's son, said:

"Let them parade. Of course, I don't know what Supt. Marshall will do."

DENOUNCE 'REDS'

At a special meeting in Memorial Hall the patriotic group unanimously passed a resolution denouncing the "United National Youth Day Committee" as:

"None other than representatives and members of a group of so-called Communists who are seeking to overthrow the government of the United States."

The resolution further stated:

"Memorial Day is a day held sacred by the citizens of this country and by the Grand Army of the Republic, and generally observed as a holiday in memory of those who sacrificed their lives in order that the Union might be preserved to posterity."

OPPOSE PARADE

Declaring the proposed parade was "unpatriotic and subsorsive to the aims, spirit and purposes of the holiday," the group resolved to oppose parades by Communists.

William J. Blakeley, president of the group, personally carried copies of the resolution to Mayor McNair and to Marshall's office on Saturday, it was learned.

The matter of issuing a permit was taken up in conference this morning by Supt. Marshall and Director Bell, after a search had failed to disclose any permit had been granted for holding the parade.

SAYS HANDS TIED

But the permit was later found, granted on May 14, and signed by Supt. Marshall himself, which legally "tied the hands of all officials," Marshall said. The police head added:

"Now there is nothing we can do unless they are disorderly. My job is to police the parade now that the permit is issued. Under the law we cannot revoke it unless the paraders are disorderly."

Pain Crazed Victim Kills Self in Wreck

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., May 28.—(AP.)—Believed temporarily insane from pain, Arthur B. Beneke shot and killed himself as he lay in his wrecked automobile.

A witness of the crash yesterday was running toward the wreckage and was only a short distance away when he heard the pistol shot, fired from the weapon Beneke carried as a patrolman in the New York City Police Department. Beneke's machine had plunged 20 feet down an embankment.

NAVY TRIUMPHS IN MERCY RACE

BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 28.—(AP.)—The United States Navy apparently was the winner today in its dramatic mercy dash by air and sea to save William Albert Robinson, writer and explorer, stricken by appendicitis.

Brought here by the United States destroyer Hale from the lonely Galapagos Islands, 1,000 miles away, Robinson lay today in the Army Hospital. Physicians believe he will recover.

His bride, the former Florence Crane, Chicago heiress, who dispatched wireless appeals for aid when Robinson was taken ill, said he suffered "tortures of the damned" before two naval planes arrived with surgeons. She said:

"You will simply have to use your imagination to know how we felt when those two planes soared in from the Canal Zone. It is impossible to describe. It was the same when the Hale steamed in.

"Robbie was constantly asking concerning the planes, and we had to keep telling him they would be here any minute."

The Robinsons were on a honeymoon cruise in a small vessel when the attack came a week ago, with no medical aid at hand.

MRS. ROOSEVELT INSPECTS HOME

ALDERSON, W. Va., May 28.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived alone from Washington today and went immediately to the Federal Institution for Women for an inspection trip.

Only a few persons were at the station as the First Lady alighted from a west-bound train.

She was escorted to an automobile accompanied by Dr. Mary B. Harris, superintendant of the institution, and taken to its ground a mile west of Alderson.

Both gates of the institution grounds a mile west of Alderson. Roosevelt entered and residents of Alderson who sought to see her there were unable to enter.

Wife Cries With Joy Over Rossi Flight

PARIS, May 28.—(AP.)—Mme. Maurice Rossi cried with joy today when she was informed that her husband's plane was reported off the coast of the United States. With tears in her voice, she said:

"Naturally, we are greatly relieved that they are safely over the Atlantic. It had been a long night of anguish, but we have been kept in close touch with the news and today has brought happiness that the worst part of the trip is over."

Cardinal Blesses K. of C. Playground

ROME, May 28.—(AP.)—Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, today blessed the new Knights of Columbus playground on the banks of the Tiber River.

The cardinal eulogized the spirit of the Knights of Columbus, calling its members the standard-bearers of Catholic action, and emphasized the spiritual and physical benefits expected to be derived from the playground.

Banker Mitchell's Daughter Gets Job

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—The New York Daily News says Rita Mitchell, daughter of Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, has gone to work as an advertising solicitor for a metropolitan newspaper.

After being graduated from Miss Hewitt's School, Miss Mitchell studied in Florence and was presented at the Italian court.

3 ATHLETES DIE IN AIR CRASH

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., May 28.—(AP.)—Allen J. Snyder, athletic coach of Middleburg High School, and two of his athletes were crushed to death in the crash of an airplane in an alfalfa field.

The youths were Carl E. Walters, 17, of Middleburg, and George A. Erdley, Jr., 17, of Globe Mills. Erdley was the son of former State Representative Erdley.

Several persons who saw the ship go into a spin and crash yesterday rushed to the wreckage, but the gasoline tank exploded and prevented their reaching the bodies.

Snyder, flying from Sunbury, is believed to have intended to land in the field to visit his fiancee, Miss Helen McClenahan, whose home is about a quarter-mile from the scene of the crash.

SMITHFIELD, R. I., May 28.—(AP.)—Two men lost their lives here yesterday when their plane crashed near the Smithfield Airport.

Ralph H. Wilkins, 19, of Slatersville, riding in the forward cockpit, was dead when taken from the wrecked plane. Herman G. Dolbeck, of Woonsocket, the pilot, died later in a hospital.

ROBLES KIDNAP GANG HUNTED

International News Service.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 28.—A possee of sheriff's deputies was dispatched today to the desert wilderness north of Sasabe, an Arizona border town, in the belief the kidnapers of June Robles were hiding in a deserted ranch house in that region.

Acting on a report from a peace officer at Ruby, a mining town north of Sasabe, a carload of officers, armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs, left for Sasabe, and Nogales police were notified to bottle up all roads in that vicinity.

Undersheriff C. S. Farrar said he "expected developments soon in the Robles case. We are working now on what appears to be the best clue yet."

Orang-Utan Pair Again Woo Stork

BERLIN—Mr. and Mrs. Adam (nee Cleopatra) Orang Utan, of the Berlin zoo, recently announced the birth of a son, the second offspring since the summer of 1925, when the two big apes were brought to the capital of the reich.

Authorities at the zoo, one of the best in the world, say that the occasion is one for particular celebration, since orangs seldom have young when captive.

WOUNDED MAN HELD IN DEATH

SCRANTON, Pa., May 28.—(AP.)—Wounded in a pistol battle with a city detective, a man identified as Arthur Wall, alias Frank Howe, 22, is held in connection with the slaying of a Binghamton (N. Y.) newspaper employe.

Detective George Green shot Wall after the latter is alleged to have attempted to fire a pistol at the officer.

Police said Wall has been sought since April 25, the day Clifford H. Clark, 42, suburban circulation manager for the Binghamton Press, was shot and killed.

Another man, identified as John Koltza, 22, of Johnson City, was taken into custody a short time after Wall was shot, when he made inquiries concerning Wall, police said.

Cranberry Vines Promote Longevity

CARVER, Mass.—(INS.)—The cranberry industry is responsible for longevity of the citizens of this district, according to Town Clerk Henry S. Griffith. Last year only 23 persons died out of a population of 1,381. The average age at death was 52 years.

So far this year no deaths have been recorded. Griffith says it is the opinion of the residents that the cranberry vines and bogs should get the credit for this.

Woodticks Used To Produce Serum

BUTTE, Mont.—(INS.)—Woodticks, carriers of the dangerous Rocky Mountain spotted fever germs, are to be placed on 200 guinea pigs in the laboratories at Hamilton, Mont. Blood of the tiny rodents will be used in the manufacture of serum to combat the disease. The animals were shipped to Montana for the purpose by the United States Public Health Service.

has been attemted before—the spanning of the Atlantic Ocean and the North American continent—sighted land just as the sun, racing from behind, came up over the eastern horizon.

Kicked along by obliging tailwinds and favored by excellent weather, the monoplane, which lifted its great weight of gasoline from Le Bourget Field at 12:10 a. m. (eastern daylight time) Sunday night, radioed a cheering "All's well," and shot along into the West.

At 5:20 a. m. (eastern daylight time) the fliers wirelessed their position as 46 degrees north latitude, 64 degrees west longitude, which placed the plane over Nova Scotia and apparently headed down the coast toward New York City, a distance of about 600 miles.

'GRAVEYARD' FEAR

The only moments of anxiety came during the dead hours of night when the plane ploughed into the "fliers' graveyard"—the fogbound Newfoundland banks. For a time the Frenchmen appeared to be having difficulty getting their bearings. At 3:50 a. m. (eastern daylight time), however, their wireless was heard, working with a French station, and a clear skyway beckoned them down the Nova Scotia coast.

Sabelli, Pond Plan U. S. Return Flight

LONDON, May 28.—(INS.)—Cesare Sabelli and Capt. George Pond, who flew from New York to Ireland in the plane Leonardo Da Vinci, expect to continue their flight to Rome within two or three days and then fly back to New York. A Carlson, expert on aviation motors, arrived from Amsterdam today to direct repairs on their engine.

Two French Fliers Win Promotions

PARIS, May 28.—(AP.)—Lieut. Maurice Rossi, flying the Atlantic on his way to America, today was promoted to the rank of captain, and his companion, Lieut. Paul Codos, was made a commander of the Legion of Honor.

French Speed Flight Cup Won by War Ace

ETAMPES, France, May 28.—(AP.)—The French war ace, Maurice Arnoux, yesterday won the annual Deutsch de la Meruthe speed cup race, covering 2,000 kilometers (1,240 miles) at an average speed of 242 miles an hour.

NRA TOLD IDEAS ON SPARE TIME

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—The New York Committee on the Use of Leisure, reporting today to the NRA, found that the people of this city want to be on the go in their spare time.

The long document contained practically nothing about staying at home or taking walks or visiting friends.

It dealt with facilities provided by public institutions—the museums, the parks, the theaters and lecture halls, and recommended that there be more public gatherings of various sorts, free of charge. The committee was headed by Raymond B. Fosdick, international lawyer.

Germany to Bare Old Roman Ruins

BERLIN—Half a million marks will be spent during the coming year by the German Swabian Association for the Preservation of Homeland Culture in excavating the old Roman citadel Summontorium, near Augsburg. The Roman ruins were once the fortress for Augusta Vindelicorum, now the city of Augsburg.

CIVIC LEADERS IN ESTATE ROW

Mrs. J. O. Miller and Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, civic leaders, today sought to have their two brothers, Joseph W. and Julian Kennedy, Jr., ousted as executors of the estate of their father, the late Julian Kennedy, industrial engineer.

The four children were named joint executors of the estate estimated at $225,000.

Before Judge Thomas P. Trimble in Orphans Court, Mrs. Miller testified the brothers had entered two charges, one for $129,000, the other for $56,000, against the estate without consulting the sisters.

The brothers refused her permission to see records of the estate in 1932 when she went to their office with an auditor, she testified. Mrs. Smith corroborated Mrs. Miller.

Mayor McNair, for whom Mrs. Smith served as budget adviser, was a spectator in the courtroom for a few minutes.

Corral for Lost Children at Zoo

ST. LOUIS—(INS—So many children get lost while visiting the zoo here that Director George P. Vierheller has decided to build a corral for them. He explained:

"On Sundays, when tens of thousands visit the zoo, the keepers are kept busy running around looking for the parents. With a central place for the lost youngsters, the parents will know where to call for them."

Once Homeless, Child Dances At Orphanage

A plump, blue-eyed girl, her blonde hair in curls, took part in a Polish folk dance yesterday at the Holy Family Orphanage, Emsworth.

A few months ago this same girl, "Annie-under-the-bridge," was found wandering in the Strip, unkemp and undernourished.

Police gave her that name for the want of another during the search for her parents.

The dance was part of the annual entertainment staged by the institution's charges. The orphanage, of which the Rev. Frank J. Retka is superintendent, is affiliated with the Community Fund.

SENATOR KING ASSAILS NAZIS

Launching a vigorous attack upon the Nazis in Germany, Senator William H. King, of Utah, in an address last night at the convention banquet of the B'Nai B'rith in McKeesport, asserted he would support severance of diplomatic relations "if some countries of Europne continue the tyrannous courses being pursued by them at present."

Delegates from four states attended the meeting, at which Dr. A. L. Sacher, of the University of Illinois and national director of the Hillel Foundation, also was a speaker.

Senator King declared:

"I cannot imagine how Hitlerism can be defended."

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Isidor Rosenthal, of Lancaster. Also presented were Mayor George H. Lyle, of McKeesport; Judge Leopold C. Glass, of Philadelphia; Frank R. S. Kaplan, of McKeesport, incoming president, and County Commissioner W. D. Mansfield.

Diamond Ring, $27 Stolen in East End

Philip Sclvio, of 239 Shetland avenue, rear, reported to detectives today that thieves had entered his home and escaped with a $300 diamond ring and $27 in money.

PROBE WOMAN'S DEATH BY KNIFE

County detectives and Coroner's deputies are investigating the death of Mrs. Margaret E. Lubert, 35, of 1520 Oak street, North Braddock, who was found, dressed for church, yesterday morning in the cellar of her home with her throat slashed by a hack saw and a butcher knife, according to a Coroner's report.

Although a murder theory has been discarded, deputies announced her fingerprints would be compared to those found on a blood-stained vanity mirror, which was clasped in her hand when her husband, Charles Lubert, found her.

The saw and knife were near the body. When she was found her body was reclining on a mattress she had dragged to the basement.

Cheats Death Two Years With Homemade 'Lungs'

CHICAGO, May 28.—(AP.)—A 63-year-old Englishman has been kept alive for two years by a homemade machine for artificial breathing, setting a record for such treatment, the Journal of the American Medical Association reported in its current issue.

The patient was the victim of a progressive wasting of the muscles, which eventually paralyzed those controlling breathing. He was at first kept alive by continuous relays of nurses and relatives, who used various methods of stimulating respiration.

A friend devised a method of bandaging a football bladder to his chest, connecting it through a tube to another bladder placed between two hinged boards, which were worked with a lever. The bladders wore out in three days.

Finally a small apparatus utilizing the city water pressure to compress and relax a small bellows attached to a rubber bag bound around the patient's chest was constructed.

The patient is almost paralyzed, being able to move only fingers and toes. He talks a little and swallows with difficulty, but has a good appetite and is active mentally.

Graf Trails Two Planes In Oversea 'Derby'

PARIS, May 28.—(AP.)—The extraordinary spectacle of two airplanes and the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin traversing the Atlantic simultaneously today gave a hint of the future of international aviation.

The French long-distance plane Joseph Lebrix was flying the North Atlantic, bound for a transcontinental trip across the United States; the French mail plane Arc-En-Ciel (Rainbow) was flying the South Atlantic, bound for Brazil, and the German dirigible likewise was on its way to Brazil.

French air enthusiasts were particularly delighted by the speed of their airplanes over the Zeppelin, which has been flying the mails to South America. France, like Germany, wants the South American air commerce.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS ROONEY DUAL WINNER

Official count by the Returning Board today showed that James P. Rooney, former University of Pittsburgh football star, won both the Republican and Democratic nominations in the Seventh Legislative District.

Rooney's running mate on the Republican ticket in the fall will be Paul F. Hanzel. John L. Powers won the second Democratic nomination and Roy E. Noel the independent nomination.

In the Thirty-eighth Senatorial district the official count showed that Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., easily won the Republican nomination. George H. Soffel ran second and Attorney Joseph A. McArdle, son of Councilman P. J. McArdle, ran third.

Edward R. Frey, an employe of the City Treasurer's office, won the Democratic nomination.

MILLEN ESCAPE PLOT FOILED

International News Service.

DEDHAM, Mass., May 28.—The ambition of Irving Millen, on trial for murder, to shoot his way out of jail was squelched once again today.

Irving, on trial with his brother, Murton, and Abe Faber for the killing of a policeman during the hold-up of the Needham Trust Company, offered a prison trusty $5,000 for a revolver. The offer was contained in a note intercepted by State Troopers Robert Smith.

The note read:

"Get a gun and bring it in here. Hide it in the cell and when I get out I'll turn up $5,000 to any one you name."

The note was written on a page torn from a magazine. It was handed by Irving to a trusty who was detailed to bring the meals to the three youthful defendants.

Several weeks ago, Irving attempted, while exercising, to seize the revolver of a state trooper. He was subdued after a vicious battle.

DILLINGER JAIL 'CHOSEN'

ATLANTA, May 28.—(AP.)—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today paid his first visit to a federal prison, got a glimpse of Al Capone and said he wondered if John Dillinger, most widely hunted of the present crop of criminals, was still alive.

The name of Dillinger was brought up when Warden A. C. Aderholt remarked on the scarcity of escapes from the prison. Asked by the Attorney General if he thought Dillinger could be kept there, the warden replied "Yes, sir." Cummings added:

"We'd probably send Dillinger to Alcatraz, however."

Alcatraz, a favorite project of the Attorney General, is the new federal prison in San Francisco Bay, where the government plans to send its most desperate prisoners and those who create discord in other penitentiaries.

Bulkley, Noted Sportsman, Dies

BRIRGEPORT Conn. May 28.—(AP.)—Benjamin Andrews Bulkley, well-known sportsman and owner of a string of harness racing horses, died last night in his home in the Southport section of Fairfield. He was 85.

Mr. Bulkley, whose horses 15 years ago were considered among the fastest in the East, resided in Southport most of his life although he spent 62 winters in Florida.

Parkinson Winning Senate Contest

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 28.—(AP.)—With 10 districts untabulated, State Senator Chauncey W. Parkinson, of Waynesburg, today appeared to have won the race for the Republican nomination to the Senate over former State Representative D. Glenn Moore.

The unofficial count showed the candidates tied. Tabulations to date show the incumbent has gained 32 votes over Moore.

EXECUTE KILLER ON NEW TIME

BELLEFONTE, Pa., May 28.—(AP.)—Rockview Penitentiary's new "death hour" for condemned prisoners—six and a half hours earlier than heretofore, to lessen the torment of the doomed—went into effect at 12:33 a. m. today, when Charles Walker, Philadelphia Negro, died in the electric chair.

The time for executions, which has been 7 a. m. since the electric chair was installed, 21 years ago, was set forward last week by Warden Stanley P. Ashe. The change in time is within the discretion of the warden. The Governor designates a certain week for an execution, and the warden sets the time and day.

Walker, convicted of slashing Lucille Sharp to death in a rooming house on December 6, 1932, went to the chair without speaking of the crime. He was accompanied in the walk from his cell by the prison chaplain, the Rev. C. F. Lauer.

Eight Held For State Authorities

Eight persons, in whose homes or places of business Police Inspector Walter Kaiser testified he found illegal liquor, were held for state authorities at hearings in North Side Police Court yesterday. They were charged with violating the state liquor laws.

Leans From Window, Man Hurt in Fall

John McCarroll, 46, was injured yesterday when he fell from a second story window of his home, 2120 Sarah street, according to a police report. He said he lost his balance while leaning out the window.

Student Ends Life By Drinking Poison

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—A youth identified as Joseph H. Ford, Jr., 20, of Houston, Miss., junior at Washington and Lee University, died in the Ambassador Hotel today of poison he drank from a bottle labeled "gin." Police called it a suicide pending an autopsy tomorrow.

Start Work Upon New Turtle Creek School

Arrival of a Federal Public Works Administration engineer this week is expected to be the signal for the start of construction work on a new three-story brick building to replace the Penn Avenue School, Turtle Creek, destroyed by fire last year. The new building will cost approximately $215,000. Work will be provided for 100 men for eight months.

TAX LEAGUERS SEEK BAN ON CONVENTIONS

Elected officials of boroughs, cities, townships, counties and school districts, who in fear of losing their jobs have been fighting the attempts to consolidate governmental units, are the target for legislation instituted by the Pennsylvania Tax Justice League. The elected officials, through their many organizations, have opposed consolidation of governmental units, elimination of many second class townships and the merger of school districts.

The executive committee of the Pennsylvania Tax Justice League, seeking to reduce taxes through elimination of waste and duplication in government, will meet in State College Friday to draft plans for legislation which would repeal the state laws which now permit elected officials to attend conventions of their associations at the expense of the local taxpayers. Repeal of such laws would prevent township supervisors, township commissioners, officials of boroughs, cities, counties and school districts from holding annual meetings at the expense of the taxpayers.

TAXPAYERS' BILL

Leaders in the Tax Justice Leagues point out that it is a good plan to have township supervisors, school directors and others meet occasionally to talk over their problems, but on many occasions the meetings are nothing more than gatherings to discuss how best they can protect their own jobs. It is not fair, league officials say, for the taxpayers to pay the bill of an organization opposed to the taxpayers' interests.

The resolution which will be brought up for discussion next week, was introduced by Attorney E. Lowry Humes, former United States attorney, at a meeting of the board of directors of the Allegheny County Real Estate Owners and Taxpayers League, a few days ago. The resolution of Attorney Humes, a director, was unanimously approved. It is to be passed on by the state organization Friday.

ARONSON ACTS

I. Leonard Aronson, president of the local league and a member of the state executive committee, will present the resolution for consideration by the state executives at the meeting Friday.

Eight new directors have been added to the list of Allegheny County League, Aronson said today. The new directors are Prof. Marion K. McKay, of the University of Pittsburgh and also president of the Allegheny County Civic Club; Attorney Edward O. Tabor, a director of the Civic Club; Charles Wolff, North Side grocer and a candidate for council last November; Dr. J. S. Green, executive secretary of the Retail Merchants Association; L. W. Monteverde, real estate dealer; E. E. Slick, glass manufacturer; Myles McConnon, of Homestead, and James G. Jenkins, of McKeesport.

OUTLAW SALE OF ABSINTHE

WASHINGTAN, May 28.—(AP.)—Reported sales of absinthe in drinking establishments and state-owned liquor stores in some states brought word today from the Federal Food and Drug Administration that the drink is outlawed and sellers are open to prosecution under the pure food and drug act.

Importation of absinthe, a green liquor containing oils of wormwood and anise, is forbidden and if manufactured and sold in the United States it is subject to confiscation, officials said.

Absinthe, they said, is dangerous because of the wormwood oil which produces a recognized form of insanity. It has been banned by many foreign countries as being similar in effect to narcotics.

Officials said some drinks labeled absinthe were not such because the term applied only to liquor containing wormwood oil.

PASTOR BACKS MODERN YOUTH

Faith in the younger generation was the theme of a sermon given by the Rev. Stewart Martin Smith yesterday in the North Ten Mile Baptist Church, Washington County.

Attributing youthful delinquency to the hazards of modern life, the Rev. Smith said:

"I have revised my estimate of modern youth. If they are having a hard time, it is because we have handed them a hard situation. But I am not in despair. I believe in modern youth when it is given a chance."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS -:- By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The altruists did not waste their time trying to influence the congressional conference committee working on the stock market bill and securities act changes.

They just moved into the private conference room and helped to superintend the job, so they would be sure it was done right.

Altruists Nos. 2 and 3 (Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen) never missed a conference committee meeting. Altruist No. 1 (Jim Landis) came in only when the securities act amendments were under consideration. He was so busy administering the act downtown he could not spare more time.

It is customary for a Congressman to explain the results of each confidential meeting afterward to the press. That job was performed each day for the stock market conferees by the No. 3 Altruist, Ben Cohen, who explained everything better than most Congressmen do.

MORAL

Thus, Mr. Roosevelt's Little Red Riding Hoods have been putting it over on the Wolves of Wall Street again. In fact, they tied the wolves up outside.

The Congressmen were glad enough to have them do it. Indeed, they invited the Hoodsmen in. There is nothing particularly wrong about that, if the advice given is good. Experts of the government usually consult in private with Congressional committees and sit in on executive sessions. All these three are government employes.

Messers. Corcoran and Cohen wrote the stock regulation bill and Mr. Landis wrote most of the securities act. No one knows more about them. The Wall Streeters charge they are prejudiced, but they insist they are working for the people.

At any rate, there is a moral in that for all aspiring young altruists. If you want the right kind of legislation, write it yourself, guide it through Congress yourself and then administer it.

SECURITIES ACT

The best phase of the Hoodsmen's work was on modification of the securities act.

The original changes included one whereby a man who loses his money in stocks cannot sue for damages unless he proves that he relied on an untruthful statement of a corporation official in buying the stock.

Lawyers can see what that would do to securities regulation. Few stock buyers would ever be able to establish such proof. The punitive features of the act would not be very sharp.

The altruists changed that around coyly so the burden of proof is removed from the loser. All he has to do is to say he relied on an untruthful statement of a corporation official, and he can sue. That puts the teeth back in. It permits almost anyone to sue.

The result is that, unless the lawyers find some new hidden loopholes, the original claws of the act will not be dulled materially by the current changes.

AID

The altruists could have done little without excellent congressional leadership. Their mainstays have been Representative Rayburn, Senators Fletcher and Byrnes. Messrs. Rayburn and Byrnes contributed the shrewd congressional strategy, while Fletcher acted as mouthpiece.

Nearly all Democratic and some Republican Congressmen placed entire faith in the Hoodsmen. Even President Roosevelt went to their assistance at times when they got into a particularly tight place.

The result is that the conservatives were completely out, for probably the first time in the history of such regulatory legislation.

STRIKES

The administration has also been at work actively, but quietly, in another quarter for the Wagner labor board bill, another liberal measure.

Some people have had their doubts as to whether Mr. Roosevelt supported the measure, but, on the inside, he has been working hand in hand with Senator Wagner and Miss Perkins for it, all the time.

The current wave of strikes over the country enables them to push a reluctant Senate committee into reporting the bill.

The Wagner bill opposition was misled by Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that he was going to send Congress a special message on social legislation. He told Democratic Floor Leader Byrnes he would recommend that such legislation be submitted to a congressional committee for investigation during the summer, with a view to action next session. That would delay it.

What Mr. Roosevelt had in mind was the 30-hour week bill and the six-day week bill for rail employes. He would really like to sidetrack those until next session.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH WANT-ADS BRING RESULTS

CONGRESS' END BY 'DEBT DAY' SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt has passed word to Capitol Hill that he wants Congress to adjourn before the war debt payment day in mid-June.

Democratic leaders conceded privately that Mr. Roosevelt wants Congress to enact all the prime administration legislation and adjourn by June 9, if possible, and by no means later than June 15, when the installment on war debts becomes due.

Several Democratic Senators privately have discussed delaying the session to learn what the administration plans to do about the war debts on and immediately after the payment day, but thus far no conclusions have been reached.

The house turns attention this week to the Dies-Pittman bill to make silver a fourth of the monetary stock of the United States. The Senate turned again to debate on the reciprocal tariff measure.

Final Congressional action is due before the week-end on the conference agreements on the stock market regulation bill and the air mail measure.

The House also plans to pass the communications commission and commodity exchange control bills. In the Senate, silver is to follow tariff.

Then will come the Wagner bill to grant Congressional authority to the National Labor Board to settle labor disputes. Efforts are to be made to expedite Senate-House agreements on the bills for loans to industry and to extend the temporary bank deposit insurance program for a year.

Stormy weather was gathering around the administration's $1,322,000,000 relief appropriation request in the House Appropriations Committee. Representatives are demanding that $100,000,000 be earmarked for federal hignway aid and $93,000,000 for public buildings.

FIGHT HOLDS UP BANK RELIEF

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—A bitter fight over provisions of the administration bill extending the temporary bank deposit insurance fund today threatened to delay congressional action on the Steagall-Brown bank depositors' relief amendment approved by the House.

The measure, which passed the House with the amendment making possible the "thawing" of $1,000,000,000 of closed bank deposits, was expected to remain in conference several days.

House addition of a provision lifting the requirement that state banks must join the Federal Reserve System to remain in the permanent guaranty fund was expected to be fought by Senator Carter Glass (Dem.), of Virginia.

The provision increasing the amount of deposits insured under the temporary plan from $2,500 to $5,000 also was expected to be a stumbling block.

The measure postpones the effective date of the permanent deposit insurance system until July 1, 1935.

Meantime, Representative McLeod (Rep.), of Michigan, sought seven more signatures to a petition to force a vote on his 100 per cent depositors' payoff bill.

LINK DEPRIEST, INSULL CASH

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The name of Oscar DePriest, Negro Republican member of the House from Chicago, was brought out today at a hearing before the Federal Trade Commission, as having received "lot of money" from the Insull utility interests to aid in a Chicago political fight 18 years ago.

The money was alleged to have been disbursed by the Chicago law firm of Schuyler & Winfeld, for the purpose of "lining up the Negro vote in local elections.

DePriest was not elected to the House until 1928.

W. T. Chantland, commission examiner, and A. M. McDermott, investigator, submitted transcripts of evidence offered in an internal revenue hearing in February, 1920, on the income tax affairs of the law firm.

Better Times Shown By German Diners

BERLIN.—Even the traveler in Germany, he he native or foreign, is feeling more prosperous, according to recent reports from Mitropa, the dining Pullman company of the reich. More than 40,000 meals are served daily on the diners, an indication of the return of better times, Mitropa officials believe.

Talkative Woman Awarded Divorce

TOLEDO, O. — (INS.) — In granting a divorce to a talkative woman here, Judge James Austin explained that it was given "as a favor to her husband." Mrs. Northerta V. Mueller could not be stopped by Judge, attorneys or bailiff after she began a recital of her domestic affairs. The husband did not contest the action.

Poor Box Theft Traps Homeless Man

Arrested for alleged theft of 76 cents from a poor box in Mother of Good Counsel Church, Bennett and Hale streets, John Philipo, 41, no home, was lodged in East End Police Station yesterday on a charge of robbery.

McFadden Signs McLeod Petition; Victory in Sight

By JOHN P. COWAN
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—When Representative Louis T. McFadden (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, signed the petition today for the discharge of the Rules Committee from consideration of the McLeod bank payoff bill, there remained only five more signatures to complete the necessary 145 required.

Proponents of the bank depositors' relief legislation took fresh encouragement when several representatives indicated their intention to sign the petition, and it became evident that Congress may continue in session until June 15, giving opportunity for consideration of the McLeod bill on the floor on June 11.

Representative Clarence J. McLeod, author of the original payoff bill, said:

"It is becoming more and more apparent to the people throughout the country that opposition to the relief of bank depositors has been fostered largely by a certain clique of wealthy jobbers in distressed securities who hoped to buy up bank assets under forced liquidation and were looking forward to making 1,000 per cent profit."

McLeod Backer Here Scores Steagall Bill

Supporters of the McLeod bill are fighting for mandatory congressional action for 100 per cent payoff to closed bank depositors, according to Charles P. Bloome, of Philadelphia, chairman of the National Depositors' Committee, who stopped off here on his way from Detroit to Washington.

Congressman Henry Ellenbogen, Pittsburgh, said today the Steagall bill approved by the House Friday should be amended to make its provisions mandatory. He said he favors the Steagall measure if it is amended to direct that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation take over assets of closed banks instead of "permitting" it to do so.

Ellenbogen said the Senate should amend the bill and that it would pass as amended in the House.

Bloome was here yesterday en route from Detroit where he spoke with Congressman McLeod Friday night before a mass meeting of 2,000 persons. He said:

"While at a superficial glance it might appear that the Steagall bill contains relief for depositors in closed banks, yet in reality it far from does so."

U. S. PLANS SPUR FOR LAGGING INDUSTRIES

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—The problem of how to help the heavy industries catch up with the economic parade came to the forefront today with two points stressed:

1—Leaders on Capitol Hill expected President Roosevelt to seek passage of the housing program this session.

2—The Durable Goods Industries Committee reported to the President that "re-establishment of confidence" on the part of investors was essential to get the ball rolling.

High administration circles feel that the stagnant construction industry—involving directly some 5,000,000 persons—must be stimulated to strike at unemployment and relieve the drain on the Treasury and relief coffers.

The President is said to feel that the housing proposal—involving among other things partial government insurance of private loans of certain character—is one of the largest single efforts toward recovery yet undertaken.

The durable goods committee, named at the NRA code assembly last March, reported to the President yesterday. Among its suggestions were:

Assurance that the "profit incentive" will continue to receive public approval; public recognition that taxes should be levied for revenue, not for "a punitive redistribution of wealth;" removal through permanent budget balancing "of the threat of uncontrolled inflation."

Holein 1 Wins Operation, Beer And Burial

MEDFORD, Ore., May 28.—(AP.)—One operation for removal of his wife's tonsils, one ton of ice, free burial when, as and if he dies, 5,000 feet of lumber and a keg of beer—these were the prizes George A. Coddings, District Attorney of Jackson County, came in for with a single golf shot on a Medford course.

Seven Medford golfers who deal in the awards offered to put them up Friday to be given to the first of their number who made a hole-in-one.

Coddings made a hole-in-one yesterday.

PECORA IN LINE FOR STOCK POST

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—The names of James M. Landis and Ferdinand Pecora figured prominently today in speculation over the personnel of the new commission to regulate the stock markets.

Landis is a member of the Federal Trade Commission. His transfer to the new commission, probably as chairman, was understood in administration circles to be almost assured. During the controversy over the stock bill it was reported that one of the reasons President Roosevelt favored market control by the Federal Trade Commission was to avoid the necessity of changing Landis' job.

Landis, still in his thirties, is a former teacher of law at Harvard. He played an important part in the drafting of the stock market bill.

Pecora, who gained nation-wide attention as counsel for the Senate Banking Committee during its Wall street investigation, was considered by administration advisers on Capitol Hill to be an outstanding candidate for one of the five commission posts.

The former immigrant boy had much to do with drafting the stock bill.

Congressional leaders believe the stock market bill will be passed by the end of the week.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Republican progressive Senators today swung in line to support the Dill resolution for an investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Headed by Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, the G. O. P. liberals backed the stand of Senator Capper (Rep.), of Kansas and other westerners that the inquiry is necessary to curb monopolistic practices of public utilities.

Senator Dill (Dem.), of Washington, author of the resolution, said that he would resist any attempt to sidetrack it. The Interstate Commerce Committee is slated to reach a decision on the resolution Thursday.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

LAWRENCE SHAW, National Director — J. JAMES MOORE, Pittsburgh Wing Commander

Motto Winners See Lindy's Plane, "We;" Go to Mount Vernon and Bowling Field

By J. JAMES MOORE

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Howdy, members! I wish that every one of you were here at the capital with the four winners of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph wing motto contest.

The four lucky Junior Birdmen, if you recall, are Dorothy Smith, George Bish, Don Gross and John William Scott. They told me to send you their greetings and to tell you that they are having the time of their lives.

There they got their first glimpse of the Spirit of St. Louis, also known as Lindy's "We," the most famous airplane in the entire world. Then we went to the top of the Washington Monument, to the Lincoln Memorial and places too numerous to mention.

We were out to Mount Vernon and Arlington Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Lieut. [illegible] McDarment, commanding officer at Rodgers Field, was visiting here over the week-end. He took us out to Bowling Field and took us through the hangars where we saw dozens of Army pursuit and fighting planes.

On Way Home

Probably just at the minute you are reading your favorite newspaper column, these four winners will be on the way back to Pittsburgh, resting comfortably in a speedy pullman train. Perhaps they will be seated in the diner eating a delicious meal and watching the landscape fly by.

At any rate, you can take my word for it—Dorothy, George, Don and John, are having the grandest time of their lives. They have been having a gala time in the nation's capital—and it hasn't cost them a cent.

Maybe one of them—we hope—will win the national contest and then he or she will be given a 15-day trip from coast-to-coast. What a trip!

Before I close I want to give you list No. 15 of air dictionary.

Tomorrow Lawrence Shaw will tell you about the baby all-balsa glider, which is your first plane to construct and which you will soon be sailing in the fields near your home.

An announcement in detail of our Model Plane Derby, to be held at Schenley Oval, Saturday, July 7, will be given to you in detail Friday.

Sunday we will tell you the winner of the national motto contest.

Air Dictionary List Number 15

Here are some more definitions for your air dictionary. Those scrap books of yours must be swelling in size by this time. Don't overcrowd them. When one scrap book is filled, start another. You will then soon have a series of valuable volumes.

BOOM (TAIL)—A spar or outrigger connecting the tail surfaces and the main supporting surfaces of an aircraft.

BOOST—To supply an engine with more air or mixture than it would normally take at sea level.

BOOST CONTROL (AUTOMATIC)—An automatic regulator of boost pressure.

BOUNDARY LIGHT—Any light designed to indicate the limits of the landing area of an airport.

BOW CAP—A cap of metal or fabric used to reinforce the extreme forward tip of a bow of a nonrigid or semirigid airship.

BOWHEAVY—The condition in which the forward end of an airship, in flight, tends to sink. This is corrected by means of the horizontal stabilizer.

BOW-WEIGHING DEVICE—An instrument for measuring the horizontal and vertical forces between an airship and its mooring mast.

BREATHING—The passage of air into or out of an aerostat, due to changing volume.

BUFFETING—The repeated fluttering experienced by any part of an aircraft, caused by an unsteady flow of air arising from a disturbance set up by any other part of the aircraft.

BUMP—A sudden jar of an aircraft while in flight caused by a region of unstable air condition.

Watch for the next list of definitions which will appear in this column shortly.

I'll see you at the field day at the City-County Airport, Saturday, June 9. I'll have more news for you on that event also.

Happy landings!

Already our tour of the city has taken us through all the popular government buildings and many points of historical interest. We arrived here Friday night and since then we have been busy every minute taking in the host of interesting sights.

John Cowan, Washington correspondent for the Sun-Telegraph, met us at the train and took us to the Lee House, which we have been making our headquarters. We have a suite of rooms at the hotel and everything in the way of comfort.

Go Through White House

We went to the White House Saturday morning. There we were greeted by the White House usher and escorted through the home of the President. From there we went through the Capitol and saw the rooms in which the governing bodies of the United States—the Senate and the House of Representatives—meet.

We visited the Pan-American Building and the Bureau of Printing and Engraving where we saw paper money and postage stamps printed. The trip through the Smithsonian Institution was one of the most interesting for our junior aviation enthusiasts.

RAINEY IS HOST TO PITTSBURGH BIRDMEN

By JOHN P. COWAN
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Members of Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph wing, Junior Birdmen of America, touring the national capital, today climaxed their visit with a reception by Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of the House of Representatives, when Miss Dorothy Smith, on behalf of the party, presented a model plane to their host.

Mrs. Rainey joined the Speaker in receiving the young Pittsburgh aviators and heartily applauded Miss Smith's speech. The Speaker in accepting the gift said:

"I am proud to have a model of the plane flown by that intreped knight of the air, Col. Wiliam Thaw, of the Lafayette Escadrille in France. He was a brave man and a patriot and his service for the Allies did honor to his native Pittsburgh and the whole country. With Mrs. Rainey I am grateful for this token from the Junior Birdmen—and charming birdwoman—of Pittsburgh."

Mrs. Rainey then escorted the young visitors to the speakers' gallery where they witnessed the opening of the House from the front row, a place of honor in the big hall of representatives. In the party besides Miss Smith are Don Gross, George Bish, and John William Scott, who are escorted by J. James Moore, of the Sun-Telegraph staff. They left for Pittsburgh on an early afternon train.

Croatian Group To Hold Celebration

A celebration marking the fifth anniversary of Lodge 143, Croatian Fraternal Union, will be held in Ukrainian Hall, McKees Rocks, tonight. The program will include dancing, presentation of a one-act play, and a concert.

Film Director, Actress Married

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—(AP.)—Alfred Santell, Hollywood motion picture director, and Jane N. Kiethley, film actress, of Michigan City, Ind., were married in Yuma, Ariz., Saturday by a justice of the peace, it was learned today. Santell gave his age as 38; Miss Kiethley as 26. They flew to Yuma and returned to the coast after the ceremony.

Injured Woman Wins Verdict for $28,000

A verdict for $28,000 damages was awarded Miss Marie Lugibihl, of Dunlap street, by a jury in Common Pleas Court today against William W. Collin, Jr., of Edgeworth, lawyer and socialite.

The suit was based on an automobile accident at Lincoln and Galveston avenues four years ago in which Miss Lugibihl suffered injury to her nervous system. Visiting Judge Norman T. Boose heard her trial.

Roosevelt Appeal Met by Scouts

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts, reported today that the Scouts of the nation had collected 2,000,000 pieces of clothing and household equipment for charitable institutions as a result of President Roosevelt's "call to service" in a speech in February.

Gas Station Manager Robbed on North Side

Two men entered the Miller service station at 2811 Brighton road last night, held up Frank Hays, the manager, and escaped with $25, he reported to police.

EASY METHODS OF TONING UP ANY MEAL

Here it is Monday and six new recipes on hand with which to start the week off right. Five dollar winner, shrimp and mushroom croquette, is destined to add tone to any meal.

One dollar "bests," grape marlow, West Indian pancakes, crusty corn sticks, frozen pudding, and gingerbread cream loaf, will tempt us all, is Prudence Penny's belief, "to lick the platter clean." And isn't that, after all, what we want of our foods?

Which of your favorites most quickly disappears when set before the family? If it's popular with the family, it's sure to be liked by other people, too, so why not give them a chance to try it, by sending in this reliable recipe of yours to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. She pays either $5 or $1 for the recipes she uses daily. No recipes, though, are returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

VIOLET BARNER,
429 Moore Street, Huntingdon.

SHRIMP AND MUSHROOM CROQUETTES

One cup shrimp, cut in pieces.
One cup mushrooms, cut in halves.
Four tablespoons fat.
One cup boiled rice.
One teaspoon salt.
Dash of pepper.
Four tablespoons flour.
One cup milk.
Dried crumbs.
One egg.

Cook shrimp and mushrooms in two tablespoons fat, until a delicate brown. Add rice, salt and pepper. Heat remaining two tablespoons fat in saucepan, add flour and mix to a smooth paste. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly, and cook until thick. Combine sauce with first mixture. Chill. Form into croquettes and roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat (375 degrees F.) until a delicate brown. Drain on unglazed paper.

Five $1 Prize Winners

MISS J. A. McCUE,
707 Logan street, Carnegie.

GRAPE MARLOW

One cup grape juice.
Two tablespoons orange juice.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.
Twenty marshmallows, quartered.
One cup whipping cream.

Put the juices and the marshmallows in the top of double boiler until thoroughly melted. When cool and slightly stiffened, add the stiffly beaten whipped cream. Pour into the tray of the refrigerator (electric) or pack in equal parts of salt and ice and freeze. Freeze three to four hours. This amount will serve six.

MRS. FLOYD ELLINGER,
Masontown.

WEST INDIAN PANCAKES

One-half cup flour.
Two tablespoons sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One egg, well beaten.
One-half cup milk.
Two bananas.

Sift dry ingredients. Add milk to beaten egg and stir slowly into flour mixture until smooth. Pour onto hot, well-greased griddle. Drop a few slices of banana on top of each cake. Brown on one side, then on the other. Sprinkle with powdered sugar or garnish with jelly. Serve immediately.

MRS. LEE C. BORTZ,
407 North Fifth street, Apollo.

CRUSTY CORN STICKS.

One and one-fourth cups sifted flour.
Two and one-fourth teaspoons baking powder.
Two tablespoons sugar.
One teaspoon salt.
One cup yellow corn meal.
Two eggs, well beaten.
One and one-fourth cups milk.
Four tablespoons melted shortening.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar and salt, and sift again. Add corn meal and mix well. Combine eggs and milk, add to dry ingredients, mixing well. Add shortening and bake in well greased corn-ear pans, or greased bread-stick pans in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes two dozen corn-ear sticks, or three dozen short corn sticks.

MRS. JOHN C. GOLDEN
1602 Rutherford avenue, South Hills.

FROZEN PUDDING

Two-thirds cup granulated sugar.
Three-quarters cup water.
Three egg whites.
One pint whipping cream.
One teaspoon vanilla extract.
One-quarter cup coarsely chopped canned pineapple.
One-quarter cup canned cherries, coarsely cut.
One-quarter cup raisins, cut fine.

Boil the sugar and water together to 230 degrees Fahrenheit or the thread stage. Beat the egg whites and the cream in separate bowls until stiff, using a hand beater or an electric beater at high speed. Pour the sugar syrup slowly over the beaten egg whites while continuing to beat. Beat until cool. Fold in the whipped cream, vanilla and prepared fruits. Turn into the freezing tray of an automatic refrigerator and freeze until set. Serves eight to ten. If you prefer you may freeze the pudding three to four hours in a 1½ quart covered mold, using two parts of ice to one of ice cream salt.

DOROTHY RICHARDSON,
R. D. 2, Leechburg.

GINGERBREAD CREAM CHEESE LOAF.

Make a regular gingerbread and bake in a bread pan. Cool and cut in slices lengthwise. Soften half a pound of cream cheese with fresh cream and mix with a tart jelly or marmalade. Spread the gingerbread slices with this and pile up like a layer cake. Then ice all over with the spread or with cream cheese softened with cream. Garnish with bits of candied ginger. Slice and serve.

Junior Patrol

Don't use bad words or call bad names, fellows!

There are some boys, and even a few girls, who make fun of their friends and call them all the bad names they can think of.

They have fun, it seems, because their playmates are hurt and angered. The more their playmates get worried and mad at them, the more fun they think it is.

Doesn't this seem to be a silly way to do? We know some fellows—you wouldn't believe it—who make fun of a crippled boy. They think it is funny to see him hopping along.

Kind boys and girls—Junior Patrol members—know better. There are many unfortunate people in the world. What we should do is to be as kind to such people as we can and try to make their way easier in the world.

No one wants to be crippled or blind. It is not their fault and it can happen to anybody.

Then there are some fellows, physically whole, who are what we call "sensitive." They are not quite so rough and ready as other fellows. They don't know how to give a joke or to take one.

Such boys and girls should be helped—they will soon learn to join in the fun like all the other children in your gang. Make them a member of your club and introduce them around.

As for the bad words, fellows, they will never help you or anybody else and they will do you much harm. Gentlemen and ladies don't swear. You don't have to swear or use bad words. You will be more respected if you don't. And remember, just because other fellows do it it doesn't mean you have to be a sheep and follow the leader.

PRESBYTERIAN INDEPENDENTS TO FIGHT ON

CLEVELAND, May 28.—(AP.)—Dr. J. Gresham Machen, of Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, president of the independent board for Presbyterian foreign missions, which was outlawed Friday by the Presbyterian General Assembly, yesterday assailed the majority in the assembly as "modernist."

In a sermon at a Christian Reformed Church, Dr. Machen said obedience of the assembly's order cutting off the independent board would be impossible for a Christian. He added:

"The attack by the General Assembly upon the members of the independent board for foreign missions means that every officer and member of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. is ordered either to support the modernist propaganda of the official board or else to refrain from all missionary endeavor.

FIGHTS MERGER

"Such teaching never saved a soul. We adherents of this latter creed may be removed from the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. But our removal will not prevent the spread of that gospel of which we are humble proclaimers."

Dr. Machen said the proposed plan of organic union with the United Presbyterian Church "subtly undermines the authority of the Bible and impairs basic principles of Protestant liberty."

Discussion on the proposed merger will begin Tuesday at the General Assembly. The question has aroused much controversy between two groups of the assembly, the "fundamentalists," who are attempting to prevent the present plan from being given to the presbyteries for consideration, and the "conservatives," the majority group which favors the plan.

VETERANS HONORED

The three men were the Rev. Dean R. Leland, pastor for Presbyterian students at the University of Nebraska; the Rev. Andrew C. Zenos, retiring dean of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Chicago, and Landon C. Haynes, for more than 50 years professor of mathematics at the Presbyterian College of Tusculum, Greenville, Tenn. Each was given a testimonial signed by Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, president of the Board of Christian Education of the church, and Dr. William Chalmers Covert, general secretary of the board and new moderator.

BAPTISTS HEAR ROBINS APPEAL

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28.—(AP.)—Appeal to the 3,000 delegates to the Northern Baptist convention to translate their religion into a program of action was sounded Sunday by Col. Raymond Robins, chairman of the American Commission for the Outlawry of War, and the Rev. Harold Phillips, of Cleveland.

The convention will end its six-day meeting today with routine business sessions and an address by the Rev. M. E. Aubrey, general secretary of the Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland.

Referring to the failure of democracy all over Europe and the recession to regimentation, Col. Robins told a mass meeting of men:

"It is to the Christian church in America that the world must look if democracy is to be saved. But it will be a new democracy, not that of the frontier days of rugged individualism, but rather one of co-operation. The church must lead the way in the solution of problems of poverty, recognition of labor and the building of reserves for periods of economic depression."

Col. Robins characterized the NRA as "courageous and daring," but too new to have proved itself completely.

Indian Brothers Held for Murder

MERRITT, B. C., May 28.—(AP.)—Two Indians, brothers, have been charged with the slaying of Frank Grisborne, Indian Department Constable, at Canford Indian Reservation last Thursday.

Grisborne's body, badly mutilated, was found by searchers in the Nicola River.

MUSIC

Western Pennsylvania Choral Festival

Pitt Stadium

Pitt Stadium welcomed almost 10,000 spectators to hear choruses of 1,500 singers from all parts of Western Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon. It was a festival in the grandest style, one of the most encouraging signs of love of music ever before held in Pittsburgh. Harvey Gaul was organizer and the rapid moving of singers showed excellent generalship.

Mr. Lissfelt

Loving cups were awarded to winners in three groups, church, art and national or racial groups, with an honorable mention to each group. Twenty-eight choirs competed, among them a children's choir of 100 from Johnstown, German, Czecho-Slovak, Russian, Greek, Scotch, Welsh and Negro. The quality of singing was exceptionally high, many non-winners giving us many a happy song.

Among first rank were the Russian and Greek Orthodox choirs, the German North American Singers, the Grenadiers Male Chorus and the Pitt Women's Choir.

Winners were as follows:

Church Group—Cup: Carpatho-Russian Symphonic Choir. Director, Michael Stauvosky.

Honorable Mention—First Presbyterian Choir, Indiana, Pa. Director, Mary St. Clair King.

Art Group—Cup: Orpheus Choir, South Hills. Director, John Ferguson.

Honorable Mention—Choristers of Pittsburgh. Director, John Lowther.

Nationalistic Group—Cup: Cardwell School Choir (Negro). Director, Mary Cardwell Dawson.

Honorable Mention—Pittsburgh Scottish Choir. Director, Anthony Jones.

Opening the festival the assembled audience and choirs sang "America" and later the combined choruses, under Harvey Gaul's direction, sang Bach's Chorale, "Grant Us to Do With Zeal," Elgar's "As Torrents in Summer," and Richard Wagner's "Pilgrim Chorus" from "Tannhaeuser," the audience again joining in Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." A thrilling musical event which should attract still more singers next year. J. FRED LISSFELT.

THUG ATTACKS WRITER, WIFE

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., May 28.—(AP.)—Spurred by the offer of a $500 reward from the publisher of the Santa Barbara Press, city and county peace officers searched today for a man who stole into the home of Stanley Selover, 28, reporter, and beat him, probably fracturing his skull.

The attack occurred early Sunday while Selover and his wife were asleep. Authorities said they believer Selover's attacker sought revenge for a story the reporter had written, possibly in connection with a scandal here involving four former police officers, three of whom are on trial on bribery charges.

Selover's paper played a leading part in the investigation of the scandal. The publisher is T. M. Storke.

The intruder also struck Mrs. Selover the blow cutting her forehead.

DINNER TO OPEN JEWISH DRIVE

Inaugurating the Pittsburgh drive of the United Jewish Appeal for German Relief Campaign, a dinner will be held under the auspices of the local committee at the Concordia Club next Sunday.

James G. McDonald, League of Nations high commissioner for German refugees, who recently returned to this country from a survey of conditions in Europe, will be the principal speaker. Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, of Chicago, who has accepted a call to Rodef Shalom Temple, also will speak.

A total of $3,000,000 is being sought under the national chairmanship of Felix M. Warburg. Leo Lehman is chairman of the Pittsburgh drive.

RWD TO START RIVER ROAD JOB

Work on the Ohio River boulevard extension from Haysville station to Sewickley will be started tomorrow with a large force of Relief Work Division men, James L. Stuart, RWD director, announced today.

The large force of approximately 230 men will be used to keep the detours out as short a time as possible, Deputy Director Philip H. Lantz explained. Detours will be necessary from Glenfield to Sewickley Heights, and across the McKees Rocks bridge.

About 14,200 men are now on the RWD payroll, but the prospect for June is "entirely uncertain," Lantz said. No definite word has been received from Harrisburg concerning the allotment for next month.

Between 600 and 700 "white collar workers have been re-employed, but the clerical force of the RWD has been reduced from 380 to 210 this month, Lantz said.

M'BRIDE HERE, FLAYS REPEAL

Speaking in two Pittsburgh churches yesterday, Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, lashed repeal as a tragic failure.

Dr. McBride said dry forces throughout the country are mustering to call for referendums in wet territories and to stem the wet invasion in states where prohibition still reigns.

In Colorado, he declared, dry leaders will ask for a civil damage law to compel liquor sellers to compensate anyone who suffers injuries because of intoxication, such as the victim of a drunken driver.

Dr. McBride appeared in the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church at the morning services and in the Homewood Avenue United Presbyterian Church last night.

3,000 Soldiers Face Trip to Barbershop

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 28.—(AP.)—Barbers at Fort Warren, near here, are sharpening their clippers and shears in preparation for trimming the hair on approximately 3,000 heads.

In a general order received by Brig. Gen. C. H. Congrad, Jr., post commandant, the War Department decreed no soldier or officer shall have his hair longer than two inches for the sake of uniformity.

Barrow Family Bans Clyde-Bonnie Song

DALLAS, Tex., May 28.—(AP.)—A night club ditty about Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, bandit pair slain last week, was ruled out of circulation today at the request of the Barrow's family.

An entertainer who attempted to introduce the song, written on a "Frankie and Johnnie" theme, was asked to desist after one of the Barrows, hearing it, remonstrated to the management.

LOSES HIS JOB, GETS WAR HONOR

The Distinguished Service Cross which came to Thomas Hunt, of 1008 Grant avenue, Duquesne, the day he lost his job with the Relief Works Division, will be presented to him officially on Memorial Day at ceremonies at the Raymund C. Burns Post, No. 188, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Hunt's heroism in action near Cote-de-Chatillon, France, October 14, 1918, won him the citation.

The presentation will be made by Maj. Frank E. Bonney, adjutant general of the 99th Division.

Hunt learned of his citation when he returned to his home from relief headquarters at Duquesne, where he had explained his misfortune. He is working one day a week at the Carnegie Steel Company plant, Duquesne.

GEM RINGS

Throughout the centuries Rings have been the symbol of betrothal and marriage, the perfect circle denoting the perfect union which has no end. Grogan Rings, particularly the ones bound up with these most sacred events, sustain the highest tradition of the goldsmith's art. Their designers are heirs to the jeweler's knowledge of the ages.

The perfection of the gems and the craftsmanship on the mountings which hold them, are evidence of their worth.

Sometimes a single bale of Turkish tobacco has in it about 43,000 of these tiny tender leaves

SUPPLYING the Turkish tobacco for Chesterfield is a business in itself.

OUR BUYERS live in each district of Turkey and Greece where leaf tobacco grows. And at Smyrna we have the largest and most modern tobacco plant of its kind in the Near East.

At all times Chesterfield has in storage upwards of 350,000 bales of Turkish tobacco.

MERELY 3 DAYS FOR TEXTS ON RUSHMORE

Today . . . tomorrow . . . then Wednesday midnight!

That's the closing day and hour for entries in the Mount Rushmore National Memorial inscription competition.

The flood of mail, piling higher each day, all section of the tri-state district has joined the nationwide surge of patriotic enthusiasm that has stirred men, women and youth to write America's epic. Historical pride is being expressed in the 600-word texts being written for consideration as the inscription that will be carved in the Black Hills of South Dakota on the great national monument.

If your entry is in the final stages of preparation, do not delay completing the text. Take no chance on a delay in the mails which would result in a postmark date later than midnight Wednesday. Your patriotic effort will lose a chance in the competition if it arrives too late.

Submit it to the special chairman of your organization or if it has an active participation in the competition. If not a member of an active group or student of a participating school, send the text direct to the Pittsburgh Rushmore Committee, care the Sun-Telegraph.

Most important—do not let it exceed 600 words. . . . Be sure it is based on the nine specific episodes of history named by the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission for the competition conducted by the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers. And write the inscription in plain words . . . written from the heart to express true feeling of pride.

TRAPEZE LURES BOY TO DEATH

Universal Service.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 28.—(US.)—Roger Williams, Jr., 10, listened to the lilting refrain of the song about the daring young man on the flying trapeze.

Ambition stirred in his breast to emulate the exploits of the glamorous circus hero.

On his back porch, with sash cord and broom handles, young Williams fashioned a flying trapeze.

He climbed upon the refrigerator and swung off into space.

But something went wrong.

His grandmother, seeking food in the ice box for the evening meal, found Roger entangled in the ropes, a loop coiled tightly about his neck. The boy was dead, strangled.

HONOR ORIGINAL BLOOMER GIRL

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., May 28.—(AP.)—The memory of a Seneca Falls housewife was recalled throughout America today—and the "bloomers" she advocated back in 1851.

Amelia Bloomer was born at Homer, N. Y., May 27, 1818, and became a pioneer reformer in the feminist movement soon after she married a young journalist and came to live in this village. Feminists will observe the one hundred and sixteenth anniversary this week.

In 1851, when her publication, the Lily, was six years old, Mrs. Bloomer published her sensational editorial urging adoption in America of the Oriental-styled costume that was given her name.

Touhy Gang Witness Hangs Self in Cell

ELKHORN, Wis., May 28.—(AP.)—One of the captors of the Touhy gang and a principal witness at the mob's Chicago and St. Paul trials, George Wiswell, 38, hanged himself with a clothesline in the Walworth County Jail here. He was in jail at his own request.

When he began having hullucinations two days ago, police said, Wiswell asked Sheriff George O'Brien to keep him in jail.

Milk Dealers Here To Protest Ruling

Milk dealers of the Western Pennsylvania milk marketing area are to meet in the Fort Pitt Hotel here Tuesday morning to protest a general order of the Milk Control Board, of Harrisburg, which becomes effective June 1.

This order increases the cost of milk to the dealers and decreases the selling price to consumers. R. J. Kister, representative of the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers Association, called the meeting.

Two Boys Drowned When Swing Breaks

BRIDEGTON, N. J., May 28.—(AP.)—Two boys drowned in Cohansey River late yesterday when a rope supporting a swing on which they were playing broke and threw them into the stream. The victims were Edward Davis, 11, and Alexander Parsons, 9.

HELEN MENKEN :-: Pan-American Program :-: ON AIR

Excellent Programs On Air

The first of a series of summer concerts given annually in the beautiful Aztec Garden of the Pan American Union in Washington is presnted over an NBC-WCAE network at 10:30 p. m.

The United States Army Band, direction of Capt. William J. Stannard, will supply the instrumental portion of the program.

Juan Arvizu, Mexican tenor, is the assisting artist, and in the concert will be featured four Latin-American dances to be interpreted by Lisa Gardiner and her dancers.

* * *

Helen Menken portrays Florence Nightingale, in her fifth appearance as dramatic star of "The Big Show" over WJAS at 9:30.

George Gaul, stage and radio actors plays opposite Miss Menken. The surrounding musical program is supplied by Erno Rapee's Orchestra and Gertrude Niesen.

* * *

Gladys Rice, whose lovely soprano voice has been heard on some of the leading radio programs, and D·n Gridley, outstanding oratorio tenor, are the guest artists with Walter Damrosch and His Symphony Orchestra on an NBC-KDKA network tonight at 10 o'clock.

* * *

TOO FAR?

Edward A. Filene, noted Boston merchant and economist, discusses the economic aspects of the New Deal tonight over CBS-WJAS at 10:45.

His subject is "Are We Going Too Far?"

Frederic Baer, baritone, will sing "Invictus" by Huhn; "When Day Is Done" and "For You Alone" when he makes his appearance with Josef Pasternack's Orchestra on the KDKA Melody Moments program tonight at 9:30.

* * *

Rosa Ponselle sings Lady Scott's beautiful melody "Annie Laurie," as her featured offering during her broadcast with Andre Kostelanetz's orchestra and chorus on WJAS at 9.

Miss Ponselle also offers "The Night Wind" by the late Roland Farley and "Ave Maria" from Verdi's opera "Otello."

* * *

Rose Laird, fashion expert, speaks from WCAE tomorrow morning at 9 on "Lessons in Loveliness." Miss Laird is visiting the city for several days.

* * *

Lee Williams and his orchestra fill a late spot on KQV tonight, billed from 11 to 11:30.

* * *

An elaborate half hour program marking their last time on the air this season is presented by the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity and Alumni over WWSW at 8:45.

The business group has been heard over the local station all winter, bringing to the microphone some of the most prominent business men in Pittsburgh.

Other features—Paul Gannon at 6:45 and Eddie Peyton at 11:30.

UNBORN BABIES SEX FORETOLD

BOSTON, May 28.—(AP.)—A new method of foretelling the sex of unborn children which has correctly forecast 242 boys and 156 girls was described in an announcement made at Boston University.

If the baby is to be a boy, a small pink spot appears on the mother's forearm, a color indicating that nature's choice is contrary to the custom in the United States of sending gifts "blue for a boy, pink for a girl."

The pink spot appears after a slight hypodermic made of a new extract taken from the glands of bulls. The color for girls is white, that is no "reaction" appears after the needle.

The test was devised by Dr. Max Davis, instructor in obstretrics and gynecology at the School of Medicine. The experiments have been under way for several years. The total prospective mothers tested was 468. The accuracy in this number was 82.3 per cent for male children and 89.6 per cent for females.

Taxpayers to Hold Rally in Swissvale

A mass meeting of Swissvale taxpayers will be held in the Dickson School, Swissvale, tonight. George Ludlow, of the Allegheny County Real Estate Owners' and Taxpayers' League will speak.

Notes About Radio Stars, Stations

By AIRCASTER

The Columbia Broadcasting System, which hitherto has had no opera to speak of, will be wafting a three-a-week operatic period from Chicago, under patronage of a baking concern soon after June 15.

P. S.—They don't know about this yet at Columbia, but will before Tuesday.

* * *

"One Man's Family," which many critics claim is the most nearly perfect script act ever written for radio, will move into the 10 to 10:30 spot on WCAE Saturdays, when that auto show vanishes June 30.

* * *

Now that Guy Lombardo, who is this week putting on one of the swellest stage shows ever seen in Pittsburgh, has left his old love, Columbia, and joined up with the rival chains, the NBC is plotting a terrific ballyhoo for him, while CBS is flirting the Jan Garber outfit from the West Coast, which does an echo of the Lombardo tempos.

Lombardo starts with NBC June 7, when he will inaugurate his series of programs from the Waldorf . . . The presentations will be on Thursday, Saturday and Monday nights.

* * *

Amos 'n' Andy, who have never had a vacation in the four years they have been in radio, have finally secured a leave of absence and will go off the air after July 13, remaining off until about the middle of September, when they will resume their network spot.

Their place will be filled, during their vacation, by Frank Buck of "Bring 'em Back Alive" fame, who will present a series of dramatizations of his jungle adventures for the same sponsor.

Two Youths Fined As Number Writers

Two youths who walked into a pool room at 346 Climax street to turn in their numbers slips while police were raiding the place were fined $5 each in Mt. Washington Police Court yesterday. They were Henry Dyer, of McClain street, and William Hite, of Pasadena street. The proprietor of the pool room, Nat Barone, also was fined $5.

Schools to Hold Picnic at Kennywood

A basket picnic will be held by pupils of Braddock Township, North Braddock and Sewickley Township public schools at Kennywood Park tomorrow. The outing wil be sponsored by the boards of education of the three communities.

'MIKE' ON LAPEL LATEST IN RADIO

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—(AP.)—A new "button-hole" microphone, designed to catch the words of a speaker, no matter how he twists or cranes his neck, was introduced to the public.

The lapel microphone was worn by Dr. H. F. Olson, of the RCA-Victor laboratories, in a demonstration at the opening of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

A tiny affair, patterned after its big brother used on a stand in broadcasting, the microphone was described as overcoming loss in intensity as the speaker moves his head from side to side or up and down.

Known as the velocity microphone, it weighs three ounces, is one and a half inches square and an inch thick.

1934

Much water has flowed under the Sixth street bridge since Boggs and Buhl serviced the elegant belles of the gay nineties. All honour to the good old days when the home dress-maker queened it and when "good goods" and a full 36 inches of it to the yard were almost all we could do to make you happy. But far be it from us to ask you to shop here on that account alone to-day! Judge your 1934 Boggs and Buhl on its present merits... as a series of 1934 shops staffed by experts ... an exposition of to-day's best in home and personal fashions. Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Leading today's news is a wedding announcement.

The Henry C. McEldowneys, of Northumberland avenue, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Hester McEldowney Gibson, to Alfred Tate Smith, of Richmond, Va.

The ceremony took place May 7.

* * *

This week will be full of excitement—what with warmer weather here, and a holiday—Wednesday's Memorial Day—and Saturday afternoon a holiday afternoon for nearly everyone.

And then the week boasts events galore from cabaret parties, at which socialites from Sewickley will be dancers, chorines, to weddings.

The cabaret party is that which Sewickley's young socialites will give in the Edgeworth Club to continue the work of their Sewickley Child Health Association.

Weddings Are Listed For Saturday

And one of the many advantages of the cabaret party is that the men won't have to be at their offices the next morning, for it will be a holiday.

Wednesday, this much-vaunted holiday, will find most of our socialites at the country clubs, where there will be riding, golf, tennis and even swimming at several, if the weather permits.

Saturday will bring a bevy of weddings—Rebecca Rolfe Williams will wed Frederick Voelker Rankin in the Third United Presbyterian Church; Ruth Clark will marry Raymond A. Gerwig in the Clark home; Irene Moseley will marry Charles Edward Friebertshauser in Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church; Zoe Mothersbaugh will wed George F. Beggs in the First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg.

Eugenia Harshbarger To Be Bridesmaid

Eugenia Harshbarger, daughter of the E. D. Harsbargers, will be a bridesmaid at the fashionable wedding of Barbara Batt, daughter of the William Loren Batts, of "Afterglo," Wyncoe, Pa., to Richard Clarkson Bond, son of the Richard Jones Bonds, of Willow Creek, Upper Darby, on June 16.

The ceremony will take place in the garden of the Batt estate.

Anna Bond, sister of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor. Van Leroy Bond will be best man.

The bride-elect is a member of the Junior League and attended Swarthmore and Garland School in Boston. Her fiance attended Swarthmore and Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Shulgold Invited To Join Art Colony

The Holbrook Bostets entertained at a picnic Saturday for fellow actors in "Mr. Pim Passes By," Stage and Play Society's final production of the year.

* * *

William R. Shulgold, the Pittsburgh artist, whose work has hung in International Art exhibits (he did a series of drawings of socialites for the Sun-Telegraph several years ago), has been invited to join the Old White art colony at White Sulphur Springs.

Cottage studios have been arranged in the popular resort for the use of artists honored by invitations.

Dorothy Schenck to Wed Robert Van der Voort

Two June graduates-to-be are betrothed.

The Albert William Schencks, of Solway street, at an informal tea in their home Sunday afternoon, made known the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Schenck, a senior at Pennsylvania College for Women, to Robert Van der Voort, son of the Carl Van der Voorts, of Ingomar, and a senior in the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

The bride-to-be is also a graduate of Winchester, and her fiancé is a graduate of Guilford College and of Haverford College.

After their graduation this June they will make plans for their wedding.

Ingram Juniors Inaugurate New Idea

A new idea will be carried out tonight at the annual meeting of the Ingram Junior Woman's Club when nautical terms will be used by each chairman making her annual report. Mrs. Clifford C. Taylor, chairman of work for the blind for the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, will talk on "Our Neighbor's Children." Mrs. Dale Woods, hostess for the meeting, which is to be in the Firemen's Association Building, will be assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Brimmer, Mrs. Nelson Agnew, Miss Ruth Bechtel, Miss Dorothea Craig and Mrs. Richard Wise.

Officers for the coming year will be installed. They are: Miss Margaret McCurdy, president; Mrs. E. H. Kilmer, vice president; Miss Mildred Markle, recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth Stromfels, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. H. Appel, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Faddis and Miss Olive Bash, directors.

Tech Co-ed Weds Engineering Student

A freshman in the sculpture department of Carnegie Institute of Technology, and a Tech engineering student were married May 5.

The bride is Miss Marion Smeddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smeddle, of Malvern avenue, Squirrel Hill, and the bridegroom, John Barto, son of Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Barto, of Ivy street, East End.

On Wednesday they left for a honeymoon in California.

Wilma Eckert To Marry in Summer

At a bridge-luncheon at Chartiers Heights Country Club Saturday afternoon, Miss Charlotte Eckert and Mrs. Lawrence Randolph Eckert announced the engagement of their sister, Miss Wilma Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Eckert, of Crafton, to Charles Bish Johnson, of Columbus and Pittsburgh.

The guest of honor is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. She is planning a summer wedding.

Geneva Lobach Is Engaged To Marry

At a luncheon on Saturday the engagement of Miss Geneva Lobach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lobach, of Ferree street, Coraopolis, to Charles Kenneth McCracken, of Sewickley and St. Joseph's, Mich., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McCracken, of St. Joseph's, was announced.

The party was given by Miss Lobach for her house guest, Miss Evelyn Stoll, of Newark, Del.

Mt. Holyoke Plans Are Made

Plans made by the Pittsburgh Mt. Holyoke Club for next year include a September tea for girls returning to college, officers of the club serving as hostesses; the customary Mountain Day picnic at Ligonier in October, with Mrs. Carl Harwig and Mrs. William M. Hutchison as hostesses; a bridge dance at the College Club in November for which Miss Helen Singleton and Miss Jean McIlroy will be co-chairmen, and a Christmas breakfast for the students home from college.

Mrs. John Semple Brown and Miss Jane Meloy are to be chairmen for this affair. Miss Emily Irvine is to be program chairman for the club next season and Miss Mary McKittrick will take charge of publicity.

Mrs. J. V. Breisky, new president, presided over the short business session which closed the season on Saturday in Miss Elizabeth Darragh's home, College avenue, Beaver.

Mrs. F. F. Rohrer To Present Program

A program of compositions by Mrs. F. F. Rohrer will be given tonight under the direction of Harvey B. Gaul at "Stone Gables," Mrs. Rohrer's home in Churchill road. Marion Clark Bollinger will present the piano number, "Invention." Letha Frazier Rankin, Jean McCrory Newman and Viola Byrgerson will do two groups of songs. Numbers for the flute will be played by Joseph Mariano and a string quartet including Ferdinand Fillion, Mark Meyer, Robert Eicher and Ero Davidson, will play a Nocturne and, with Mr. Mariano and Janet Spaugh, piano, will also contribute "March of the Graduates."

Mrs. Rohrer's pen is facile not only with notes and rests, but with words as well and her playlet, "The Amateur's Garden," which is a recent literary composition, will be given by Mary Jones Sherrill, Jessie Yuille Yon and Beulah Taylor. The program is to close with two choral numbers under the direction of Lucille Miller Werner.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Rohrer will be hostess for one of the Tuesday Musical Club's summer morning matinees and after the program, the guests will go over to the Edgewood Country Club for luncheon.

Spring Frolic Set By 2ys Club

The 2ys Club will hold its annual spring frolic Decoration eve, Tuesday night, at the Chartiers Heights Country Club. Harry H. Krimsley is chairman.

Mrs. Davis Ends Term Of Office

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

One of the most felicitous club speeches this writer has ever heard was made on Saturday by Mrs. Frank H. Davis, when she retired from office as president of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Club and handed the responsibility over to her successor, Mrs. Harry C. Nagel. Mrs. Davis' entire speech, brief and to the point, was carried out in nautical terms from the beginning, when she spoke of "the sea of faces" which had confronted her upon taking office, to the end, when she presented their "captain" to the "crew" and "passengers". Although the budget was reduced, the club's philanthropic work has not been curtailed, Mrs. Davis stated.

The club had its annual luncheon, with 240 present, in the Edgewood Country Club. Lovely columbine and iris from the gardens of members formed the profuse decorations. The new year books, an outline of which was given in yesterday's Sun-Telegraph, were distributed and a fine program of music concluded the afternoon. This was presented by Janet Spaugh, piano; Ann Vernon Root, soprano; Mark Meyer, violin, and Ero Davidson, cello.

This afternoon Mrs. F. F. Rohrer, the new first vice president, is entertaining the educational and fine arts department at "Stone Gables," her home in Churchill road. Jessie Yuille Yon is singing, with Beulah Taylor Marston accompanying. Mrs. John Jones, a member of the Ligonier Woman's Club, is giving a garden talk and a playlet, "The Amateur's Garden," written by Mrs. Rohrer is another program item. In its cast are Miss Louise Jennewine, Mrs. G. A. Caldwell ann Mrs. A. A. Moline.

P. T. A. to Honor Miss Storer Tomorrow

In recognition of Miss Carrie Storer's 40 years as a principal and teacher in the Oliver School, Duquesne, an informal tea will be held tomorrow from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening at the home of the retiring president of the Oliver Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Robert B. Gerdts, North Second street, Duquesne.

Presidents of the various units of the Parent-Teacher Association, the superintendent of schools and fellow principals of the local schools will act as hosts and hostesses. Mrs. A. C. Cummins, Mrs. C. H. Wolford and Mrs. T. J. Tindall will preside at the tea table.

We Have to Love Dollars

It costs so much to live. There are so many things to spend money for. That is why most everybody has to look at the price of this or that and weigh it against income.

When buying furniture don't let your desire to save dollars cloud the issue. Don't select poorly constructed furniture because the price is low. Unreliable grades are false economy.

All the furniture we sell is dependable. We will not handle the shoddy or the sham. We sell good-grade furniture at the fairest price that honest merchandise can be sold at.

Come in and compare our furniture and prices with those prevailing elsewhere. Comparison—that's what wins and holds customers.

THROUGH THE SPYGLASS

-:- Viewing the New -:-

You little shoppers who want to learn the names of the shops whose items are listed in this column day by day . . . call GRANT 6500 . . . and ASK FOR THE SPYGLASS. Or send in a stamped self-addressed envelope for your reply. THE SPYGLASS is always on the alert, peering out new "finds" . . . and you will be answered promptly!

* * *

We wouldn't even attempt to figure how many picnic baskets are being packed preparatory to the Decoration Day jamboree . . . how many ruffles are being pressed . . . or how many new waves are being anchored under big bonnets!

But . . . we would attempt to murmer a few sweet things into your ear about the new white pique twin jackets that we've found. Twin sweaters have been all the rage . . . now they graduate into the approved thing for summer and become pique.

Two styles in these . . . a buttoned-down bib at the neck on one, a buttoned-up-the-front with V-neck on the other. Pocketed . . . and topped with a plain tight sleeve jacket or a bell-bottomed one. (Their buyer told us that the sleeves of the second make her think of sailor's trousers . . . tight-topped . . . full-buttoned). Only $2.98 for the pair of them . . . twins as they are. Sizes 34 to 38.

* * *

Picnickers note: Good old fashioned Boston Brown Bread (that we distinctly remember our mother making in big metal cans!) is appearing at 25c the can now . . . for over a pound. Made with raisins in it . . . . easily turned out onto a plate and sliced for the cream cheese sandwiches you'll want to take along on your trip.

* * *

And now to grow even more practical . . . the canvas feed bags that are being carried by all smartsters are almost an essential to every kind of beach . . . garden . . . . and picnic use. Not only do their capacious insides accommodate such things as the lemonade bottle . . . but are a boon to young mothers whose offsprings are still at the diaper stage and need to have a complete wardrobe carried along when they venture into the public eye!

For these bags are of heavy canvas . . . white on the top halves and brown leather effect on the bottom (exactly like the ones old Dobbin eats oats from!) A piece of rope draws their tops together . . . and they're rubber lined, making them perfectly safe for damp towels and bathing suits—easily washable! $1.95.

* * *

Recollections of Watteau and the sheperdess style! These picturesque leghorn garden hats (or beach hats if it's the beach that's on your list) are marvels of feminine loveliness for only $1.95! They're those almost-plate-like bonnets that tie under the chin with wide bands of belting ribbon that apparently spring from the sides of the crown (such as it is!) With little fuzzy pomponettes set slantwise across the front of the brim.

And yet another . . . a "hoop" hat for lots of hoopla when it's sunny. This is made of printed, polkadotted, or striped fabrics . . . shirred closely over a springy wire hoop that holds it out stiff and forms a frame for the edge of the brim! The better to keep freckles from roosting on the tip of your nose; $1.00.

* * *

With all the gabble going on about summer sandals, we scarcely know whether to mention these wooden clogs or not.

But . . . having found from experience that most are well-nigh impossible to walk in . . . we take pleasure in announcing that the 1934 versions are being with a little hinged place instep . . . so that one really WALKS now . . . instead of doing a double-shuffle. Very cute . . . and priced $2.95.

—DOROTHY RANDALL.

LIGHT TWEEDS ARE SEASONAL STAPLES

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Left; black and white striped tweed, flecked with white in a jacket and skirt. Note the godets in the skirt. Right; a suit of red and black plaid tweed which boasts six pockets with buttoned flaps.

TWEEDS FROM our British cousins are pretty swell affairs, by the yard or all cut up into easy, trig suits and coats, and like any tweed, they are good, husky buys, warranted to stand by in good shape for years if they are given the same care that furs rate.

This spring it is the British weaves which offer the most interesting plaid and check patterns, despite the fact that for years we have looked to the Isles for our best heather mixtures. They are excellent choices for the city dweller who may go into the country only occasionally, for their resistance to grime is higher than that of a plain color woolen and they do not suggest the open moors quite so pleatily, to coin a word.

* * *

GOOD OLD shepherd check is very smart in navy and white or dark brown and white. One popular model shows high notched revers, a leather belt and a skirt in which the kick pleats are arranged with a diagonal use of the pattern. With a knitted jumper of the dark tone or the white, and hat to match it, such a suit will see a girl through the spring freshets, travel with her vacation wardrobe, and still be on the very smart side when the frost is on the pumpkin and the window boxes.

There are more novel checks and plaids, however, which are just as attractive. The red and black number sketched here is such a one, and ever so many this spring go into the mustard and beige combinations which are swank if they happen to become a girl's own coloring.

* * *

IN THE TWEEDS of solid color there are interesting models that come in three pieces. The jacket and skirt may be lily green, for instance, with the former hardly more tailored than a cardigan coat, while a severely tailored top coat in very dark green of the same material, completes the ensemble. In other new models a plain top coat is tuned to the dominant shade of the check or plaid stuff used for a jacket and skirt, and the process of severe tailoring may be reversed, so the topper is scarcely more formidable than a sheer redingote. All the shopper has to do is figure out which kind of a top coat will do her most good with the rest of her clothes, and buy accordingly. Three-quarter length capes make the third piece in many tweed ensembles.

Canadian B. P. W. Seeking Fairer Representation In Government

This month's issue of Widening Horizons, International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs' publication, calls attention to the fact that the Canadian Federation is the first member group to put into operation the principle indorsed by the International Congress of Women in Chicago last summer—namely, that women should have a fairer representation in government.

A resolution has been sent by the Federation to the National Council of Women in Canada calling attention to the limited number of women holding office in the Dominion and asking that local councils choose qualified women in their own communities, urge them to run for public office and support them at the polls.

Winnipeg has gone even farther. Through the initiative of the Business and Professional Women's Club there, a women's civic committee was formed which presented two women candidates for council at the last city election. One of them, Mrs. F. F. McWilliams, was elected and the second candidate, Dr. M. Ellen Douglass, a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, polled a vote sufficiently heavy to afford future encouragement.

After launching the project, "Widening Horizon" says, the club modestly withdrew from leadership, asking the local Council of Women to sponsor the candidates and thus uniting all the women's organizations of the city in their support.

Another interesting item from Canada is to the effect that the Federation there has compiled a reading list on economics for circulation to all clubs.

Many of the Dominion clubs have classes in economics and the one in Winnipeg is under professional leadership. George Powell, a graduate of the University of British Columbia, who majored in economics, is the instructor.

Cartwheel Hats May Soon Involve Washington Taxicabs in New Problem

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Cartwheel hats threaten to involve Washington taxicabs in a new problem, particularly while the present "rash" of garden parties continues to affect society here.

Ordinarily, the back seat of a taxi can hold three fluttering women en route to the White House for tea. But the new, wide-brimmed hats have reduced the back-seat capacity to two passengers. And when the ladies "pile out" at the east entrance to the executive mansion there is much holding and folding of wide brims—all in addition to the usual trouble of keeping fluttering organdy and chiffon dresses from catching on doors.

The cartwheel hats have made the recent reception lines at the White House afternoon affairs look like rows of bright-colored mushrooms on tall, thin stems.

Even the hostesses are following the general trend. At a recent affair Mrs. Roosevelt was wearing a wide-brimmed white felt trimmed with a white ribbon cockade to match the frock of white-and-black crepe which she wore. She had slung a pointed fox over her shoulders because of the chilly breezes, and she was wearing smart-looking white buck oxfords in keeping with the semi-tailored style of her dress.

CHOICE OF OTHERS

Dainty, little Mrs. Claude Swanson, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, likes wide-brimmed black hats to set off her blond hair, and she was wearing a black horsehair model trimmed with tiny garden flowers at one side of the crown. Her dress was a pale gray crepe with an edge of lace at the V-neck.

Mrs. Harold Ickes, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, was another who wore a black cartwheel hat. It matched the black silk crepe coat she wore over a rose-and-white printed chiffon frock which was ankle length. The coat was made with a double cape which fell to the elbows simulating sleeves.

OVER LEFT EYE

Even Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, who is famous for her love of the little tricorne, had yielded to the brim idea although hers was a narrow-brimmed affair with a white ribbon band. She wore a tailored black silk coat and white gauntlets.

But, standing next to her was Mrs. Henry Wallace, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, in another cartwheel which dipped over the left eyes. She wore one of the new redingote coats which flare a little to the front. The lapels stood up in points under her chin, giving her outfit the smart, new "wind-blown" line. Both hat and coat were black.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, was dressed in the most formal of the frocks worn by the cabinet group. It was a black chiffon, ankle-length, printed with a pattern of garden flowers in green, yellow and red. She wore black crepe pumps and the inevitable black cartwheel.

The guests (it was a "hen party" except for the White House aides attending Mrs. Roosevelt) had blossomed forth in much more spectacular rainment since many of them were making their one visit of the year to the White House.

Mrs. Arch C. Perry To Fete Visitors

Mrs. Arch Clement Perry, president of Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will entertain with an informal reception at her home in Aylesboro avenue on Saturay night. Her guests of honor will be the out-of-town people who will be here for the unveiling of the Confederate monument in West Park, North Side.

The body, accompanied by relatives, arrived from Washington early today. Interment will be in a cemetery near the Wilson home. Wilson, appointed by President Wilson in 1913, died Friday night on a railroad train as it arrived at Savannah, Ga.

Portrait of a Columnist's Girl Friday

Dear W.: Whew! Talk about a phone going all week! . . . Practically every attorney in town has phoned, as well as several worried citizens over the item concerning Mexican divorces . . . One lawyer said you should have added that the case is on appeal before the Appellate Division—and that people who are freed in Mexico—and who marry again in New York do not automatically disinherit the children from the latter marriage . . . But I don't know about that . . . Robert J. Robeson, a local attorney, insists that in the State of New York the results of a marriage after a Mexican melting are very disastrous to any offspring of the second marriage, for it was held by our Surrogate's Court that such children were not legitimate, and therefore did not inherit.

You're always on the lookout for youngsters with exceptional talent—so thank me for tipping you off to Lillian Carmen, a lovely thing, who sings too delightfully . . . At the Paramount. A show stopper, too . . . Which reminds me that Frances Langford, another of your pet diversions on the air, is getting her first holiday in three years and leaves for her home in Florida for a brief stay, which is too long, if you asked me . . . I hear that the articles Capt. J. W. Thomason (the Marine Corps' best writer and artist) did on the Japanese situation are a violation of Navy Regulation 218. . . . And that, if the Japanese (or any other nationality) kick he is open to the same sort of "rap" that Smedley Butler had to take over his comments on Il Duce.

Billy Koch is beating pneumonia again for the second time in a year . . . Your mother phoned. Said she isn't feeling too well—and is coming in from the shore this week . . . You forgot your brother's birthday, but I explained that you also forgot your own—and he said he understands.

The Ted Husing divorce was practically confirmed by Husing, who refused to make any comments . . . Both of them are dodging reporters—won't answer the phone, etc. . . . Have a chuckle: One of the items on the luncheon served to the Soviet Russian Ambassador on a U. S. liner last Monday was filet of sole a la Grand Duke!

Joe Moss got a nice break, again. He was picked to play Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite old-fashioned polkas at the Newspaper hop . . . Damon Runyon phoned. Said you must sit with him at the McLarnin-Ross tiff . . . And he regrets not being able to be banqueted by Hecht and MacArthur at the Casino de Paree afterward . . . He'll be writing fight notes all night—follow up stories, etc.

Howz about a mention for my hus-bond? . . . Buddy and Vilma Ebsen have opened with Lyman's lotharios in Baltimore . . . Jimmy Melton has been having a bit of trouble with the Musicians' Union over something . . . Glen Gray's crew are again at the Glen Island Casino. Too bad you can't make it . . . Everybody in the "She Loves Me Not" company says "thanks" out loud . . . For the third boost last week . . . Wanger called again. Said that he will make independent films, he thinks . . . And will urge Gene Buck to co-operate on "Melody Makers of 1935," featuring most of the better known hit makers . . . Good idea . . . What a grand night the Authors and Composers chucked at Billy Rose's spot . . . When Gus Edwards sang, "If I Were Millionaire" and "School Days," I thought I saw your orbs get wet a little.

Mary Pickford feels you got a wrong steer on her Toronto business. Went so big did an extra day . . . June 10 is the next benefit date for Bertha Kalich, the former star, now going blind . . . At the 14th Street Theater . . . Harry B. Harts wishes you'd help him deny reports around town that he's dead . . . I found a new joy cave in Greenwich Village—Paul's Rendezvous—very gay . . . Louise Tarlton is divorcing Monty Steele—he's not divorcing her . . . Dave Franklin has a hit song—"I'm Not Lazy, I'm Dreaming" — which is being played by four big crews in town . . . When you did the act with Bernie—he ran all your errands—so you run this one for Dave like a good little boy . . . I found out that Garbo finds time to read everything about herself, fan mags or columns . . . And that she always dodged an interview because she knew that by granting one—she'd have to grant them all.

The Paradise is clicking even with the weather torrid . . . Moss, of the Hollywood, has a mess of toothaches—which was why he couldn't make the party . . . Joe Zelli, who is running the Park Avenue (which, incidentally, is cozier than ever) wants you to see it . . . Arthur Murray phoned to say that you marry people for their virtues and find out you have to live with their vices. Wonder where he read it? . . . And now they are going to blast at West Point . . . "Tin Soldiers," by Robert Wohlforth, who graduated from the U. S. Military Academy, will tell plenty. It comes out June 12 . . . I sent orchids for you to Park Comm. Moses and the Mayor for finally telling the Central Park Casino to get off the grass! . . .

Thanks for the raise.—Your Girl Friday.

Milk Driver Helps Lost Walker

By JIMMY STARR

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Hello! Of course, you DON'T HAVE to believe this, but Barbara Robbins, newest of the RKO players, wanted to see something of the movie village in the early morning hours. She took a long walk—and got LOST! The stores hadn't opened yet, or she might have telephoned for aid. Finally, a kindly milkman parked her in his wagon while he finished his deliveries, and then he drove her home!

On with the news — Arline Judge (Mrs. Wes Ruggles at home with the baby), put her dainty signature on a Columbia contract for the stellar role in "Criminal Within," in which Richard Cromwell enacts the bold, brave hero. Al Rogell is at the megaphone end of things.

* * *

Herman Politz, the cloak-and-suit gent, spouts another of the Al Jolson-Ben Bernie laughies—it seems that prior to Ben's tonsil siege in the hospital, the "Old Maestro" and the "Mammy Singer" had a golf game. Al won $50 from Ben, but didn't get paid. Later, Jolson asked for his winnings.

"You know, Al," explained Ben, "since taking that ether, I don't remember a thing that happened two or three days before the operation!"

* * *

RKO has been VERRA MUCH in a muddle since John (Watta Profile) Barrymore bowed out of the stellar role in "A Hat, A Coat and A Glove." Efforts were made to Borrow Otto Kruger from M-G-M, but that gesture was turned down.

Adolph Menjou was summoned, but shook his head in negative fashion. However, the studio persuaded Universal to loan Paul Lukas for the muchly kicked-around role—and so it is to be.

* * *

Wanderings around Hollywood—The Warner Flicker Factory is BOUND to start a romance between George Brent and Jean Muir! And to prove their intentions, may even co-star the couple in "The Lady Surrenders" . . . Arthur Lake telegraphs to reveal that two stowaways were discovered on the train carrying the Thalians to the Chicago Fair—the George Lewis baby and Johnny Harron's little miss . . . Madge Evans and Tom Gallery have gone in heavy for that new and exciting "Reno" game at Venice . . . Toby Wing is wearing a certain movie exec's star-sapphire ring and she's CUR-AZY for me to tell, but I won't! so there! . . . Baron Maurice de Rothschild likes meeting celebs, and they certainly enjoy meeting him . . . Phil Regan, the Brooklyn cop who warbles in Warner movies, has NEVER been seen on the screen, yet he gets nearly 1,000 letters per week—and THAT IS fan mail! . . . Al Jolson may trek back to New York for a spell 'cause he's suffering from "story conference exhaustion." His London personal appearance deal is cold . . . Kay Francis is avoiding news snoopers since her accident . . . Joan Bennett returns to the screen to co-star with Edward Arnold in "A Million Dollar Ransom" for Universal . . . Universal is planning "The Return of Frankenstein" and will attempt to gather up the original cast of Boris Karloff, Colin Clive and Mae Clarke.

Your Theater and Mine

By KARL KRUG

GREETINGS!

Via wire, 'phone and post they arrive:

Welcome back to the fold . . . Good fortune and pleasant days. . . . I hope you can get out to see John Galsworthy's "The Skin Game" and become acquainted with what we are doing in our theater . . . Sincerely—Elmer Kenyon.

It will be a pleasure to read your intelligent and unbiased criticism once more. . . . The best of luck—Channing Pollock.

Once a newspaperman, always a newspaperman. . . . A world of luck.—Kelcey Allen.

I thought you were going to work for me, you tramp. . . . Good luck, anyway.—Ben Serkowich.

I hope you knock 'em dead and turn the old town upside down. . . . You deserve the best.—Walter Fleishman.

Grandest piece of news I have heard in many a day just reported in "Variety" . . . We will miss that beaming smile and ready wit, but our loss is Pittsburgh's gain.—Joe Penner.

* * *

I know you are as happy to be back as I am to see you back—Crosby Gaige.

That goes for me, too—Al Spink, Jr.

Congratulations on your return to newspaper work . . . I know you will be more than successful—Al Sherman.

Welcome to your intelligent, individually phrased, but unaffected journalism . . . I know many others interested in the theater who join me in wishing you the best of luck and a long stay—David Cornman.

It's like old times again . . . I'll be seeing you—Frank McGrann.

My family and myself have noticed with great pleasure your articles in the Sun-Telegraph . . . We missed your writings and are mighty pleased that you are again with us—Phil A. Doeblin.

Now we'll be able to sit down and talk about Victor Herbert again . . . Am I glad I gave you that pass to "Richard of Bordeaux"—Wallace Munro.

Now that you're back where you belong, I hope you won't high-hat me when I come around for the Shuberts . . . Good luck, always—Joe Flynn.

* * *

I am delighted for I know you are going to be happy in the nicest town in the world. . . . All the success you deserve from your old confrere.—Florence Fisher Parry.

What business did a swell newspaperman like you have fooling around in the publicity racket? . . . But don't forget Eddie Cantor's new one, "The Treasure Hunt."—Lynn Farnol.

This is just to let you know that the whole family, including "Pal," welcomes you home with open arms. . . . Your new column certainly keeps us well informed.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hammond.

You're doing now what you should be doing.—John H. Harris.

Nothing could make me happier than to know that you are with the Sun-Telegraph, but you'll never write a better story than the one about Ed Wynn and the old white horses.—George Alabama Florida.

Just to wish you the best of luck and success.—Ruth Schwerin.

You're first column in the Sun-Telegraph was swell and I know you'll keep it up. . . . Good luck and regards.—Wesley Eddy.

I'm glad you're back on the job and it's great to read your stuff again.—Jimmy Murray.

Nerts—The Copy Boy.

5 Six-Footers... and plenty of room for all!

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

See the new Ford V-8. Revel in its comfort. Marvel at its performance. And drive it before you buy any car at any price.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

The Double-Cross.

THE TWO MEN paused side by side in the prison yard. The shorter man smiled ruefully

"Didn't take them long to nail me again," he whispered from the side of his mouth. "I wasn't out hardly long enough to turn around."

The younger man's eyes burned with an eager glow.

"Did you—did you see her like I asked you to?" he demanded. "How was she, Shorty?"

The small man hesitated.

"Well, Johnny," he said finally, "I suppose I gotta tell you some time—and it might as well be now. I never seen your wife.

"I went down to the country jus' like you told me to, but she ain't there no more. She moved. Her mail is bein' forwarded to an address in the West Sixties. That's all I could find out 'cause they nabbed me a coupla days after. I'm sorry, Johnny. It's tough luck."

"She moved." Johnny repeated the two words blankly. "But—what about the house?"

"She sold it." . . .

Shorty moved on, but John Scott couldn't have moved from that spot if his life depended upon it.

Margie had played him for a sap. She had double-crossed him. No doubt about it. John's face twisted into a phoney grin. After all, she was just a dame. Had he the right to expect anything else? Where did a sap get off to look for an even break?

And a sap, he told himself, is just what he had been all his life. That was the reason he was in jail.

When he first met Margie, he held a responsible position in a mercantile house and she was dancing in a night club. He should have known that those two professions mixed like ice cream and pickles, and perhaps he did. But it didn't make the slightest bit of difference because, the moment he saw her, Johnny went a trifle daffy.

Every cent he earned he spent on parties and flowers and jewelry for Margie. He was as dizzy as a drunk on a carousel. And before he persuaded her to become his wife, he was deeply in debt.

From then on, the story became a Hellinger. He needed money badly and he was trusted with large sums of the firm's cash. The temptation was too great.

He called it borrowing. But unlike other "borrowers" in similar spots, he wasn't playing the horses or the market. When he took money, he didn't kid himself. He knew he'd be caught some day because there wasn't the slightest chance that he'd ever be able to return the money.

And knowing that, he acted very wisely. For a while, after they were married, the pair lived high, wide and handsome. But Johnny placed a sizeable amount of money in a bank for Margie—and a small house his parents had left him was transferred in Margie's name. These things, he felt, would take care of his wife when the law caught up with him.

In due course the law did just that. Johnny had no defense—and he had no illusions that he would be dealt with mercifully. Nor was he. He was sentenced to prison for a term of from five to 10 years.

During the last few moments, when they were allowed to say goodby, Johnny begged Margie to wait for him. He had done everything for her, and it would never happen again. When he finally came out, they could start once more in that little house in the country.

Margie nodded tearfully.

"I'll wait, dearest," she promised. "I'll be in our house waiting for you when you come out. Five years isn't so long when you love someone. And I love you." . . .

He had believed her; believed her implicitly. The days were long, and the nights longer. But he comforted himself with thoughts of Margie, and of the little home in which she was waiting for him.

And now, suddenly, he had been pulled back to earth. Shorty was back with horrible news, and Shorty wasn't lying. Margie wasn't waiting—and the house had been sold. His wife had gone back to Broadway.

The man's brain was inflamed. Common sense told him that he couldn't expect any woman to wait five years, but he wanted no part of common sense. All he knew was that, for a few thousand dollars, his wife had sold him out. She had double-crossed him when he hadn't the slightest chance of fighting back. The rage ate into his heart and drove him to the brink of insanity.

Nothing, he told himself, could keep him in prison now. He'd get out somehow. He'd find Margie. He'd find her and—. His brain reeled. His fingers twitched convulsively.

He began immediately to make plans for an escape. His ideas weren't exactly brilliant. Under normal conditions he would have realized there wasn't a chance in the world that they would work. But the man was far from normal.

The result was exactly what you might have expected. Johnny never got any further than the outside yard. There, a bullet from a guard's gun sent him crumpling to the ground. He died just before dawn the following morning . . .

Most Broadway spots are sad affairs just before dawn. The one in which Margie was working was no exception. She had finished the last show and was about to go home. As she was leaving, she recognized a familiar figure at a corner table. She hurried over.

"Mike," she asked eagerly, "have you been able to do anything? I haven't written him about it. I didn't want to encourage him too much until it's all settled."

The man smiled reassuringly.

It won't be long now, kid," he told her. "Springin' a guy from prison ain't so easy these days. Takes more time now than it ever did. But don't you worry."

He patted her hand respectfully.

"Sure is tough, though," he went on, "that you hada sell your home and go back to work just to get that guy of yours outa the can." . . .

SHOT IN BACK BY BOY

John Rinkus, 56, who was accidentally shot in the back by an 8-year-old boy on the eve of his departure for his birthplace in Lithuania, was in a serious condition in the Passavant Hospital today, according to a police report.

The shot was fired by William Kolicus, Jr., of 3021 Glendale street, who, with his father, was visiting the Rinkus home, 2120 Forbes street, rear, yesterday. The shooting occurred while Rinkus was packing his clothing. The child picked up a loaded gun that was lying nearby and pulled the trigger, according to police. No arrests were made.

3,000 INSPECT CATHEDRAL

A record throng of more than 3,000 persons poured into the unfinished 42-story Cathedral of Learning yesterday, final day of "hospitality week," and brought the total of visitors for the week to more than 12,000.

The "hospitality week" was in connection with the present campaign to complete the structure by raising $1,650,000 through public subscriptions.

Meanwhile, Homer D. Williams, general chairman of the campaign, will preside at a meeting of 500 volunteer workers today in Kaufmann's auditorium.

REMBRANDT—and thread! Immortal art and the humble stuff of daily toil—both are at Kaufmann's!—And both are harmoniously at home in this modern great store, which has achieved greatness, as much through loyalty to a famed tradition of large and complete stocks, as through devotion to forward-looking ideals... To-day and during the first week of June, our 63rd Anniversary-month, you may view Rembrandt's painting in Gillespie's Galleries on Kaufmann's 11th floor. It is one of the world's great masterpieces—a matchless masterpiece. On the 1st floor of Kaufmann's is the spool of thread—not matchless. It is one of hundreds of spools in one of the 460 different shades, stocked by Kaufmann's. THE store of complete selections—and dependable quality. Between Gillespie's Galleries on the 11th floor and the thread counter on "the world's most beautiful first floor" are hundreds of thousands of things for your personal and home needs, many of them things you would expect to find only at Kaufmann's, long famed as the store for "Everything under the Sun". Thousands of these things will be specially low priced in

UTILITY 'PLUM' OFFERED TOWN TO DROP RATE FIGHT

PLAYING BOY KILLED BY AUTO

Two Women Injured In Car Collision Drivers Arrested

James Cleveland, 5, Negro, of 190 Boston street, was killed yesterday when he was struck by an automobile while playing in Pennsylvania avenue, Coraopolis, where he was visiting with his parents. Police said the driver was M. L. Sellers, 46, of 129 Fourth avenue, Coraopolis. He was ordered to post a bond for a Coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Charles Nedemeyer, 50, of 2637 Brighton road, and Mrs. James Rowbottom, 53, of 2619 Brighton road, were injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another machine at Davis and McClure avenues. Both drivers, James Rowbottom and Robert Brickell, of 1511 Buena Vista street, were arrested, according to police.

CAR HITS TREE

Sidney Feldman, of 101 West Eleventh avenue; Eileen Palmer, 16, of 112 West Eleventh avenue, and Viena Evanish, 16, of 220 East Seventeenth street, Homestead, were injured yesterday when Feldman's car swerved and struck a tree in Shady avenue, near Fair Oaks street, according to a police report.

When he lost control of his automobile in Liberty avenue, near Thirty-third street, yesterday, Clyde Luther, 38, of 374 Pacific avenue, was injured, according to police.

Joseph Schelling, 9, of 232 Forty-second street, was injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Swanic, of 4737 Hatfield street, in Davidson street, according to police.

CHILD HURT

Four-year-old Marie Nicolella, of 217 Shetland avenue, suffered a fractured leg and hip injury when she was struck by an auto while playing near her home last night. E. M. Penn, 47, of 544 Winfield street, was driving the car, police said.

Dick Berkas, 43, of Universal, suffered a probable fractured collarbone in an automobile collision at Frankstown avenue, near Collier street, early today. Emanuel Gregory, 40, of Universal, and Howard Thompson, 34, og 605 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, the drivers, escaped injury, police reported.

337 BLIND HERE SEEK PENSIONS

Three hundred and thirty-seven persons in Allegheny County have applied for pensions provided for the blind under an act of the last Legislature, the Mothers' Assistance Fund board, in charge of interviewing applicants, disclosed today.

Each applicant is examined by physicians whose report is sent to Harrisburg. June is the first month for which pensions will be paid by the state. The maximum is $30 a month. Where two blind persons in the same family are pensioned their joint maximum is $45.

South Side Woman Swallows Poison

Despondent because she lost her position two months ago when she was supporting five dependants, Edna Dunik, 27, of 804 Cabot way, South Side, swallowed poison in her home last night, according to police.

Taken to South Side Hospital, her condition was reported as fair.

M'Keesport Man Hit by Trolley

Struck by a trolley while crossing Walnut street, near Thirteenth street, McKeesport, last night, Adam H. Freeman, 76, of 922 Locust street, was treated at McKeesport Hospital for lacerations and bruises.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 28.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, there is two Frenchmen trying to fly direct from France to California. Let's hope and pray they make it.

New York is liable to find itself off the U. S.-Franco highway. And that train that went from Denver to Chicago at 78 miles an hour, that's the biggest news that we have had in transportation in years. If railroads had woke up before, they wouldn't be so far behind today. Will Rogers

Faster time than this was made 30 years ago by a train, but nothing was ever done about it. They have done nothing since but sell stock instead of speed.

Yours, WILL.

SERVICES HONOR SOLDIER DEAD

Many churches and patriotic organizations yesterday paid tribute to this city's heroic dead.

Veterans of Homewood and East Liberty attended services in Calvary Episcopal Church, Shady avenue and Walnut street. The Rev. E. V. Van Etten, pastor, spoke.

Members of the Davis Star Camp, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, held a service at the Davis Mausoleum in Allegheny Cemetery.

The Albert G. Bager Post 86, Veterans of Foreign Wars, conducted services in St. Martin's Cemetery, Elliott. The Gen. Charles Griffin Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Homestead, and the Memorial Day Association attended services in the First Baptist Church, Homestead. The Rev. H. E. Shade delivered the sermon.

Girl Driver Arrested In Auto Law Violation

Charged with driving an automobile without a drivers' license, Laura M. Hauck, 21, of Moon Run, was arrested early today by state highway patrolmen. She was driving the auto of Andrew Gamble, of Negley avenue, who told police Miss Hauck, with Gamble's sister, took the automobile to go swimming.

Miss Hauck was lodged in Central Police Station and later released on a forfeit furnished by Gamble.

SOCIAL SERVICE NEAR CRISIS

A crisis is facing privately-supported social work, according to Wilbur F. Maxwell, executive secretary of the Community Fund, who said today that he believes there will be a showdown in the near future.

Maxwell's warning was contained in a statement prepared at the request of the National Association of Community Chests and Councils.

Maxwell questioned the need for a large number of social agencies and suggested that their methods may be outworn and their work overlapping. He declared:

"A bewildering array of social service organizations, misunderstanding and suspicion of modern social work, giving on the basis of relief of distress and spending on the basis of little understood efforts to remove causes and promote higher standards of life—all this clash has brought social work face to face with a rebellion of givers made acute by the shrinkage of private resources."

BODY IN RIVER 4 MONTHS

The body of a man whose widow scanned the Allegheny River banks for months in futile search for him was in the county morgue today.

John A. Goetschel, 60, a stationary engineer employed on construction of the new dam near Sharpsburg, fell into the river January 24. John Sist, 1159 Jancey street, a friend, notified Goetschel's widow in Joliet, Ill.

Morgue Supt. John P. Black said Mrs. Goetschel came to Pittsburgh and daily visited the river in the hope that she might discover the body. A son persuaded her to leave three weeks ago, Black said.

Goetschel's body was found in the river near Sixty-first street yesterday afternoon. Morgue attaches are making efforts to communicate with the widow.

Woman Threatening Suicide Arrested

Discharged from Pittsburgh Hospital after drinking poison, Mrs. Rose Gilvannitti, 30, of 1509 North Lang avenue, later threatened to repeat the suicide attempt, according to East Liberty police, who arrested her on a disorderly conduct charge last night.

CHILD PLAYING WITH MATCHES FIRES BED

Bucket Brigade Halts Spread of Blaze in Homewood House

A 5-year-old court ward, David Wiezorek, played with matches in bed this morning and had the fire department out.

His custodian, Mrs. Mary Madden, 7045 Frankstown avenue, Homewood, says she was busy in the kitchen when David came rushing to her.

David was screaming:

"I didn't mean to do it! I didn't mean to do it!"

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade from the kitchen to the burning bed. Firemen were called. Damage to bed and carpet was estimated at $50.

David gave conflicting explanations as how he secured the matches.

One explanation was that his two brothers, Stanley and Alfred, also court wards in Mrs. Madden's care, gave them to him.

Another was that he "found them in his underclothes."

EXAMS START FOR POLICE

Annual examination of the city's 1,800 police and firemen to determine their physical fitness and take preventive steps on slight ailments began this afternoon under an order of Public Safety Director A. Marshall Bell.

The examinations are made by Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief surgeon of the Department of Public Safety. Examinations started with patrolmen.

Everyone in the department, including Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall, Fire Chief John Heinz and even Bell, will be examined.

Gangster Slain Here Given Burial in East

While detectives were still looking for a solution of his murder here, Morris (Big George) Kauffman, reputed gangster and hijacker, was buried in a Philadelphia cemetery yesterday.

A brother, Harry Kauffman, of Washington, D. C., identified him here Saturday, and the body of Big George was removed from its slab in the county morgue.

Baker Street Man Killed in Fall

Charles Hilliard, 60, of 5620 Baker street, died from a fractured skull suffered yesterday when he fell down a steep terrace in the rear of his home, according to a coroner's report. He was found unconscious by a motorist.

VICE CLEANUP RAIDS ENRICH M'KEESPORT

Forfeits and Fines Net $633 After 50 Are Arrested

Forty-nine of 50 persons corralled in McKeesport vice raids enriched the city treasury $633 in forfeitures and fines today.

Forty-two of those arrested in four "cleanup" raids staged by Police Chief John J. Whalen, yesterday, failed to appear for hearings before Magistrate E. M. Trich in McKeesport Police Station today, and forfeited sums ranging from $10 to $103. Seven paid fines and one woman was discharged.

Chief Whalen said the raids would continue "until McKeesport is a clean city."

HOUSEBOAT RAIDED

Twenty-six men were seized when the raiding squad broke into a houseboat moored in the Youghiogheny River at the Third Avenue Bridge. Six others escaped by leaping into the river and swimming to the opposite shore. Police reported wrecking a dice table.

Twenty-five visitors and Nathan Freidman, 36, of 712 Locust street, alleged proprietor, charged with operating a disorderly house, failed to appear. Friedman forfeited $103 and the visitors $10 each.

Police say Freidman is a brother of Charles Freidman, reputed bootlegger, whose testimony caused a Federal Court probe of McKeesport police four years ago.

FINED AS PROPRIETOR

Jake Wander, 23, alleged proprietor of a disorderly house at 418 Market street, was fined $50 and costs; 13 visitors forfeited $10 each, and four paid $5 fines. The raiders reported confiscating a deck of cards and a small sum of money.

James Wake, 42, Negro, was fined $25 on the charge of conducting a disorderly house in Strawberry alley, said by police to be known as the "First Ward Colored Political Club."

In the fourth raid, Terry Smith was arrested on a charge of selling illegal liquor in his saloon, 1631 Fifth avenue. He was fined $25. Three visitors forfeited $10 each, and a woman was discharged.

Monessen Boy Wins Midshipman Award

Manown Kisor, of Monessen, midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, will receive a wrist watch for proficiency in practical steam engineering at the annual dress parade at Annapolis tomorrow, according to the Associated Press.

Thirty-five other prizes will be awarded 28 midshipmen during the program.

JOB HOPE TOLD JEWISH PARLEY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 28.—(AP.)—Extension of government services in the non-profit fields, such as teaching, public health and recreation, was held out as the only hope for complete absorption of the country's unemployed by Dr. Isador Lubin, commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics of the United States Department of Labor.

Dr. Lubin spoke yesterday at a joint general session of the National Conference of Jewish Social Workers, the National Council for Jewish Education, and the National Council of Jewish Center Executives.

Other sessions of the convention heard speakers warn of the growth of an anti-Semitic movement in the United States.

Both Dr. I. M. Rubinow, national secretary of B'nai B'rith, and Morris D. Waldman, secretary of the American Jewish Committee, called on the Jews to combat the importation to America of anti-Semitism such as now prevails in Germany.

TREASURY AIDES LEARN TO SHOOT

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—Straight-shooting has been set by Secretary Morgenthau as a standard for the Treasury's armed officials.

To make sure his men hit the mark, Morgenthau has directed the Coast Guard to give instructions in the use of small arms to upwards of 2,000 Treasury employes whose duties require gun-toting.

Commander James Pine, chief of ordinance of the Coast Guard, has been designated to conduct the training.

Aside from the Coast Guard, the Treasury embraces such enforcement agencies as the Customs Border Patrol, 1,400 revenue agents battling the bootleg trade, the narcotic bureau, the Secret Service and hundreds of guards who protect billions in gold at the Treasury, its mints and assay offices.

Unemployed Seek Increase in Relief

Fifty delegates of the Unemployed Councils of Pittsburgh today were in Harrisburg to confer with Eric H. Biddle, director of the State Emergency Relief Board, on a demand for an increase in relief. The delegation also will ask an allotment of $2 a week for ice to each of the 26,000 families on relief in Pittsburgh, according to Philip Frankfield, of the Unemployed Councils.

FAMILY MIXUP IN DIVORCE SUIT

Because his wife ran away with his stepfather, Andrew Campbell, 26, Moon Township beer garden proprietor, won a divorce today from Vera Campbell, 24.

Judge John P. Egan in Common Pleas Court granted the decree on Campbell's testimony that one year after he and she had eloped to Wellsburg, in 1930, she went away with Clyde Campbell, 42, his stepfather.

The younger Campbell said he later found his wife and she told him she loved his stepfather. In his suit for divorce, Campbell charged her with misconduct and desertion.

NOTED SWINDLE VICTIM DIES

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28.—(AP.)—John H. Callahan, retired hotelman and victim of a $141,000 swindle that attracted nationwide attention, died in a hospital here yesterday. He had been ill for several weeks.

Callahan and his wife lost their life savings in December, 1930, through a horse race betting swindle at Los Angeles, Cal., where they were visiting.

Callahan pressed a nationwide search for the swindlers during the last three and one-half years, and as a result several men have been convicted and jailed as members of the gang and 20 others have been indicted.

Stick Hurled in Play Causes Girl's Death

YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—A stick hurled in play by her 10-year-old brother killed Miriam Smith, 13, yesterday as she swung on a swing at an amusement park.

The girl walked two squares to her home and a slight cut near her ear was treated by her mother. Later the mother found the girl unconscious and called a physician. The girl died as she was being taken to a hospital. Her skull had been fractured.

Discuss Light Opera For Schenley Park

A group of civic leaders was to meet with Chamber of Commerce President John S. Fisher today to discuss a plan for civic light opera for Schenley Park, modeled after that of the St. Louis Municipal Theater Association. Among those who will attend the meeting are William P. Witherow, Frank C. Harper, Edgar J. Kaufmann, Oliver J. Keller and E. T. Whiter.

Roxie Long's Sister Attacked by Five

Mrs. Dolores Riston, 24, of 1828 Bedford avenue, a sister of Roxie Long, Hill racketeer, was in the Passavant Hospital today, her head lacerated by a baseball bat wielded by one of five Negro women with whom she remonstrated when they teased her pet dog. The women escaped.

$14,000 IN CASH 'BAIT' TO SAVE $97,000

Power Company Seeks To End Ten-Year Brookville Row

An offer of $14,000 in cash has been made to the Brookville (Pa.) Borough Council by the Solar Electric Company in an effort to induce the borough to drop its fight against electric light rates.

Withdrawal of the boro from the 10-year-old battle w remove the principal financial support from the paintiff's case before the Public Service Commission.

An offer made to the Borough of Coraopolis by the Duquesne Light Company several months ago, whereby the company would pay the borough $75,000 for the nucleus of a municipal power plant was rejected by the Public Service Commission.

COMPANY'S OFFER

In the Brookville case, Raymond E. Brown, attorney representing the Solar Electric Company, an affiliate of the Associated Gas and Electric System, told the Borough Council of the company offer which, in substance, was as follows:

If Council would pass a resolution agreeing to withdraw from the rate proceedings and would rescind its resolution authorizing the payment of expenses in the rate case, the company would pay all expenses incurred in the electric light fight to date by the borough since the beginning of the case in 1924, not to exceed $1,000; would agree to expend $5,000 as Council directed in improvement of the street lighting system and would continue the present contract to furnish street lights for a period of 10 years.

PAYS FOR FIGHT

The borough, as a party to proceedings which affect all consumers served by the company, has been paying the expenses of litigation. The borough's case is about concluded at the last hearing before the Public Service Commission.

The testimony of the accountant for the Commission has shown that in the neighborhood of $97,000 has been collected as rates from the consumers which the accountant said he could not allow.

The borough has contended that all of this amount and possibly more may be ordered returned to the consumers as excessive charges if the borough's position is sustained.

The Borough Council took the proposal under advisement and scheduled a special meeting for tonight to consider the offer.

Citizens engaged in the rate battle assert that if they are upheld by the Public Service Commission and the courts, rates will be reduced materially and thousands of dollars in excess rates alleged to have been collected and credited to fixed capital assets will be refunded.

FIRE DAMAGES 4 BUILDINGS

Four buildings were damaged and several families were forced to flee in a two-alarm fire in E. Liberty early today.

The blaze started in a one-story tire repair shop owned by C. and J. H. Heinz at 6513 Hamilton avenue and spread to a frame dwelling in the rear, a two-story brick building of the Hamilton Auto Service at 6513 Hamilton avenue and to a tool shop in the Dunlevy-Franklin Packing Company.

Firemen extinguished the flames before they reached the packing company garage, adjoining the tool shop. The dwelling was occupied by several Negro families.

Fire Chief John Heinz estimated the damage at $2,500. Cause of the blaze was undetermined, he said.

Arms Parley Lets Us Keep Boat to Reach Conference

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

We accepted the bid for the 1935 disarmament talk in London.

Thanks to generous European policy we are allowed to keep one boat to get there.

The idea of the amicable squabble is to organize a sewing-bee. The object of the sewing-bee is to knit sweaters that will fit nobody.

It's discouraging to realize that no gentle argument has succeeded in doing anything but sawing lumber for a spite fence.

Why not have the conference in Central Park Casino? On opening night two sailors were thrown out of that place.

They will have the same courtesy of the port at the London affair.

M'SWAIN SEEKS MILLIONS FOR U.S. DEFENSE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Declaring the nation must be prepared to meet all foes, Representative John J. McSwain (Dem., of South Carolina, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, today announced he will seek $12,000,000 from the new public works fund to expand the Army.

Most of the money would be spent in building the Army Air Force to a new high point of efficiency.

Although Congress enacted a law in 1926 providing for 1,800 effective fighting airplanes, the Army only has 300 planes ready for combat against a modern foe, he said.

His program would include:

Construction of seven new Army air bases, from which defense of continental United States could be directed.

Building of an adequate reserve supply of munitions for all branches.

Increase of enlisted personnel from 118,750 to 165,000 men.

While McSwain declined to reveal the location of the proposed Army Air Corps bases, it is understood that military experts favor three on the Atlantic Coast, three on the Pacific and one in Alaska.

The combined Army, Navy and Marine Corps air forces, McSwain said, should equal any possible combination of invaders.

The Thompson bill increasing the Army to 165,000 men is favored partly as an unemployment relief measure, he said. In addition to 40,000 more enlisted men, 2,000 reserve officers would be called to duty. McSwain continued:

"With a Navy to equal the best in the world and with an air defense also equal we ought to feel reasonably safe against invasion.

"In view of that only a slight increase in the regular army is necessary. Before an invading foe could break through the Navy air defense, we would have time to organize land forces consisting of the regular army, National Guard and organized reserves and to call, either by volunteer or by draft, enough men to arms to prevent a widespread invasion."

TROUBLE IN EUROPE REPORTED 'BOILING'

"Europe's pot of politics is boiling and trouble is the principal ingredient," writes H. R. Knickerbocker, brilliant foreign correspondent of International News Service. He writes of the moves being made to draw a ring tighter around Germany and of the growing tension in Europe.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service.

LONDON, May 28.—This week may make history in Europe, for today nations assembled at Geneva will show for the first time the fact that the continent has awakened from the shock of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations eight months ago, and that Chancellor Hitler's opponents have finally decided to offer him blow for blow.

To put it crudely, they have decided to build two airplanes for each of his, and let four guns grow where one grows in Germany, and, in short, they have determined to maintain their present superiority in armaments no matter how much Germany arms.

Germany's exit from the league was generally interpreted as an invitation to an armaments race. Europe for many months remained stupefied and failed to accept the invitation.

POWERS ANNOUNCE STEPS

But today, as the bureau of the disarmament conference opens what may be its last session, Hitler is faced as though by prearrangement with the following acceptances to his invitation, all of which were mailed to his address just before his last chance, perhaps, to return to the conference:

Mussolini announces Italy will spend anothed $165,000,000 on her air force and navy.

The Army Committee of the French Chamber of Deputies approves an additional expenditure of $75,000,000 for fortifications, with the forecast of expenditure of another similar sum for the air force, anti-aircraft guns, and the navy.

Belgium raises her military contingent for 1934 from 32,000 to 38,000.

England stages a nation-wide empire defense day with Royal Air Force displays throughout the country, and the British government announuces it has league. Litvinoff is expected then arations to build an air force equal to that of any power "in case disarmament breaks down."

FAINT HOPE IN HITLER

This is the extremely realistic background of this week's session of the Disarmament Conference and the League Council. Hopes are faint that Hitler, contemplating this result of his withdrawal from the league, might return in the belief that Germany could get more by any sort of a convention than by a wide open armaments race with the financial odds against her.

England and Italy want a showdown and an end of the disarmament debate. France and the Soviet Union want the conference to continue until they can get a pact against Germany.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign minister, lately scorned, but applauded as Europe's number one diplomat, is expected to open the disarmament debate and keep it going by saying there is not enough attention paid to security.

Here a Frenchman may interpose that security would be easier if Russia were a member of the league. Litvinoff is expected then to reply Russia would consider entering the league if the disarmament conference would earnestly attempt to work out a scheme of real security.

Thus Litvinoff would forestall a British or an Italian move to end the disarmament conference and would pave the way for his pact of mutual assistance with France in return for which he is apparently willing to enter the league. In any case, the ring around Germany will close tighter.

But trouble is in the air in many parts of Europe. The league council must by the end of the month decide the terms of the Saar plebiscite next year, when the population will vote to become Germany, or French, or remain under league control.

The Nazis have promised a terrible revenge on those who vote anti-German, and the only chance for a fair vote would be utter security. Therefore the league governing commission in the Saar takes serious views of two burglaries just committed by thieves who took no money, but stole complete archives weighing several tons from the information bureau of French mines and from the anti-Hitler autonomous party.

These burglaries are taken to mean that the Nazis now have lists of practically all the Germans who had planned to vote anti-German. The Saar governors have just testified to the league that the Saar police force of 1,000 men is inadequate to deal with a population of 800,000, including 25,000 Nazi storm troopers.

WORLD POLICE ISSUE

The league must now decide whether to create an international police force. If it is created, such a force could easily become involved in conflicts with the Nazis that could lead to a Franco-German war.

If it is not created, the population of the Saar will be delivered to the mercies of the storm troopers.

To sweeten Franco-German relations, the Nazi authorities at Kehl arrested a French locomotive engineer for making a disparaging remark about the Nazi regime, and the Parisian organization of Young Patriots announced they would hide German students as hostages if the locomotive engineer is not released.

Meanwhile the Austrian Nazis resumed with renewed vigor and many bombing outrages their attacks upon Chancellor Dollfuss. The Archduke Eugene, first Hapsburg to be allowed in Austria, has returned there legally and thus is forecast the possible restoration of the young Archduke Otto.

Eighty-four-year-old Thomas Masaryk has been re-elected President of Czecho-Slovakia, confirming that country's allegiance to France. But Jugo-Slavia signed an extraordinarily favorable trade agreement with Germany, and the Sofia putsch has indicated a possible future bloc involving Bulgaria.

In Rumania also the resignation of the pro-French cabinet is expected to be followed by a pro-German government and the disappearance of Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu, chief friend France.

Finally, the Latvian coup put a pro-German government in power, and Europe could any day be surprised with announcement that the Nazis in Memel had turned the tables in Lithuania and recaptured that little slice of Germany.

Europe's pot of politics is boiling, and trouble is the principal ingredient.

Princes of Church Warned to Shun Nazi Politics

ALTENESCH, OLDENBURG, Germany, May 28.—(AP.)—Troubles between the church and peasantry 700 years ago provided Walter Darre, Nazi commissioner of agriculture, with an opportunity to rebuke "presumptuous princes of the church."

The occasion yesterday was a Nazi commemoration of the anniversary of the historic Battle of Altenesch in 1234, when mercenaries of Archbishop Gerhard, returning from the Crusades, massacred thousands of insurgent peasants.

Darre held that the old battle is an example of what happens when "ambitious church leaders are allowed to interfere in politics."

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 28.—(INS.)—Relief was rushed today to Concepcion, where a cloudburst yesterday killed five and left more than 50 seriously injured.

A. P. MOORE'S NIECE DIES

Mrs. Mildred A. Martin, 50, niece of the late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore and one of the heirs to the Moore estate, died in South Side Hospital today, the result of a fall down stairs at her home, 302 Jucunda street, Knoxville.

She suffered a fractured skull. The fall occurred about a week ago as she was descending the stairs to answer the telephone.

During the World War, Mrs. Martin won prominence as a Red Cross nurse.

She was presented at two courts, the Court of St. James and the court at Madrid, where she served as hostess at the American embassy while Mr. Moore was ambassador there.

A Quality Whiskey At A Low Price Now Available By The Bottle At The State Stores

Ban on Sales by the Bottle, Due to Shortage Caused by Tremendous Public Acceptance of Penn State, Formerly Called Keystone, Now Lifted.

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 28—Due to trade mark interference, which developed unexpectedly, the name of Keystone State Whiskey has been changed to Penn State Whiskey, so when you ask for it hereafter, ask for Penn State. Same Code number as before—No. 155.

In our opinion, Penn State is a real high quality product. Hundreds of users state that it is beyond comparison. Blended with old rye whiskey and processed three to four months old whiskey, the flavor, aroma and smoothness will please the discriminating taste of thousands who previously have had to pay more than they wanted for quality that met their requirements. The blenders of this good whiskey want you to buy a quart and compare with other brands. Price only $1.50 per quart.

NEW AIRFLOW DE SOTO HAS ROOM FOR SIX 6-FOOTERS AND BAGGAGE!

RIDING THREE IN FRONT as comfortably as conventional cars seat two—with just as much room in the rear—De Soto's passengers travel in club-like luxury with space for everybody to stretch out and relax.

AIRFLOW De Soto seats Three big people both Front and Rear

SOMETHING'S HAPPENED to motor cars! They are going aerodynamic—and the AIRFLOW De Soto is leading the parade!

If you want a car that will stay in style, take a careful look at this new kind of car.

Step through De Soto's wide doors. Sit three in front with the same comfort as in the rear.

Then head for the roughest road you know. At the highest speeds De Soto holds its poise—and yours—as it sails over bumps.

Entirely new construction accounts for this "Floating Ride." Car weight is better distributed. Passengers sit where they're supposed to sit . . . cradled comfortably between the wheels instead of bouncing above them.

Come in! See why the AIRFLOW De Soto will stay in style!

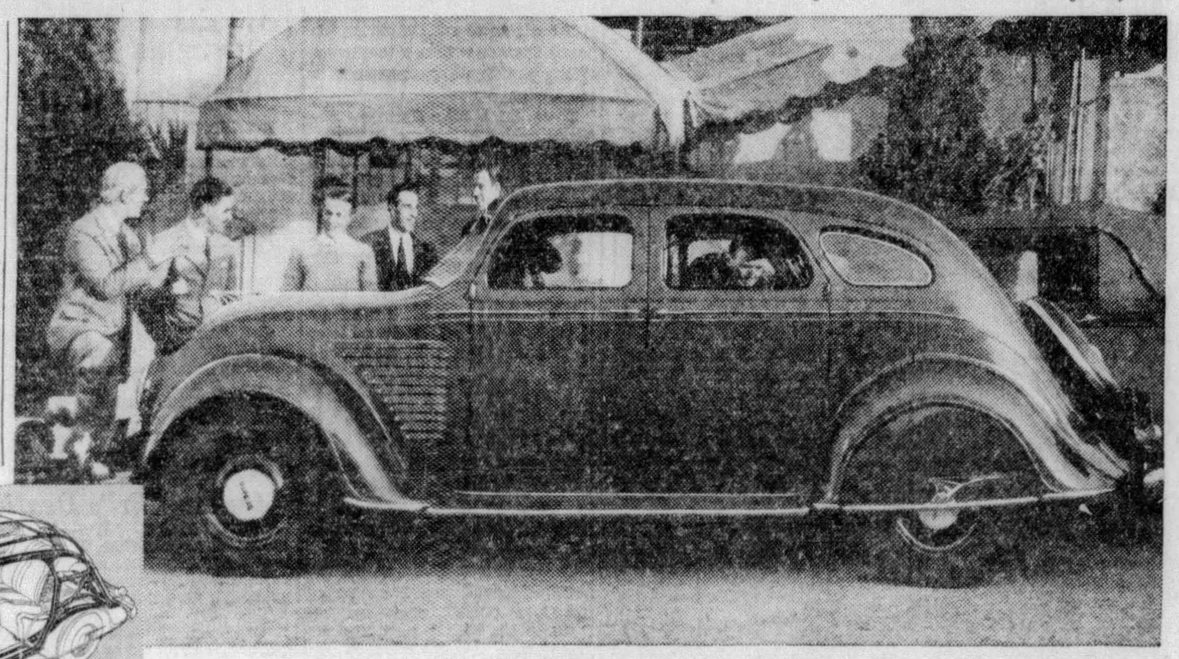
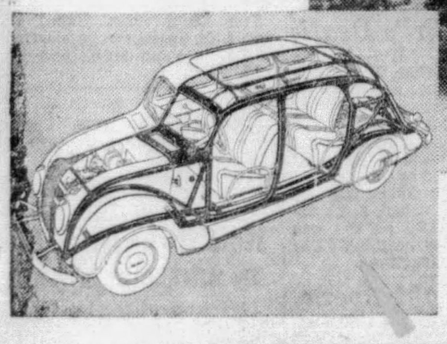
GOOD-BYE BACK SEAT BUMPS! In conventional cars, rear seat passengers ride above the axle . . . jogging up and down with every road thrust. Over dirt and gravel road, at more than moderate speeds, the "going" is rough and often unsafe.

RIDE BETWEEN THE WHEELS! In the De Soto, everybody rides smoothly "amidships," cradled between the wheels. Result: a surprising "Floating Ride!" At 50 miles an hour you glide smoothly over the highway with never a suggestion of a jar or a bump!





FOUR MODELS—$995.00 at factory, Detroit. De Soto Motor Corporation reserves right to change price without previous notice. Time payments may be arranged to fit your budget. Ask for the Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

FRANCE PLEADS, U. S. SEES ARM MEET FAILING

GENEVA, May 28.—(AP.)—A last-minute plea not to let the Disarmament Conference fail was delivered to the conference steering committee today by Louis Barthou, French foreign minister.

Barthou at a committee session which approved the action of the chairman, Arthur Henderson, in calling the parley for tomorrow, said:

"There can be no question of closing the conference."

Henderson warned the committee members that the conference has reached a critical stage and demanded that the spirit of defeatism be suppressed.

SEE LITTLE HOPE

None of the other delegates spoke, and despite the tone of Barthou and Henderson, the feeling persisted that there was little hope for material success.

Representatives of the United States and Great Britain earlier had conferred and had indicated that there is grave danger of a complete collapse.

The Anglo-American conferees were Norman Davis, ambassador-at-large, and Hugh Wilson, minister to Switzerland, for the United States, and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, for Great Britain.

DUCE ADDS TO PESSIMISM

It was understood that Sir John gave no inkling that Great Britain would propose concrete steps to save the conference.

Never has an international conclave been accompanied by such tenseness and such confusion.

Premier Mussolini's speech in Rome, referring to the possibility of war, served to increase the pessimism. It was rumored that Italy might bolt from the conference.

WANTS U. S. ASSURANCE

France wants a public showdown in the conference itself and is ready to discuss a European pact of mutual assistance which Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Commissar, probably will recommend.

A French spokesman said:

"A pact of guarantees will depend for its success largely on the attitude of Russia and the United States who are the great producers of raw material."

The French authority added that assurances from the United States that it would not insist upon neutrality rights, even in the event of an aggressive war, would do a great deal for the tranquility of Europe.

The fact that 15 forcign ministers are here, representing their nations, shows that they deem the situation critical.

LOOK TO RUSSIA

Nations of the world, in a critical deadlock over the question of reducing armaments, turned toward Communist Russia today for some positive proposal in an effort to break the arms impasse.

Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar of foreign affairs, was expected to concentrate on the policy of political security as the sanest foundation for disarmament.

Pressing problems facing the diplomats include the Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia and efforts to get Germany to return to the conference, from which it withdrew last fall.

Communist Party Banned in Danzig

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, May 28.—(AP.)—The chief of police today ordered the dissolution and the suppression of the Danzig Communist party.

'Keep Powder Dry,' Admiral's Warning to U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.) Out of the tangled armament situation three developments emerged today:

Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward, of the Navy's general board, pointed to the failure of the Geneva Disarmament Conference and warned, "Keep our powder dry."

Great Britain and the United States were studying Japan's demand for revision of the existing 5-5-3 naval ratios.

Possibility that President Roosevelt might issue today a proclamation prohibiting the sale in the United States of munitions destined for Paraguay and Bolivia, locked in a terrific struggle in the Gran Chaco.

The failure of the Geneva Conference, Woodward declared in a memorial address yesterday at Jewish Cemetery, would end "the hollow pretense that disarmament is either safe or possible" under conditions prevailing in Europe and elsewhere.

Last Jew Quits Town in Germany

MUNICH, May 28.—(INS.)—Celebrating Nazis ran up a swastika flag on a house in Hersbruck today. It was the house of the village's last Jew, who had just packed up and left. Storm troopers marched with banners proclaiming:

"Hersbruck is the first district in Germany to rid itself of Jews."

Only 2 Bomb Plots Reported in Austria

VIENNA, May 28.—(AP.)—Only two bomb plots were reported throughout Austria over the weekend.

At Kufstein a blast damaged the home of a politician favorable to the government. An unexploded bomb was found in the lobby of the Vienna Stock Exchange Building, where the official Austria news agency and foreign news services have offices.

Fascist Hymn Starts Riot in French Town

NICE, France, May 28.—(AP.)—A verse in a Fascist hymn demanding the return of Nice, Savoy and Corsica to Italy, sung by 300 local Italian black-shirted youths, started a riot yesterday at Laturbie.

Indignant citizens protested the song, and blows were exchanged, but police quickly separated the combatants.

SOVIET WEIGHS LEAGUE ENTRY

MOSCOW, May 28.—(AP.)—The Soviet government is "considering very seriously all the arguments in support of Soviet Russia's entrance into the League of Nations," the official newspaper Izvestia announced today.

Commenting on the proposal of Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, for a Franco-Soviet rapprochement involving the latter's entry into the league, the Izvestia says it is welcomed with great satisfaction by Soviet public opinion, and that it was one of the matters discussed by Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar, and Barthou in their recent conversations at Geneva.

BRITAIN BACKS MUNITIONS BAN

LONDON, May 28.—(AP.)—Great Britain today again confirmed her willingness to join in an international embargo on arms and war munitions in an attempt to end the "green hell" of the Paraguay-Bolivia jungle war.

The government, replying to the recent inquiry of the League of Nation's Chaco committee, telegraphed the secretariat-general of the league that it still is prepared to agree to the prohibition of further war materials' exports to the two warring South American nations.

Japan Celebrates Victory Over Russia

TOKIO, May 28. — (AP.) — The Japanese navy yesterday celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of its historic victory over the Russian fleet.

The emperor participated in the ceremony, which is held annually. A note of sadness pervaded the celebration because of the absence of the hero of the sea battle, Admiral Heihachiro Togo, who commanded the Japanese fleet. The aging admiral is gravely ill.

Stavisky Gem Hoard Hunted in Madrid

MADRID, May 28. — (AP.) — A jewelry expert and a member of the Paris police visited the Spanish ministry of justice last night in an investigation linked with the famous Stavisky scandal.

It was learned they were investigating the possibility that some of the missing Stavisky jewels may have been pawned here.

When you need help in a hurry, you need a telephone in your home.

Marketing to do? That's easy. Let the telephone bring the stores to you.

"Borrowing" the telephone next door is a nuisance—for you and your neighbor.

There's no "waiting in line" when the telephone is in your home.

Look at it THIS WAY!

You're missing a lot if you haven't a telephone—a lot of pleasure, a lot of convenience. You're cut off from your friends. Housekeeping is complicated. Rain or shine, you have to go marketing in person.

There are times when you have to "borrow" your neighbors' telephone. It is often embarrassing; often inconvenient. Or if you depend on public telephones you have to spend nickels which would pay part of the cost of having a telephone in your home.

A telephone costs so little

(you can have one for $2.50 a month—and for even less in the suburbs) that no matter how you look at it, it doesn't pay to do without it. Nothing adds more to your pleasure, convenience and security. Nothing does so much for so little!

The Service Connection Charge for residences is $3.00 in Pittsburgh; $2.50 in suburbs. Where there is an instrument already installed, and no change is desired, the charge is $1.50.

SPEAK UP, SISTERS :-: Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance :-: By MARION BRUNOT

(© The Sun-Telegraph, 1934.)

Drop Fellow Who Balks On Meeting Parents

A fellow who won't go to her HOME, and meet her PARENTS . . . A fellow who wants to find his girl standing at some FILLING STATION when he drives up in his flivver . . . A fellow who believes in street corners as trysting places, and who likes the great open spaces for courting.

But who balks at a good front porch where the older generation may pass by and give him the ONCE OVER.

Why, a Sad-Hearted Lover, take it from me, he isn't worth his SALT . . . Let him go, by all means . . .

Miss Brunot

You say he is so emotional, he can't control himself. . . Bosh and nonsense. Anyone can control themselves if they want to . . . There are those, you know, sister, who don't WANT TO.

That is the sort of a young man you are writing about. And if I were you, I'd give him the go-by so fast you couldn't see the road for the dust.

These fellows who go about preying on pretty girls, and imagining they can have a song and dance wherever they choose, are the very sort who take to the tall timbers at the first hint of anything disagreeable.

Chances are, if you let him down, he'll find someone else . . . and let him go to it.

There are too many nice, self-respecting young fellows in the world to allow one heartache to creep in over the wrong sort. I am living on a street right here in Pittsburgh at the present time that is a regular HEAVEN for the real young girl. I see dozens of fine, upstanding young fellows every day, fellows who have the light of integrity in their eyes.

PLENTY OF FELLOWS

Young men who are here in our midst preparing themselves for serious lives . . . Young engineers, young lawyers, young SCHOLASTICS who haven't any other thought in the world but to become good citizens . . . Oh, yes, they like a good time. They have their little cars . . . They have their white duck trousers and their slouch hats . . . and they laugh and sing and CARRY ON. But it is a nice, decent carrying on they do.

And so, A Sad Hearted Lover . . . with oh, so many such young men right here in this city, why under the sun, spend your time on a cad who won't even walk up to your own home door and ring the bell as any honorable fellow will be only too glad to do.

Let this young man see there is ONE REAL GIRL in the making. If you haven't the nerve to speak right up, sister, FLIM him. That's what he'll do to you later on, anyway.

Dear Miss Brunot:

I am a constant reader of your Speak Up, Sister column. I am a sophomore in high school, and knew a fellow there whom I liked very much. He often talked to me, but never spoke a word of love. In March he left school. And every time he sees me he always has a big hello for me. I've only realized now how much I like him. I have tried to go with another, but am always thinking of him. How can I win my man?

I am considered good looking. And am jolly. Although lately my friends tell me I am too old to act kiddish. Yet if it hadn't been for me there would have been many dead parties in the past. I am interested in all sports. Especially mushball. But the other girls would sooner dance and pet.

I would see this boy oftener, but then people would say I am sticking 'round him. I would be very jealous if I saw him with another girl. But don't worry, as I believe he is GIRL-SHY.

A. J. S.

If this fellow is GIRL-SHY, and you want to encourage him, you will have to do a wee bit of pursuing. Why not ask him up to your house? That might help. I think you sound like a very charming girl. I certainly approve of outdoor sports for young girls.

I can't see why you cannot go on with being KIDDISH, if it wakes up the parties. Of course, young women must have a certain amount of dignity.

Personally I have always enjoyed a good time, and so never disapprove of my girls having one.

SAME OLD STORY

Peg J. complains that she is 18, and cannot go out with the young man who likes her, and whom she cares for. It is the same old cry of the hungry heart. She wants to see daylight, and the old folks believe in the more drab everyday existence . . . Yes, I think a girl of 18 old enough to have a boy friend.

Of course, she may still be a little young for a really serious love affair. As women have such a GREAT BIG CHANCE nowadays, it does seem too bad to mar this by taking on responsibilities too young. But Peg J. as for saying you are old enough to KNOW WHAT LIFE IS, I think you are wrong. Many of us live a very, very long time, and scarcely feel we have entirely mastered this LIVING proposition.

The world is so big, and there are so many sorts of people in it, that the longer we live and the more places we go, the more are we likely to find ourselves confronted with new issues of which we know nothing.

So, Peg J., decide not to be arbitrary with the home folks. Hear their side of an argument . . . you'll learn much. Also keep an open ear for what you hear on the outside. It doesn't pay for any one of us to go about feeling everything has been revealed to us. None of are Joan of Arcs. I like all my girls to be sweet and womanly, and it never pays to be too sure of ourselves.

Miss Brunot will be glad to answer letters submitted to her by readers.

LATE HOURS WITH BOY FRIENDS SAP BEAUTY, SAYS FAY KING

By FAY KING

A mother quarreled with her 16-year-old daughter over late hours and too many boy friends. The girl left home and did not return.

After hours of heartache, worry, tears and waiting, the despairing mother hurled herself from the roof.

Such tragedy, and for what?

Boy friends who keep a girl so young lingering out so late are not worthy of her friendship and the trouble this causes her at home.

A willful young daughter who prefers such companions, defying the mother who loves her best and has her welfare at heart, is not worth committing suicide over.

Girls who run around so late with too many boy friends, at 16, begin to look "shopworn" and faded at 18.

Save your youth!

Wonders About Mysterious Lock-Box

I found myself sitting forward in my chair with nerves and muscles as taut as the traditional fiddle strings when Lillian asked Hugh to "dish us the real dope on what's doing."

With a mental reservation, mostly subconscious, I had averred my acceptance of Hugh's belief that Lee Chow was mentally unsound, and therefore not to be judged criminally responsible for the murderous attack upon Dicky and the plot to kidnap me which we had laid at his door. But despite my confidence in Hugh's judgment, backed by his years of intimate association with his high-born Chinese friend, I felt that I must miss nothing of whatever defense Hugh meant to put up for Lee Chow.

Hugh did not respond at once to Lillian's adjuration. For at least a minute he sat silent, staring straight before him as if marshaling the facts he meant to give us. And when he did speak, his first words were a question.

"Lillian, when is Marion's eighteenth birthday?"

I choked back an exclamation. It was the same question which Lee Chow had put to me only a few hours before, and I felt instinctively that, in some way as yet unknown to me, the inexplicable behavior of Lee Chow was linked to the mystery contained in those sealed envelopes in Marion's lock box.

GUESSES DOUBT

"One week from today," Lillian responded promptly. "Madge told me a few minutes ago that Lee Chow had asked her that question earlier this evening, and she had promised to get him the information as soon as possible."

Hugh turned eyes shadowed with remorse on me.

"Yes, he told me that he had asked you that question," he said.

From my subconsciousness a mocking doubt thrust its head upward. If Lee Chow were insane, as Hugh evidently thought, how was it that he could be lucid enough to remember what he had said to me?

I was confident that I had not betrayed that doubt by word or look, but Hugh divined it, and his eyes darkened as if with pain as he said quietly:

"I know; that clear remembrance of his does not jibe with the theory of his insanity that I have just voiced, but—I think I can explain it all, if you have the patience to listen to me."

"There isn't anything of either of us except ears," Lillian said flippantly, and again I blessed her for saving a painful situation. "So go ahead; shoot the works!"

But he was looking at me, patently waiting for my verdict, and I nodded an assent to Lillian's mandate.

"I am so anxious to hear it all," I said, and he took a deep breath as if he were getting ready to dive into deep water.

LEE CHOW INSISTENT

"Before I go into the question of Lee Chow's sanity," he said slowly, "I want to get this other question settled. Is there going to be any reason why she cannot be here upon that day for the opening of the lock box? Lee Chow seems most insistent upon that point."

It was Lillian's turn to be silent now, and as I watched her expressive eyes fixed upon Hugh's face, I guessed what was causing her hesitation.

"I'm going to be very frank with you," she said. "Up to the present moment, there never has been the slightest doubt of Marion's coming home for her birthday and the opening of those envelopes contained in the secret compartment of her lock box.

"As you may know, as I did not know for many years because of the promise Marion's grandmother, in her senility exacted from the child, the box was entrusted to Marion by her grandmother under pledge of strictest secrecy. She told the child that the secret compartment contained her 'fortune,' and that she was to open it upon her eighteenth birthday.

"When I first heard of it," Lillian went on, "I was frankly skeptical of the box containing anything of value. But when Lee Chow revealed his knowledge of the contents of the box—a knowledge which he has not as yet divulged to the rest of us—I remembered that Marion's father—and Sam Brixton—were in China during the Boxer rebellion, and—"

"Hush!" whispered Hugh. "Switch off the light!"

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Maid of Honor's Costume

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be maid of honor for my girl friend and I would like your advice in regard to my outfit.

My friend is wearing rose-beige in lace with the same color hat trimmed with brown. I have chosen aquarmarine lace, but would like your opinion as to the kind of shoes, hat and gloves that would match. My own idea was to have a natural baku hat with the same color shoes as my dress, and white gloves. Would this be correct?

H.

Yes, this would make an excellently harmonized ensemble, or you might consider having your accessories in a medium shade of blue.

Chacun Son Gout

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

While having dinner one evening with my boy friend, in a restaurant downtown, we happened to have a dispute after ordering drinks with our dinner. My friend ordered beer and I an old-fashioned cocktail. Is it improper to order cocktails or highballs with your meals if it agrees with you?

B.

When it comes to what we order to eat or to drink, it's too personal a matter for anyone to "wonder" at our choices and preferences. But still, in a friendly discussion about your order, you and I can understand that the boy friend might cling to the usual convention of drinking a cocktail before dinner rather than with dinner. However, "everyone to her own taste . . ."

Contract Bridge :: HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

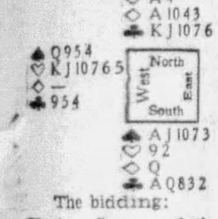
Helping the Opponents

While it is a sound general principle to erect, if possible, a bidding defense against an adverse game or slam, when the partnership at the Bridge table is convinced that an effective playing defense cannot be found there are many occasions when the defense bidding is of great benefit to the opposing pair in reaching the correct contract.

An interesting example of this occurred in a recent Duplicate game in New York City, in which only Alfred P. Sheinwold and his partner reached and made a Small Slam. Mr. Sheinwold, in giving me the hand, remarked that his opponents had helped a little by their psychic Overcalls, which gave him and his partner opportunities for cue bidding in their suits. The hand was:

North, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♠	3 ♡
4 ♡	4 ♠	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

Of course, East's one-spade Overcall was sheer folly. His justification to himself was based on the fact that he held an eight-card escape suit, but inasmuch as it was of lower rank than the spades, he must have trembled somewhat as to the possible outcome in case his partner had support for the spades and some real strength in his hand. The spade bid gave to South, who had very strong support for his partner's Opening bid, the opportunity for an Immediate Overcall in that suit. West's bid of three hearts likewise gave to North an opportunity to show control of the first round; his heart Overcall was justified because his own short holding in spades made it fairly obvious that South's Overcall in the spade suit disclosed the Ace and not a void in the suit and thus indicated that the King of spades was of real value. When East again bid spades, his purpose, of course, was to further confuse the issue. He planned, if doubled, to bid five diamonds, but before he had an opportunity to do this, North and South had reached a Small Slam contract in clubs.

As the hand was played, Mr. Sheinwold made all 13 tricks, but this could not have been done had East opened a diamond, as he no doubt would have done if his partner had doubled and thus suggested some lead other than the conventional one on the bidding.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

It happens sometimes that shoes will form a calloused spot on the back of the foot. Unless something is done, the thickened skin will form an ugly blemish.

Bathe with warm water and soap, then while the skin is moist, smooth with a pumice stone. Massage vigorously with cocoanut oil. Have the shoe strap snug so the shoe won't slip and rub at the back.

Uncleanliness of person or greedy eating habits are not always responsible for excessive perspiration and unpleasant odors of the skin. Sometimes there is a gland disturbance that is kicking up the trouble, so, if bathing daily and applying deodorants, don't avail, see the family doctor.

Bathe armpits in clear water. There are salty deposits there; clear water removes it better than will soapsuds.

Hair is a dirt catcher, especially if it is hair that is inclined to be oily. Women who live in large cities where the air is filled with flying soot need a shampoo once a week.

Soap suds won't injure the glory crest any more than it will injure healthy skin. It should, of course, be thoroughly rinsed away, and the only means of getting shafts celar of suds is the bath spray and a force of water that knocks a gal off her heels.

CHICKIE'S DAUGHTER :-: A Thrilling Serial Of Modern Romance :-: By ELEANORE MEHERIN

Pippin Saves Dale's Wife When Boat Capsizes

CHAPTER LXXXI.

Pippin saw the boat overturn; saw the struggling figures pitch over—disappear.

She screamed; she gave loud, echoing cries and raced to the water. For a second, aching with eternity, she waited.

One figure came to the surface, dark hair spread out, arms thrown upward. Dale's wife.

Pippin prayed. She felt terror. She thought desolately: "He's gone!" And cut with flashing power to the drowning woman's side.

She was just near enough to make a surface dive under the victim, when she looked to the far side of the boat. She saw a form rising from the lake, the head covered with blood. The arms reached out blindly and caught the edge of the capsized boat.

Pippin thought, with a sob of relief; yet with strange, dull agony: "He's saved!"

She swam under the small, almost exhausted girl, swung her to position and bore her to the pier.

Almost immediately, boats were in the lagoon, a crowd gathered and Kate Stone came rushing down the trail.

She looked at the woman and said excitedly: "Who's drowned? Is that Dale?"

Dale's wife sat up. She said: "Look! He's clinging there!"

But at that moment men in the boat lifted the half conscious form from the water.

The rest of it went clashing like the distorted scenes of a nightmare—a pallid, unnatural dream, with all these blanched, excited people talking crazily; men laying Dale on the pier; removing his shoes and waterlogged clothes; mopping the blood from his face.

Asks for Fanny

Dale's wife ran toward him and cried: "He's drowned. He clung to the boat, but he's drowned."

Everyone was telling what should be done. Dale raised himself and asked vaguely: "Where's Fanny? Did you get Fanny?"

The girl leaned over him and screamed: "I'm here!"

The men shoved her away. They tied a towel on Dale's head.

He looked about with white, staggered face: "It's nothing. I struck a rock." When he saw Pippin and Kate, his eyes filled with dumb misery. He said flatly: "Our boat overturned."

Unaware of her scant covering and the water dripping from her hair and shoulders, Pippin took the blanket someone offered.

She turned to Kate: "I guess they're all right. You'll stay here?" and pulling the blanket about her, walked up the trail to a great boulder where her clothes were heaped. She stepped into them quickly and moved from the scene which every moment grew more unreal, more fantastic and alien.

Chickie stood in the living room, leaning on a table near the fireplace. She looked haggard, pale, a little wild about the eyes.

"What in the world kept you?" she mumbled irritably as Pippin entered the room.

Helena Irritable

"A boat overturned—two people were almost drowned."

Chickie sank into a deep chair, sighing deeply as though with utter exhaustion.

"You don't feel any better, mother? Your head is worse?"

"I'm all right." She added, almost sobbing: "I can't see why it took you so long."

"I had to swim out and bring in a girl who was helpless when her boat capsized."

"Oh—"

Chickie didn't inquire further. Her eyes closed drowsily.

Pippin looked at her mother and was afraid. She went up and felt Helena's face.

She whispered distractedly: "You have a fever. We should go home. I'll telephone David."

"Stay here. Nothing but a cold. I'll soon be over it."

Then Chickie began to walk about. Everything annoyed her. A little dust on the mantel; a sweater thrown on a chair.

"Where are your brothers, Pippin?"

"Bruce is riding the surf board with the Armours. Dadee and Irene are helping the Wilsons get ready for the party."

"Yes—yes! Go out, too, Pippin!"

Tears flew to Pippin's eyes. Her fears passed rapidly to grave alarm. Helena had never been like this!

Tells Dadee

When Dadee came in at 5 o'clock, Pippin followed him to the back porch where he and Bruce slept.

"You better not go to the party tonight. Helena is sick."

He threw her a look of indignant challenge.

"She says she only has a headache or a stiff neck. What good can I do staying at home?"

"Well, I'm frightened. She's terribly irritable."

"She's been upstage for two days. Did you just notice it? She's not sore at me. It's you she's worried about."

"Why should she worry for me?"

"Oh, the crazy way you went running off by yourself at first. And now going goofy over Dale. But you always go to extremes."

Blazing with hurt and her thought shocked, Pippin looked at her brother. He stood before a wash basin, set on a shelf against the rocks. He coolly and with pleasure brushed his thick, sandy hair. He was unaware of her anger and shame.

"I told her she was cracked. But you better cut out seeing him so much."

Dadee turned then and saw Pippin's flaming accusation.

"Don't take it out on me. I like Dale. Besides, you're nuts. There's nothing the matter with Helena. She looks much better than she did this morning!"

But Dadee went in and asked his mother if she wanted him to stay home. She sat on a long chair, her eyes closed, a pinched, dull look on her face.

"No," she said drowsily, "Pippin is here!"

Pippin Alarmed

Pippin brought her food. She wouldn't eat. She sat up and, wishing to speak to Bruce, turned her whole body. Something in the gesture; something in her fevered apprehensive eyes, filled Pippin with alarm.

She stole from the house. She took the boat and went across to the landing where she telephoned her father.

Fortunately he was in his office.

She heard her father say quietly: "A headache, fever?"

"Oh, yes, but she's so cross . . . Her neck seems stiff. She looks terrible!"

"Did you say irritable?" Pippin thought she heard David add, "Oh my God!" But he went on with sharp, matter-of-fact: "Better bring her home, Pippin. Get Ralph and the boys to help. Nothing to be alarmed about but I want her here. Leave right away. I'll meet you in Sacramento. Tell Dadee to drive carefully but make all the speed you can!"

Her fright ran fainting across the wires. David caught her trembling cry and said pleading, urgent, grim:

"Manage it, Pippin! I'll count on you to arrive in Sacramento between 9 and 10. Let Ralph close up the house—all of you come home."

Pippin said: "I will!"

She leaned against the phone, shaking; a dampness on her hands and in her thought.

Her father was afraid. He said: "Oh my God."

She sent for Dadee; made arrangements, then got into her boat and went quickly over the flame-touched sunset water.

Dale was waiting at her pier. He said: "Pippin—I'm so sorry. I couldn't dream she was returning."

Sees Dale

She looked at him remotely, yet noticing his face so white.

"What does it matter, Dale? Is your head all right?"

"Oh just a scalp wound. But it stunned me—left me helpless."

Pippin repeated the last word and went past him, almost unseeing.

He caught her hand.

"She would have drowned if you were not there. I didn't even see her. Pippin, why are you rushing away?"

She looked into his unhappy eyes.

"My mother is sick. Don't stop me, Dale."

"Is she this sick, Pippin?"

He would have put an arm around her but was repelled by the stark, distant look in her eyes.

"She's sick. We're taking her home."

"I'll wait and help."

Chickie lay on the couch. Her eyes burned at Pippin. They were full of bitterness.

"You wouldn't stay with me. Even now!"

"Oh mother!"

Pippin dropped on her knees at her mother's side. She ran her fingers through Helena's hair.

"I didn't leave you, mother. Please don't think that! I talked with David. I phoned to him."

"I forbade you to do that!"

But almost immediately a look of relief, vivid as a smile went over Chickie's face.

"What did David say?"

"He wants you home. He said to bring you right away. He's started already for Sacramento."

Chickie gave a sudden, soft laugh and turned her face, wet with tears, against the pillow.

Make This Frock in Cotton—You'll Love It

Pattern 1666

Of course you can make it of anything you like, but there is something about this frock that just pleads to be made up in one of the new cottons. So why not do it? You will simply love it—you can't help it. Those little shoulder capelets will fall so prettily and the yoke will look so smart and the general effect will be one of that trim well-groomed chic which always accompanies cotton properly used. As for cotton's position in fashions—it's on the crest of the wave—the chic Parisians who make and unmake the mode are ordering dozens of cotton frocks for next summer.

Pattern 1666 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 36-inch fabric and ⅜ yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Typhoid Still a Vacation Menace

During warm weather outbreaks of typhoid fever will be reported throughout the country. It is probable that most of these epidemics will be traced to carelessness in the choice of drinking water and to the taking of contaminated food. Contaminated drinking water and sea foods obtained from condemned water supplies, constitute a menace to health and life. Fortunately, it is a decreasing menace.

Dr. Copeland.

The dangers of typhoid fever cannot be overstated. It is a serious disease and unless recognized in its early stages leads to distressing consequences. We can be glad it is no longer the grave menace it was in former years when little was known of the real nature of this disease.

Many of you will recall the days when typhoid fever was a dreaded and all too common disease. Our soldiers in the Spanish-American War suffered more from the germs of typhoid fever than they did from the bullets of the enemy. Many a survivor continues to suffer from the lasting effects of the attack.

These experiences are in marked contrast to those of the soldiers in the recent World War who were protected against typhoid fever by inoculation with typhoid vaccine. This protective substance, known as the "triple vaccine," is given to soldiers and sailors, as well as to employes in the federal service who are located where typhoid fever is prevalent.

The vaccine is always recommended for individuals who travel where the disease may be encountered. It should be given to all who live in a community in which typhoid fever has broken out, or where suspected cases repeatedly occur. It is a preventive measure and of great value to those who visit typhoid fever districts.

Although the administration of typhoid fever vaccine gives protection against the disease, it is difficult to convince everybody of the necessity of using it. This is particularly the case because the disease is not as prevalent as in former years.

Fortunately, the disease can also be prevented by the purification of water and careful inspection of all foods and food handlers. Persons employed in public places who come in contact with food, are required by law to be examined at periodic intervals. All those who harbor typhoid fever germs are a menace to a community. The danger is increased when they are employed in restaurants and bakeries. This danger can only be overcome by periodic and strick examination of all food handlers. I am glad to say this procedure is practiced in most progressive communities.

Careful inspection of food, as well as certain purity of the drinking and bathing water, is the only sure safeguard against the disease. During the summer months, if you are going away on a trip or are to travel through sections of the country where the sanitary condition of the water supply is doubtful, I strongly urge that you bear in mind the dangers I have described. Do not be misled by the idea that typhoid fever is a rare and unusual disease.

Answers to Health Queries

The Claeys Family. Q.—My mother had an attack of gall stones and the doctor advised an operation, but we can't afford it. Some friends told us if we gave mother olive oil after every meal it would help to pass these stones. What would you advise?

A.—It is always unwise to listen to the well-meant advice of friends. Follow your doctor's instructions. I would suggest that you take your mother to the clinic in one of the larger hospitals near your home.

TOLEDO STRIKE RIOTS HALT AS FACTIONS TALK PEACE

U. S. COMBATS NEW THREAT IN AREA

TOLEDO, O., May 28.—(AP.)—Five days of strike-born violence which has left a casualty list of two dead and nearly 200 injured appeared to have ended today, but Ohio National Guardsmen patrolled the strike area, alert for any sudden renewal of trouble.

Gov. George White in a formal statement today said:

"I believe that conditions in Toledo are rapidly reaching a point where it will be possible to withdraw the National Guard at an early date and I shall take such action as soon as I am assured by local authorities that they can maintain law and order."

The Governor, issuing his statement after a return by plane from a fishing trip in Michigan, said:

"I shall not permit the National Guard to be used for the mere purpose of insuring operation of any industrial plant where life and property is not endangered. I shall, however, use the entire force of the state, if necessary, to protect life and property.

BLAMES OUTSIDERS

"I am convinced that had the dispute, from which has arisen the recent violence, been confined to the former employes of the company now on strike, no state action would have been necessary. However, persons who hold the law in utter disregard and who have not the interests of America at heart have seized upon local labor troubles as a pretext to further their own propaganda and violent intentions. With this element I will not compromise, and shall differentiate between it and bona fide workmen in labor disputes."

White said with the restoration of order at Toledo "the stage has been set for an orderly method of arriving at a settlement of this dispute, fair and just to all parties concerned."

Only a few stragglers disturbed the calm of the riot area during the night.

PEACE CONFERENCE

For the first time since violence flared, federal mediators led by Charles P. Taft brought union leaders and officials of the Electric Auto-Lite Company together yesterday. They approached what Taft described as a "possibility of complete settlement."

As Taft labored to bring order out of the chaos at the auto plant, E. H. Dunnigan, another federal mediator, sought to hold up a threatened general strike. Workers have set Thursday as a tentative date for their walkout at the Toledo Edison Company.

There has been much talk of a strike of all union labor in sympathy with the strike in automotive plants. A meeting to further this proposal has been set for tomorrow night.

Federal mediators are now attempting to make a settlement of differences at all three automotive plants here, where strikes are in progress. The Bingham Stamping and Tool Company and the Logan Gear Company are involved in the negotiations, along with the Auto-Lite Company.

STRIKERS' DEMANDS

The Auto-Lite strike involves demands for a closed shop, 10 per cent wage increases, recognition of the workers' union and seniority rights. The chief stumbling block has been the closed shop demand, which the company has steadfastly refused to consider.

Motorists appeared from many cities yesterday to look over the battleground of the strike and watch the soldiers. Most of them were orderly and soldiers made only three arrests, raising the total of persons arrested in the last three days to approximately 200. Many of them have been released.

RADICAL RIOTING FOUGHT IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—The clamor of conflict between radicals and police swelled in an ominous crescendo toward the arraignment today of a group of demonstrators.

Twenty patrolmen were posted about the dingy Tombs Court today in an attempt to check the bitter strife of the last two days.

One thousand men and women rioted Saturday outside the Department of Welfare offices.

Two hundred of them jeered and hooted yesterday, then fought the police in the streets as 10 of their number were arraigned.

Today the same 10 came to court for another hearing, with two others—man and wife, who were beaten in the court riot. The couple, James Lechay, 27, a teacher, and Mrs. Rose Lechay, 22, were the focal point of the court fight as they remonstrated when they were driven from the room.

The woman was struck down and kicked, and while Lechay protested, "That's my wife, leave her alone," he was carried off bodily by officers. Pleading with officers and crying, "We're willing to go," he was hit over the head with a patrolman's stick, and kicked as he lay unconscious, several witnesses said.

Packing Employes End St. Louis Strike

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—(AP.)—Settlement of a packing house employes' strike, which curtailed operations of six plants here for two weeks, had been effected today with ratification of a union contract.

Under the agreement all participating packing plants are to return striking employes to work, discharge no one because of union affiliation, force no employe to join a company union, and provide a minimum work week of 32 hours.

International News Service.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—The sheriff of Tazewell County today wired the office of Gov. Henry Horner here asking troops be sent to Pekin to quell a threatened uprising at the plant of the American Commercial Alcohol Corporation.

The Governor is in Chicago today and the request for troops was forwarded to him.

Advices from Pekin said the trouble at the alcohol plant was due to efforts of union leaders and a number of employes to organize the plant. Twenty-five state police are on duty at the plant, but no major violence was reported.

One picket was arrested when he threw a brick at a passing truck. He was released on bond furnished by the union.

Connellsville Girl Killed in Auto Crash

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 28.—Mildred Hyatt, 20, died today of injuries suffered last night in an auto accident, near Scottdale, as she returned from a trip to Cleveland. John Ferens, driver, was seriously injured as the car turned over.

Goatless Gandhi Goes to Preach Love in Strike

TOLEDO, O., May 28.—(AP.)—A self-styled disciple of Mahatma Gandhi bobbed up in the riot zone here—Grecian sandals, loin cloth, shawl and all—intending to expound a doctrine of non-violence and love.

He said he was William Harrison Goodell, native of Illinois and former resident of India. Disappointed by the size of the Sunday crowd in the area, he did not preach.

He said he was just back from the Panama Canal Zone where he went as a member of "the scientific fruitarian expedition." He said they have a colony there. He is en route to Detroit.

Retail Coal Dealers To Reveal Violators

Several hundred retail coal dealers and representatives of civic organizations will attend a hearing before the local code authority Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. L. I. MacQueen, code secretary, said that evidence of price-cutting and other unfair trade practices is expected to be produced. The groups at the meeting will represent 18 Western Pennsylvania counties.

shops, cleaning and dyeing, shoe rebuilding, advertising distribution and advertising display installation.

President Roosevelt's order makes possible the adoption of local or regional fair trade practice codes if 85 per cent of the members of the affected trades agree on schedules to be approved by Johnson in accordance with the executive order.

The President said he decided to allow local groups in the service trades and industries, after designation by the administrator, to write their own codes of fair trade practices because a "trial period of some months has shown that while most industries after organization for this work and a little experience with it, can secure uniform national results there are others to which a great degree of autonomous local self-government is desirable." He added:

"Most industries have a national community of economic interest even though the operation of some of their units is local. There are others which, notwithstanding their having national trade associations, do not actually integrate themselves nationally.

RETAINS POWER

"Whether an industry can govern and police itself under the fair trade provisions of a national code depends on its degree of actual economic integration on a national scale and on the organization and solidarity within the whole industry. A trial period of some months has shown that while most industries, after organization for this work and a little experience with it, can secure uniform national results, there are others to which a greater degree of autonomous local self-government is desirable.

"Among these are some, but not all, of the so-called service industries—that is, industries engaged in the sale of services rather than of goods.

"No industry would give up the gains we have made in the elimination of child labor and in the establishment of minimum wages and maximum hours of labor and, of course, under the law, we cannot give up collective bargaining and the right of the President to cancel or modify codes, orders and agreements."

10 Millions Still Without Regular Jobs, Says A. F. L.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—The American Federation of Labor estimated today that about 260,000 men and women went back to work in April, but that 10,616,000 workers remained without regular employment in private industry during the month.

Of those listed in the latter class, the Federation said, 369,000 had work on public works projects, 314,000 were in forestry camps and the remainder had no employment except that offered by the relief administration. The Federation said:

"In reviewing the progress made since NRA codes became effective, we find that the greatest employment gain was from July to September last year, when hours were shortened under the codes and unemployment was reduced from nearly 11,800,000 in July to 10,100,000 in September.

"From September to January, unemployment increased again, with the season, bringing the number out of work back almost to the July peak—11,775,000 were without work in January.

"With the spring busy season, slightly more than a million of the winter unemployed have gone back to work, but at the season's peak in April, unemployment was still above the September level, with over 10,600,000 out of work.

"We have not yet regained the winter losses and have made no progress since September in reducing the level of unemployment."

The federation estimated an increase of $38,000 in the April payroll total. The percentage of union workers unemployed fell from 20.7 per cent to 19.9.

8 Hurt in Strike, Fourth Mill Closes

LAURINBURG, N. C., May 28.—(AP.)—The last of the four units of Waverly Mills, Inc., to be affected by strikes was "temporarily closed" today following a riot last night in which eight men were wounded, one of them possibly fatally.

Guns barked and brickbats and other missiles were hurled as strikers of the other three plants and workers of the Prince unit, which had opened up for the night, engaged in a general melee.

Seized in Swindle At New York Pier

NEW YORK, May 28.—(INS.)—A passenger described as Orlando E. Miller, 70, of Paris, France, was arrested today as he stepped from the Red Star liner, Westernland. The arrest was made at the request of the Federal District Attorney of San Francisco, charging Miller with using the mails to defraud in a stock swindle involving $100,000.

2 STEEL GROUPS OPPOSE STRIKE

The threatened strike of steel workers will be opposed by employes of the Allegheny Steel Company, Brackenridge, and the National Tube Company, McKeesport, their employe representatives indicated today.

In resolutions adopted yesterday vigorous opposition to attempts by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers to dominate the steel industry was voiced.

Letters were sent to company heads yesterday advising them of the action. They were signed by James B. Finley, president, and F. L. Starke, secretary, of the employes' union of the Allegheny Steel Company, and Alfred A. Griffith, chairman, and A. J. Flynn, Jr., secretary, for the National Tube Company group.

STRIKE BLAMED ON UNION WAR

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 28.—Warfare between rival miners' unions was said to be responsible for a holiday for 800 miners at the Isabella mine of the Weirton Steel Company.

Van Sabula, president of the Isabella local, United Mine Workers, called out the miners, after two United Mine Workers were reported injured in a clash yesterday.

Robert Postgate, 20, was shot in the leg and Joseph Brosius, 20, was beaten with a revolver butt. Last night several shots were fired at the home of Joseph Wargo. Wargo and friends returned the fire, police said. The trouble started yesterday when Wargo went to the mine to get tools.

Several hundred men were reported to have struck at the Vesta No. 5 mine at Vestaburg, following the discharge of a foreman.

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Edge for Jimmy if Right. His Form Deciding Item. Punch Not Only Asset.

Italian Players Shining. Major Colony Growing. District Track Revival.

The last lightweight champion to attempt the capture of the welterweight title was Benny Leonard against Jack Britton on June 26, 1922. Benny was unsuccessful, though only 26 at the time, while Britton was almost 37. A victory for Barney Ross, 24, over Jimmy McLarnin, 28, in a similar undertaking tonight therefore, would appear to require Ross to be better than Leonard, or McLarnin to be less capable than Britton. Ross may be a Leonard one day, but he isn't at the moment. McLarnin may not be the ring artist that Britton was, but he is eight years younger than Britton was at the time of the Leonard fight, is good enough for all purposes, and hits harder than did any other welterweight champion since Joe Walcott. He'll have to be out of tune as the result of long idleness to enable Ross to make up the difference and win.

Benny Leonard

Just where they get the idea that McLarnin can win only by a knockout isn't quite clear. As a matter of fact, McLarnin is an excellent boxer, smart as well as skillful, and if he appears slow in comparison with some of the dancing masters it's only because he never wastes any motion. He's as quick as a cat when an opening presents itself. Evidence that McLarnin is clever enough to win bouts without knocking out opponents is contained in the fact that he won decisions over such men as Sammy Mandell, Young Jack Thompson, Billy Petrolle, Ray Miller, Joe Glick, Billy Wallace and others, not to mention Fidel LaBarba and Pancho Villa in his lighter days. Though defeated by Mandell, Petrolle, Miller and Lou Brouillard since he gained prominence, McLarnin came back to beat Mandell and Petrolle twice each and Miller once. Weight advantage and punching power would appear to give Jimmy the edge tonight if a year's absence hasn't thrown him out of gear. Only the fight itself can determine the latter point.

DI MAGGIO REIGNING SENSATION ON COAST

The old build-up for another of those big sales at fancy figures appears to be in progress. The heads of the San Francisco club go so far as to assert Joe Di Maggio is the best ball player the Coast League has seen since Hal Chase. That may be a slight exaggeration, inasmuch as it would take in a few fair-to-middling performers like the Waners, the Johnsons, Mickey Cochrane, Tony Lazzeri, Earl Averill, Wally Berger, Bill Cissell, Pinky Higgins, Gus Suhr and others. But at any rate it has attracted the big league scouts, and agents of the Yanks and Red Sox in particular are on watch.

MANY ITALIAN PLAYERS MAKE BIG GRADE

The fact that he is of Italian blood has increased the interest of major league magnates in Di Maggio, for players of that race have been making the big grade at a rate to create a demand for them. Italian athletes seemingly have the talent and the will to go right to the top ranks in any game they enter, and baseball must now be added to football, boxing, basketball, racehorse riding, wrestling, track and the other sports in which they have ranked among the standouts of recent years.

Cookie Lavagetto

The success of Cookie Lavagetto in becoming a big league regular with the Pirates at the age of 19 and with only one year of professional experience, the Pittsburgh club's first Italian fixture since the days of Ed Abbaticchio, was the latest development to start major moguls on a hunt for players of that race. And Lavagetto is only one of a rapidly growing colony in upper baldom. Others to rise this year were First Baseman Zeke Bonura, of the White Sox; Third Baseman Lou Chiozza, Phils, and Pitcher Joe Cascarella, A's.

First Baseman Dolph Camilli came up to the Cubs last fall, and older stars scattered around the big circuits are Catcher Gus Mancuso, of the Giants; Tony Lazzeri, now back at second base for the Yankees after a brilliant spell at third; Tony Cuccinello, who has played two positions in the Dodger lineup; Second Baseman Oscar Melillo, of the Browns; Outfielder Ernest Orsatti, of the Cardinals; Catcher Ernest Lombardi, of the Reds, and Shortstop Frank Crosetti, of the Yankees. Italian players usually stick around when given a chance in the majors. About the only exception this year was Outfielder George Puccinelli, recently sent back to Rochester by the Browns.

BELIEVES ROSS WILL BECOME PUNCHER

Dumb Dan Morgan, one of the veteran boxing men picking Barney Ross to defeat Jimmy McLarnin by a decision, pronounces the lightweight champion the nearest approach to perfection in the ring since Benny Leonard and Jack Britton. He admits Ross isn't much of a hitter at present, but expresses the belief that in time, possibly in about six months more, Barney will become a puncher, as Leonard did.

Morgan recalls that it took Leonard seven years to acquire the art of finishing his man—to feint his openings and at the proper moment cross his right. Punching, as Dan sees it, isn't so much a matter of power as it is a matter of timing and knowing how and when to hit. Leonard first learned the trick when he flattened Joe Mandot, and then proceeded to knock out 11 good lightweights and two world champions —Johnny Kilbane and Freddie Welsh.

CHANCE TO COMPARE DISTRICT TRACKERS

The revival of the Pitt Intercollegiates, to be held at the Pitt Stadium Saturday, will give track and field followers a chance to compare the leading stars of the district in the various events. Prior to the dropping of this meet from the sports calendar, in the days before the Stadium was constructed, it was possible to get a pretty good line on the relative ability of the stars of the different schools in the region. Since then, however, there has been little opportunity for accurate comparisons.

Harold Connelly

Leading individual luminaries likely to compete are Spencer, Evans and Beggs, of Geneva; Shelton, of Waynesburg; Miller, Gedwilus and Bailey, of West Virginia University; Barnum, of West Virginia Wesleyan, and Keller, Connelly, Wagenhouser, Guay, Fleming, Bonavita and Gongloff, of Pitt. There should be interesting battles in the hurdles, among Spencer, Evans, Guay, Bailey and Fleming; in the distance runs, between Wagenhouser and Gedwilus; in the javelin throw, between Beggs and Gongloff, and in the shotput, between Barnum and Bonavita. Stars figured to have everything their own way are Spencer, in the high jump; Harold Connelly, in the half mile; Keller, in the quarter mile, and Miller, in the hammer throw.

JIMMY M'LARNIN.....HIS WELTER TITLE'S AT STAKE

CHAMPION AT LOW WEIGHT FOR ROSS BATTLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—Jimmy McLarnin, in defending his world welterweight boxing title against the challenge of Barney Ross, of Chicago, lightweight king, will have less than a five-pound pull in the weights. He is a 7-5 favorite in the betting.

McLarnin stepped on the official scales at noon today and tipped the beam at exactly 142 pounds, five pounds under the welterweight limit and three pounds less than the mark he agreed to make for Ross, who weighed 137¾ pounds.

McLarnin's weight was a big surprise to experts, who had figured the welter champion would have difficulty making the 145 pounds. Even McLarnin appeared surprised.

MEET AT WEIGHING

As further evidence of high interest in the 15-round title bout, expected to draw about 60,000 fans to the Madison Square Garden Bowl, in Long Island City, a big crowd of curious persons blocked traffic in Centre street, where the commission offices are located, and overflowed into a nearby square.

The fistic rivals exchanged pleasant remarks about the weather, agreeing that it was beautiful, and both were declared to be in top-notch physical condition by Dr. William Walker, the official examiner.

Dr. Walker, in comparing the condition of the fighters with his observations during preliminary examination last Wednesday, said he was surprised that Ross had kept the fine edge of his condition so well after reaching the peak last week and running the risk of going stale.

"GOOD WEIGHT"

McLarnin, on the other hand, who appeared to Dr. Walker to have been sluggish last week, today was pronounced to be in perfect condition.

Among the visiting notables at the weighing were Edward Foster, of Providence, R. I., president of the National Boxing Association, and James Triner, of Chicago, Illinois Boxing Commissioner.

Afterward, Pop Foster, veteran manager of McLarnin, told newspapermen:

"At 142 pounds, Jimmy's just right and you will see the best McLarnin you ever looked at tonight."

The odds on McLarnin remained 7 to 5 with most bettors, although more Ross money was reported in sight when it was realized he would not be giving away as much weight as was first thought likely.

FAIR AND COOL

The weather continued fair, although a trifle cool, but the weather forecaster said it should continue to get warmer during the afternoon, with the thermometer registering between 60 and 70 degrees by bout time, approximately 8:45 p. m., eastern standard.

Both McLarnin and Ross promised a fast battle. McLarnin said:

"I am going to carry the fight to Ross right from the start, and and I don't intend to be outsmarted. If necessary, I can go at top speed for 15 rounds."

Ross said:

"I'm sure I'll win the decision. I'm in great shape and expect to own the welterweight title as well as the lightweight championship. I'm not afraid of McLarnin's punching power."

In the event of rain the fight, scheduled to go on about 9 p. m. Eastern Standard time, will be shifted to tomorrow night and then to Wednesday if necessary.

HUNTINGTON SPLITS EVEN

A pair of double-headers, which wound up as double bills usually do, featured the Sunday program in the Mid-Atlantic League, where Beckley is still setting the pace.

Hutnington, runner-up to the Black Knights, divided a twin engagement with Zanesville. Victorious in the opener, 9 to 6, the Red Birds lost the nightcap, 9 to 5.

Dayton and Johnstown also split even, Dayton taking the first game, 8 to 1, while the Johnnies came back to win the second, 6 to 1.

In the Penn State Association, McKeesport lost to Greensburg, 9 to 8, in a 10-inning game when Rabbit Mucci, Greensburg third baseman, socked a homer in the extra inning.

Monessen defeated Jeannette, 4 to 3, at Jeannette, and Charleroi nosed out Washington, 13 to 12, in a slugfest at Charleroi.

Fistic Wise Men Divided on Bout

NEW YORK, May 28.—(INS.)—Here are the predictions of various fighters and fistic authorities on the outcome of the McLarnin-Ross bout tonight:

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion—McLarnin's punch should win.

Sammy Goldman, manager of Tony Canzoneri—it's a tough one to pick. The breaks will decide it.

Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion—Ross is too fast for McLarnin.

Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion—Ross will outbox McLarnin.

Ray Miller, lightweight boxer—McLarnin's wallops will be too much for Ross.

Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion—Ross' speed will earn him the decision.

Bill Corum, New York Evening Journal—I like Ross until and if McLarnin hits him.

PIRATES DOWN GIANTS IN OPENER

NEW YORK, May 28.—Making their seasonal bow at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon, and with 35,000 fans looking on, the Pittsburgh Pirates won a clean-cut victory over the Giants. The score was 7 to 3.

Gus Suhr and Red Lucas were a Pittsburgh combination that proved entirely too good for the world champions. Suhr smacked out two homers that were good for four runs and Lucas held the Giants to five hits.

The red-haired pitcher was in a shutout stride except in the eighth when Frank O'Doul, batting for Hughey Critz with two on the sacks, hit a homer to score all of the New York runs.

Southpaw Al Smith was hammered from the box by the Buccos in the first inning, the early round producing three Pirate tallies. Suhr's first homer was hit in this round. The Buccos picked up another run in the third and Suhr uncorked his second homer in the ninth. Bell and Clark followed Smith to the slab.

FRAME ESCAPES INJURY IN SPEED TEST

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28. —(AP.)—Fred Frame, winner of the 500-mile race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway two years ago, became a doubtful starter in the 1934 classic today when his machine hit a retaining wall while he was making his qualifying run.

Frame escaped injury, but his car was so damaged it was uncertain whether it could be put into shape before the time trials end this afternoon.

In the car with Frame at the time of the accident was Al Thieson, of Dayton, O., winner of a dirt track race at Winchester, Ind., yesterday. Thieson also escaped unhurt.

Frame was piloting the car in which Billy Arnold, of Chicago, won the 500-mile event in 1930 and in which he crashed through the wall of the northwest turn at the local track both in 1931 and 1932. By strange coincidence Frame's accident also occurred on the same curve.

Speeway officials attributed Frame's accident to the breaking of a steering arm of his enght-cylinder, front drive car. It was estimated he was traveling about 120 miles an hour.

RACER KILLED

WINCHESTER, Ind., May 28.—(AP.)—James O. Patterson, 28, of Kansas City, was killed when his racer left the course on the last lap of a 10-mile race at Funk's Lake speedway, near here, yesterday.

Driving on the track for the first time, Patterson was passing Clay Weatherly of Chicago, in the first race of the day when his car skidded, locking wheels with Weatherly's machine. Patterson's

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE LEANING HOUSE—This curious house has been built of cement in a swampy region of the Tunis harbor. The foundations slipped and the house now leans at an angle of 10 degrees. The leaning Tower of Pisa is only 4½ degrees out of the perpendicular. The walls of the Tunis House have not cracked and it should be possible to straighten it out to a normal angle. The massive structure now houses a flour mill and attracts a great deal of attention.

TOMORROW: WHERE DID THE CIVIL WAR START AND END?

SHADY SIDE, MT. LEBANON TEAMS CLASH FOR NET TITLE

CHAMPS AFTER THIRD CROWN IN ROW

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

A hectic holiday tennis week gets under way today as Coach Harris Haviland's Shady Side Academy squad battles the champion Mt. Lebanon array in final joust for the Interscholastic Tennis Conference title and the University of Pittsburgh plaque symbolic thereof, and senior warriors of the P. T. A. begin the 1934 outdoor tournament campaign with the start of the third annual Stanton Heights invitation men's singles event.

The school classic is slated for 2:30 p. m. on Pitt's Trees Field courts, with the Heights affair scheduled for about 5 o'clock on the North Aiken lot.

With Ralph Bald, Western Pennsylvania junior premier, out of the lineup due to illness, the chance that Mt. Lebanon may annex its third leg on the Panther trophy and thus retire it permanently is by no means bright. Shady Side, with Jimmy Arensberg, Allerton Miller, Dick Sunstein and High Moor at the peak of form, already boasts a decision over the depleted Mount force.

MT. LEBANON STRONG

Mt. Lebanon, however, has by no means conceded success to the opposition. Mentor V. M. Doak has still at his disposal such redoubtable youngsters as Bill Fay, Western Pennsylvania boys' titleholder; Paul DeJohn, Bob Bald, younger brother of Ralph, and Paul Wick.

Twenty-seven entrants, most of them leading performers of the district, await the gun in the Stanton Heights conclave. Included on the seeded list are eight of Western Pennsylvania's first 10 luminaries, Dr. Dave and Dr. John O'Loughlin, of the P. A. A., topping the list, and being followed by Western Maryland Champion Frank Broida, Elgewooder Frank Smith, former Northwest Penn Champion Paul Barber, Stantonians George Henderson and Russ Unger, ex-Princeton Ace Charley Lockhart.

The turney will run over Memorial Day and will probably end on Sunday, with time out Saturday for P. T. A. Inter-Club League competition.

DUKES STILL GOING

Pitt and Carnegie Tech already have terminated their varsity net campaigns, though the Panthers will send Capt. Nat Ganger to the National Intercollegiate Championships at the Merion Cricket Club, near Philadelphia, next month. The Pittites have collected both the city and the tri-state mythical diadems, their lone setback of the season having come at the hands of Navy at Annapolis.

Only the Dukes are left active in the home college realm. Two regular tussles remain on the Red and Blue card, Waynesburg coming here tomorrow and the Bluffites traveling to Morgantown to meet West Virginia on Saturday.

HEIDELBERG AHEAD

The Heidelberg soccer eleven defeated Gallatin, 6 to 2, in a Keystone League game at Gallatin yesterday. The lineup:

GALLATIN.		HEIDELBERG.

Green Nearer Ted Yarosz Bout If He Beats Pilc

Local Middleweight In Windup at Hickey Park

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

The attention of the local boxing fans tonight will be divided between the Jimmy McLarnin-Barney Ross welterweight championship fight in New York and the Anson Green-Johnny Pilc battle at Hickey Park, Millvale. Many of the district followers of boxing will be in New York for the titular match.

The Millvale battle will be a further test of the fitness of Green, destructive Negro middleweight puncher, of Homestead, who still hopes for a match with Teddy Yarosz, on whom Vince Dundee, the champion, has done a runout to the extent that his manager refuses to let him box Teddy with the title at stake at Forbes Field this summer, since Teddy has beaten Dundee twice already in non-title matches, or bouts fought before Vince acquired the crown.

MAY GET YAROSZ BOUT

Considerable agitation was raised recently about a Yarosz-Green bout, but it was generally felt unwise to make it at the time in view of the fact that Green had yet to be tested in main bout fire, while Yarosz already was accepted as the uncrowned champion of the class. Since then, Green has fought a creditable battle with Ben Jeby, a former champion, at Motor Square Garden, and the Pilc bout tonight will give him additional experience, since Pilc, while not regarded as a first rank contender, is a rugged veteran, who has fought some of the stars, including Jeby. With this and possibly another bout or two under his belt, Green may yet get a match with Yarosz here during the outdoor season.

Meanwhile Yarosz and his manager and Promoter Lew Raymond are awaiting word from Jeff Dickson in Paris anent a bout between Teddy and Marcel Thil, of France, the European champion, an offer for which was cabled last week.

FANS DISAGREE

Not in years has there been such a difference of opinion regarding the outcome of a championship bout as there is over the McLarnin-Ross affair. The McLarnin shouters can see nothing but a speedy knockout victory for their man, while the Ross adherents figure McLarnin is ready to be taken and Ross has the ability to take him. A jammed Madison Square Garden Bowl in Long Island City, where, two weeks hence, Primo Carnera defends his world heavyweight mantle against Max Baer, is assured.

Johnny Durso and Harry Weekly, lightweights, box the six-round semi-final tonight, and there will be three five-rounders, as follows:

Al Quaill vs. Kid Barry, middleweights; Ralph Gizzy vs. Johnny Birek, lightweights, and Carl Montebano vs. Casey Rhodes, light-heavies.

AMATEUR SHOW CARDED

Johnny Geidl and Johnny Thomas headline a card of amateur bouts at the Stowe Township High School grounds tonight, under the auspices of the West Park Independent Fire Company. Chuck Mullins, Sammy Paris and Mike Bazzone take part in professional bouts at Bellaire, O.

BETWEEN ROUNDS

Eddie Coal boxes Johnny Jadick and Ken Overlin meets Jimmy Smith in two 10-round bouts featuring the opening of the outdoor season at the Frankford Legion Stadium, Philadelphia, June 18. Cool holds a decision over Jadick.

The state light-heavyweight title still is up in the air as a result of the 15-round draw fought by Danny Hassett and Billy Ketchel for the laurels in Philadelphia last Friday night.

Scilly Dukelsky, who fought a draw with Billy Holt at Hickey Park here last week, meets Young Stuhley for the third time in six weeks in Chicago tomorrow night. Stuhley won the first meeting and Dukelsky the second.

Philadelphia promoters are trying to make a Vince Dundee-Jimmy Smith bout for the middleweight title.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Anson Green vs. Johnny Pilc, 10 rounds; Johnny Durso vs. Harry Weekly, 6 rounds and Al Quaill vs. Kid Barry, Ralph Gizzy vs. Johnny Birek and Carl Montebano vs. Casey Rhodes, 5 rounds each, Hickey Park, Millvale.

Outdoor amateur show, West Park Independent Fire Company, Stowe Township High School field.

Long Island City.

Jimmy McLarnin vs. Barney Ross (for world welterweight title), 15 rounds; Davy Day vs. Frankie Marchese and Vittorio Tamagini vs. Pete DeGrasse, 6 rounds each, and Frank Fullam vs. Joe Gorman, Tommy Romano vs. Jimmy Phillips, Carmen Knapp vs. Johnny Consiglio, Peter Mike vs. Tony Scarpati and Frankie Cinque vs. Jack Lowery, 4 rounds each, Madison Square Garden Bowl, Long Island City.

Eddie Ran vs. Mickey O'Shea, Meyer Grace vs. Puggy Weinert, 8 rounds each, Chicago.

Jimmy Brown vs. Carl Turner and Jimmy Jones vs. Leo Flowers, 10 rounds each, Columbus, O.

Mike Mitchell vs. Rosy Rosales, 10 rounds, and Chuck Mullins vs. Mike Bazzone and Sammy Paris vs. Clair Repole, 6 rounds each, Riverview Park, Bellaire, O.

Ben Jeby vs. Al Diamond, 10 rounds, Paterson, N. J.

Joe Lipps vs. Dewey Kimsey, 10 rounds, Charlotte, N. C.

Joe Knight vs. Tony Cancella, 10 rounds, Miami, Fla.

Manuel Castro vs. Woody Windham, 10 rounds, Houston, Tex.

Jimmy Buckler vs. Scotty Scottan and Charley Rudney vs. Ray Drake, 10 rounds each, Indianapolis.

Green's Foe

JOHNNY PILC

New York middleweight, who boxes Anson Green, of Homestead, in the 10-round main bout at Hickey Park tonight.

U. S. NETTERS SWEEP DAVIS CUP SERIES

WILMINGTON, Del., May 28.—(AP.)—The United States Davis Cup team made a clean sweep of its American zone tie with Canada by winning the final two singles matches on the turf courts of the Wilmington Country Club yesterday.

In the first match, Lester R. Stoefen, from Los Angeles, defeated Gilbert Nunns, captain of the Dominion forces, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Francis X. Shields, of New York, took the measure of Laird M. Watt, of Montreal, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

The victories give the United States team the right to meet Mexico in Baltimore this week.

CHILLYSAUCE

Dick Bartell's blast casting reflections on the sportsmanship of Floyd Vaughan will not be taken seriously either in Pittsburgh or around the National League wheel. The players, especially, will discount Dick's remarks. While everybody hopes the Phillies' great shortstopper is not hurt seriously, it is fairly well established that Richard does a lot of youthful popping off that should be taken with a grain of salt.

Arky Vaughan is very popular around the circuit for several reasons. His great hitting and running are recommendations that endear him to his clubmates and rivals and he is known as an athlete who does not speak out of turn. Arky will not allow any other player to take undue liberties with him, but he sustains the ordinary bumps of the sport without saying much in return.

Bartell mentions that Vaughan in throwing in the particular double-play attempt let loose of the rocket in a sidearm manner which, according to Richard, is not the style employed by Arky. But Dick also should know that Honus Wagner has been working on Vaughan with a view of getting him to get rid of the sphere in a manner befitting the occasion. For a long time, Arky used the overhand motion in practically all of his flings, but this style of hurling the ball is not effective when a runner is coming directly at you.

Daredevil Dick surely talks with authority on shortstopping and I can recall the story he told me involving his participation in the same sort of a play which caused the trouble in the game between the Pirates and Phillies. When Dick came out of high school he went into the copper country of the Northwest for a part of one season. Before he left his dad cautioned him against any off-color play, although the fond parent suggested that in case an opponent hit below the belt, Richard was to respond in a similar way. Listen to Dick:

"I was hardly in the league before I was warned about a certain tough gent who was bowling over the second-basemen and shortstops as he attempted to break up double plays. It was not long before he got me on one of these plays. I said nothing, but remembering my dad's advice I laid plans to get square with that gent.

"Some time later the same bird was on first and the next batter hit a double-play ball to second. I got the ball in a hurry and was out of the way before he had any time to do his favorite trick. In the meantime, I let fly for first base by throwing very close to his head. The ball was close enough and hard enough to give him a real scare and from that time on I had no more trouble; in fact the tough guy came around and gave me some pointers that helped me to advance."

The most notorious of the beanball twirlers do not have any desire to hit a batsman. They wish to make the hitter apprehensive enough to rob him of his effectiveness and thus take a chance at throwing the very questionable pitch, Burleigh Grimes has tossed his share of beanballs, yet Grimes says he has yet to hit any fellow intentionally. Quoth Burleigh:

"You will not hit a batter by throwing at his head. He will see the ball and get out of the way. In order to hit an opponent around the head you must aim at his shoulder so that when he dodges he may get struck. But nobody wishes to do that."

JANE SHARP LOSES

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 28.—(AP.)—Mrs. Penelope Anderson McBride, of Short Mills, yesterday eliminated Jane Sharp, of Pasadena, Cal., in the semi-final round of the women's eastern clay courts tennis championships, 3-6, 7-5, 7-5.

DONNELLI STAR AS U. S. SOCCER TEAM BOWS

ROME, May 28.—(AP.)—The United States' all-star team was summarily removed from the world soccer championships yesterday, thoroughly outplayed by Italy in a first-round match, 7-1.

Although play was constantly in American territory, the invaders held Italy scoreless for the first 18 minutes, but thereafter it was a procession of Italian goals. Italy led, 3-0, at half time, and, although Aldo (Buff) Donnelli, of Pittsburgh, netted the first goal in the second half to make the score 3-1, the Americans really had no chance against the fine team play of their rivals.

Donnelli, hero of America's victory over Mexico in a preliminary-round match on Thursday, otherwise was well checked by the tight Italian defense.

Echiavio and Orsi combined to score all Italy's goals, the former getting four and Orsi three. Only fine goal-tending by Julius Hjulian, of Chicago, kept the score as low as it was.

State Entries Win In Capital Shoot

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—Four Pennsylvania entries won places in the team matches of the first annual national capital small bore rifle tournament yesterday.

W. B. Woodring, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Marlin Kemmerer, Allentown, piled up a total of 793 out of a possible 800 score to finish second in the 50 and 100-yards matches. The winners, a Connecticut duo, had 794.

In the two-man team match at 200 yards, R. E. Louden, of Butler, Pa., paired with S. Tekulsky, New York, tied for third with a 192 score of a possible 200.

South Park Cards Full Sport Program

A track and field meet, two polo tilts and a program of light harness racing makes up the Memorial Day sports program to be offered, free to the public, at South County Park.

In the first polo tilt, South Park will meet Fox Chapel and in the second, North Hills will engage Midwood.

Billy Sunday, flying to the loft of J. Kerner, of the North Side Combine, turned in the best average for the 300-mile race staged by the Pittsburgh Racing Pigeon Concourse from Greenfield, Ind., yesterday. The bird's average was 1069.31.

Oyster Mary, A. C. Knuther bird, of the Troy Hill Club, was second with a mark of 1067.86.

Reception Planned For Lawson Little

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—(INS.)—An elaborate civic reception awaits Lawson Little, captain of the Stanford University golf team, upon his return here from Scotland, where he won the British Amateur title.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, among the first to cable congratulations to the new champion, is directing the plans for a gala welcome. Alfred Masters, Stanford graduate manager, and student leaders will be on hand to present Little with the big "S," a coveted athletic award, previously denied the new champion because golf is rated only a minor sport at Stanford.

Associated Press.

The slump of the New York Yankees had carried them today out of the lead for the first time since the end of April, while the consistent Cleveland Indians had replaced them at the head of the American League.

Leaving home with a four-and-one-half-game lead over the Indians, the Yanks began to slip both in hitting and pitching. One of their most dismal performances came yesterday, when they collected 10 hits and 11 walks off Buck Newsom and still dropped a 16-to-7 decision to the St. Louis Browns. It was the Yanks' eighth defeat in 11 games.

Cleveland came from behind to beat Philadelphia, 7 to 6, after the A's had scored five runs in the first. Sammy Hale's homer and Hal Trosky's triple in the fifth provided the winning runs. The triumph was the Indians' seventh in 10 home games.

Two other battles for places in the standing remained drawn as Detroit trimmed the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 2, and Washington outslugged Chicago, 9 to 6, with the aid of circuit swats by Buddy Myer and Joe Kuhel. The Tigers' victory enabled them to hold third place by a single percentage point over the Senators while Boston and Philadelphia remained tied for sixth.

The St. Louis Cardinals provided another of the almost-daily changes in the National League standing when Dizzy Dean led them to a 5 to 2, 10-inning victory over the Phillies that returned the Cards to second place. Dizzy not only pitched eight-hit ball, but hit a homer in the tenth to start the winning rally. Chicago's Cubs couldn't touch Huck Betts' pitching, were shut out at Boston, 5 to 0, and dropped a full game away from the lead and a half game behind St. Louis.

Pittsburgh's pace setters smashed Young Al Smith for four runs in the first inning when Gus Suhr hit the first of two homers, and went on to trounce the Giants, 7 to 3, behind the five-hit pitching of Red Lucas.

Van Mungo, Brooklyn's ace, limited the Reds to six blows to give the Dodgers a 5 to 0 decision.

SOFTBALLERS ON LAST LAP

By PHILIP GRABOWSKI

Softball Tournament Secretary

The race down the home stretch is under way in the filing of entries for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's amateur softball tournament.

Today marks the beginning of the final week to get into line. Entries close at midnight Friday, and there is certain to be a rush of softball teams, and teams which also play mushball, to get into line for the event.

At the same time the teams which already have entered will be busy filling in their team and individual registration cards, now in the mail.

Following are some of the entries made over the week-end:

First Ward Sporting Club, Canonsburg, C. Popovich, manager; Colonial A. C., Coverdale, W. T. Williams, manager; Tanoran, Natrona, William Lammay, manager; Gabriel Cycles, New Kensington, Sal Salvatose, manager; Calvary, East Liberty, H. Schaeffer, manager, and F. Christy, Hill District, Philip Albert, manager.

To enter your team simply clip an entry blank from the Sun-Telegraph and mail or bring it in to the sports department.

The Rex Club defeated the Jackson Club, 13 to 3, in a practice softball game yesterday afternoon. The winners registered three home runs, while the conquered team was able to score one. Both teams are entered in the Sun-Telegraph's tournament. They were playing softball for the first time and expressed delight over the speed of the game.

Miss Jacobs Wins In Tennis Tourney

PARIS, May 28.—(AP.)—The sole American survivor, but apparently undisturbed by her responsibility, Helen Jacobs, the United States women's titleholder, today advanced easily to the quarter-final round of the French hard court tennis championships. She defeated Mary Harwick, 18-year-old unranked English girl, 6-0, 6-1.

The American champion is paired against Lolette Payot, of Switzerland, in the next round.

The other quarter-finalists are Margaret Scriven, of England, the defending champion; Nancy Lyle and Katherine Stammers, both also from across the channel; Mme. Rene Mathieu, ranking Frenchwoman; Cilli Aussem, of Germany and Lucia Valerio, of Spain.

To the Sports Editor:

Anybody who thinks the Reds have been having trouble this year ought to have seen that picture by Ripley, who pictured that Sultan in Java who has 44 wives and 96 children. No matter how bad a fix one is in there always seems to be someone else in a worse pickle. The Reds have dropped a lot of tough ones and look out if they ever do get started. They tell me the Cincinnati fans don't think they ever will, but the boys around the circuit can't agree with that.

Davis Memorial Orator at Sharon

SHARON, Pa., May 28.—(AP.)—Back to Sharon, where he started life as a puddler in the steel mills, United States Senator James J. Davis will come Wednesday to deliver the Memorial Day address in Oakwood Cemetery.

Pennsylvania's junior Senator returns to his "old home town" as the guest of the United Rumanian Societies of the Shenango Valley, which will hold services in honor of Rumanian heroes of the Civil War.

Actor Found Robbed, Stabbed to Death

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 28.—(AP.)—John Forrest Stephenson, 31, a Shakespearean actor known to the stage as John Forrest, was found stabbed to death here early yesterday.

Found on a street corner in a residential section, the actor's body was practically stripped of clothing and a money belt ordinarily worn was missing.

DODGERS GET PITCHER

BROOKLYN, May 28.—(AP.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the purchase of Harry Smythe, left-handed pitcher, from the New York Yankees for an unnamed amount of cash. Smythe will report to Manager Casey Stengel within the next few days. Until he arrives the Dodgers will not release any of their present 23 players, the major league limit.

LUTHER SEEKS THIRD OAKLAND BEACH WIN

By TOM BIRKS

Staff Correspondent.

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., May 28.—Ted Luther, popular Valley heights Country Club pro, heads a contingent of Pittsburgh golfers in the Oakland Beach open tournament here today, seeking to annex his third crown. The tourney is scheduled for the Conneaut Lake course.

The event was inaugurated in 1921, when Fred Baroni was the Oakland Beach pro, Luther won the first affair and repeated the following year.

Luther has shown such a liking for the course that his fellow professionals are betting even money that he will win again, but with the seven boys headed for Merion on hand, it is going to be tough sledding.

John Manley, for many years pro at the Montour Heights Country Club, is at Oakland Beach this year. The layout is in great shape

The veteran Jock Graham and Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, led the field in the pro-amateur tourney played here yesterday, turning in a card of 32-35—67, one stroke better than that of Bob Shaver and Alez Shacoski, of Cleveland. Mike Onda and D. Governor, of Warren, O., finished third with 69. A total of 44 teams participated in the event. The scores of the Pittsburghers who played follow:

Jock Graham-Sam Parks, Jr., 67; Ernie Jacobs-Pat Sullivan, 72; Monty Onoretta-George Calhoun, 73; Charley Manning-Hugh Grant, 74; Bill Stocker-E. A. Eisenbeis, 74; Pat Hagen-Pete O'Hara, 74; Vincent Eldred-Joe Royston, Jr., 75; Toots Erath-W. L. Thunhurst, 75; Ted Luther-M. Canfield, 76; John Kaufman-M. Coombs, 76.

SINGLE GAME CARDED ON CITY LOOP

Beltzhoover and Mt. Oliver are booked for a promising City League clash at Mt. Oliver this evening, the contest featuring the somewhat light sandlot program for the district.

The rival managers, Sully Ross, of Mt. Oliver, and Bill Hite, of Beltzhoover, both are anxious to annex the decision in this contest. Both have been experimenting, with their eyes on the second-half race. This evening's fracas looms as a test for both lineups.

Ladies will be admitted free at Greenlee Field this evening as the Crawfords and Bachrach Giants wind up their local series. The contest is slated to get under way at 6 o'clock.

The Crawfords put the series on ice yesterday as they took both ends of a double bill, winning the first game, 8 to 2, and the second, 2 to 0. Playing in Philadelphia, the Homestead Grays nosed out the Philly stars, 4 to 3, in the first fray, but lost the second by the same count.

Dormont downed Mt. Oliver in a City League tussle at Dormont yesterday afternoon, 5 to 1, although they were outhit, 10 to 8. The Books defeated the McKeesport Duffs, 6 to 3, in a non-league tilt and the Ottie Cochrans won a close one from the Vaughans, 7 to 6, at Pleasant Valley.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY OF GREATER PITTSBURGH

FACTORY MAKES MODERN TYPE MATTRESS

Don't sit on the edge of the bed—is a universal cry—a serious offense in childhood. Somebody was always chasing you off the bed just when you were propped in the most comfortable position imaginable with one stocking on and the other ready to follow suit. And mother was always raving about folk who parked themselves on the edge of the bed and ruined the mattress through their carelessness. For the common run of mattress failed to make provision for the strain which a person's weight placed upon its edge.

Even today, unless you happen to be the fortunate possessor of a mattress which can truthfully lay claim to this feature, you have most likely fought down the impulse to cry out this warning to a guest failing to observe that ironclad household rule.

IDEAL PERCH

No one likes to scold, but good mattresses are expensive and the modern housewife, realizing their importance in the scheme of everyday living, endeavors to keep her bedding in the best of condition. Still, the edge of the bed does seem an ideal perch when you have just thrown back the bed covers, and there is no reason now why you should deprive yourself of this pleasure, fight this seemingly-inborn habit.

Miss Kay J. Walker, of the sales and advertising department of the Fort Pitt Bedding Company, manufacturer of the Sealy bedding here, said:

"You can sit on the edge of your bed to your heart's content, without the least fear of resultant damage, if your bed is equipped with an airway mattress.

"A peek inside this mattress would show you why this is possible. Long coiled wire springs, something on the order of those which assure the closing of your screen door, run through the center of the mattress and are attached to the special ventilator buttons on the side. These so-termed "tension" springs hold the sides of the mattress taut, 'give' when a weight rests on the edge of the bed, and go back into place immediately when the weight is removed. A few simple experiments with your door will initiate you into their workings. Merely another of those obvious things that are so tricky due to their very simplicity.

"You know the length of service you can obtain from a door spring. When you take into consideration the extra fine quality of wire used in the mattress tension spring, the number of these springs in each mattress, and the way in which they are placed, you will have a good idea of the many years of service which you can expect from the Airway. And this is only one of its many excellent qualities."

ADMIT AIR

Every one knows that musty disagreeable odors result where contact with fresh air is missing. This is especially true of items such as cotton, kapok, hair, et cetera, entering into mattress manufacture. Ventilation was introduced in mattresses some time ago by means of tiny outlets placed along the side, but these screened buttons, while they are capable of admitting air, fail to assure its passage throughout the mattress because the fresh air meets with resistance in the shape of springs, cotton, et cetera, the moment it tries to make its way into the mattress. The simple test of pressing down firmly on the average-type ventilated mattress, which will bring this air-resisting inner content into view, will prove the ineffectiveness of this method of ventilation.

The modern ventilation device, known as the airway button, provides for the use of the button in connection with an air channel, formed by the tension spring to which the button is attached on each side. This spring serves a double purpose—holding the sides of the mattress in perfect alignment and acting as an ideal air conductor.

CHEF RETURNS TO HOTEL HENRY

After an absence of 15 years, Chef Henry Hussar is again in charge of the kitchen at the Hotel Henry, planning special menus which include the favorite filet steaks and sea foods of his earlier reign.

When Chef Hussar first came to the Hotel Henry in 1903, it was only a few years old, so that it was he who established its reputation for fine foods. Included on the menus which he planned were dishes from all nations, for he had served his apprenticeship in the finest hotels on the continent, collecting knowledge of the favorite foods of each country.

In 1919 Hussar left the Henry to join his family in Florida, but returned to Pittsburgh in a few years to open the Penn-McKee Hotel in McKeesport. Now he is back at the Hotel Henry working with his old friend, George S. Lehner, the present manager, who also entered the hotel's service early in the 1900's.

Chief of the chef's staff of assistants are Miss Lillian M. Wilson, stewardess, and an entourage of five cooks who represent almost as many nationalities as his dishes.

Treasury to Buy Little Silver Abroad

By GEORGE H. SNYDER
Business Editor

THE UNITED STATES will be unlikely to buy much silver abroad if the proposed silver legislation is enacted int law.

This was intimated by Herman Oliphant, Treasury counsel, in his testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee. He declared that there is no possibility of silver remaining anywhere near 50 cents an ounce if the legislation is passed.

The bill would authorize purchase of silver at prices up to 50 cents an ounce. Silver has been selling currently in the vicinity of 45 cents a ounce.

Would Buy Only On Domestic Basis

THE PREDICTION is based on the belief that if the government should undertake the buying of silver on world markets on a scale necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill, the price would increase sharply. The conclusion naturally follows that the purchases will be confined almost entirely to this country.

To prevent speculators from taking advantage of the silver legislation, two provisions have been put into the bill. One would give the President power to regulate the silver market. The other would authorize him to require all holders of silver to deliver their metal to the government upon payment of just compensation.

In other words, the administration may, if it wishes, call in silver just as it called in gold.

To Limit World Price Effect

THE SILVER legislation of the United States apparently will influence the world price only to the extent of the 50-cent limit. It also will have the effect of preventing any rush of domestic prices beyond limit even if other factors push the world price higher.

To further guard against the competition of speculators against government purchases, the bill, as sponsored by the administration, would place a tax of 50 per cent on all speculative profits in silver. Thus, if speculators run the price of silver up, the government will at least have compensation in the form of revenue.

The probability that the purchases will be restricted principally to this country leads to the belief that the effect of the silver legislation will be slow and that it will not result in any sudden inflation.

STOCK PRICES PUSH SLOWLY HIGHER

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP.)—The stock market reached slowly for higher levels today and, while large scale operations were extremely scarce, the apparent upward trend impressed the analysts as a moderately bullish indicator.

Strength of grains may have aided the equity division, although this was based largely upon more serious drought reports. Wheat sputtered about the daily limit of 5 cents a bushel, and corn, oats, rye and barley were not far behind. Silver futures were barely steady and rubber turned a little heavy. Bonds were quiet. The dollar improved in foreign exchange markets.

Shares of du Pont, Case, Allied Chemical and American Beet Sugar preferred got up about 2 points each and gainers of around a point included International Harvester, Deere, Electric Auto-Lite, Santa Fe, New York Central, American Sugar Refining and McIntyre Porcupine. The motor group, with General Motors, Chrysler and Hudson, was little better than even. The alcohols, utilities and tobaccos were only slightly higher and the silver stocks, such as United States and American Smeltings, marked time.

Some buying in the sugar issues was attributed to further hopes for this list in the light of new quotas. Announcement of the offshore quotas was expected tomorrow. The rails did fairly well under the betterment of April earnings figures, and the agricultural section was believed to have reflected the sharp advance of grains.

With the leading markets closing Wednesday for the Memorial Day observances, brokerage opinion differed as to the possibility of a pickup in trading volume this week. The majority believed that slow, but relatively steady, progress might be witnessed if unexpected adverse developments do not appear.

Commission firms with foreign connections find that, for the moment, European interest in American securities is hardly lukewarm and that, during the past 10 days or so, some selling on balance has been in evidence.

The quieting down of the Toledo labor situation brought renewed hopes to Wall street that the strike problems which have been threatening the recovery movement may be solved through governmental mediation.

LOWER CABLES HURT COTTON

NEW YORK, May 28.—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 to 4 lower on disappointing Liverpool cables and generally favorable weather. July, 11.39; October, 11.60; December, 11.72; January, 11.77; March, 11.88; May, 11.98.

Trading continued quiet after the call, but there was some scattering liquidation and local selling which sent the market off to 11.57 for October, with active months generally showing net losses of about 5 to 8 points. At the end of the first half hour, October was ruling around 11.60 and December 11.70 or about 3 to 4 points net lower.

The market remained quiet but held generally steady today. Except for some further July liquidation there was very little selling in evidence, while the strength of the wheat market appeared to bring in some covering or scattered buying. October worked up to 11.65, and March to 11.90, making the market about 2 points higher to 2 points lower, but the bulges were not fully maintained. At midday October ruled around 11.63, with the general market net unchanged to 1 point lower.

LIVERPOOL, May 28.—Cotton—Receipts, 19,000 bales including 6,500 American. Spot quiet; prices 3 points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.77; good middling, 6.47; strict middling, 6.32; middling, 6.17; strict low middling, 6.02; low middling, 5.77; strict good ordinacy, 5.57; good ordinary, 5.27. Futures closed steady, May, 5.96; July, 5.97; October, 5.94; December, 5.92; January, 5.92.

Recovery Hurt by Congress

By B. C. FORBES

RELIEF felt by business over the impending adjournment of Congress is offset by violent labor troubles and threatened strikes on a very large scale.

Mr. Forbes

The latest developments in industry, in securities, in employment, in commodities, in trade reflect the prevailing uncertainty regarding the nearby outlook.

Unless Congress acts more reassuringly than is at the moment anticipated, irregularity may become rather pronounced during summer months.

ORDERS for steel have diminished seriously notwithstanding the announcements that a strike may be called throughout the whole industry by labor leaders. That attempts to bring about a "closed shop" will be vigorously resisted was proclaimed emphatically by the country's foremost steel executives. This prospect is inciting uneasiness in the business world.

DEALERS are cutting down their orders for automobiles, influenced by some falling off in sales and by a recession in optimism over the prospect for continuation of general economic recovery during coming months. Makers of high priced cars are finding that the modest allowances prescribed under the dealers' code for big traded-in cars are injuring their business.

Labor troubles, actual and feared, are rife also in the automotive industry, notwithstanding the claims of employers that the purchasing power of their workers' wages is higher today than ever before.

NO LIFE has yet returned to the far reaching building industry. The cost of material and labor is a restrictive factor. Existing homes and other buildings usually can be bought for less than the cost of erecting new structures.

Public expenditures, however, are expanding and may infuse some degree of activity into the construction industry during the second half of the year.

The drought has lifted some farm prices but can hardly be interpreted as a national blessing.

The stock market has descended into the doldrums. Not only have quotations sagged until quoted values have shriveled billions, but dealings have dwindled inordinately. Few if any heavyweight operators are active, particularly on the constructive side. And small investors also appear unwilling to buy pending the final action of Congress on the legislation to "regulate" stock exchanges and corporations and pending modification of other uncertainties.

Bonds, on the other hand are faring better—because they naturally are viewed as safer.

THE EXISTING CURRENT TIMIDITY is revealed most conspicuously by the demand for government obligations. Banks have laid in more extensive holdings than ever before in their history, many other institutions are putting most of their funds into these obligations, as also are not a few wealthy individuals who have in mind both safety and relief from income taxation.

The financial world cannot understand why the Treasury Department is not availing itself of the present phenomenal opportunity to confer a generous part of its short term debt into long term bonds. The government is faced with maturities totaling $4,615,000,000 in the next 12 months. Bank reserves may not always stay at their today's record breaking peak, $1,700,000,000. Nor are interest rates in the financial metropolis certain to remain as low as they are at this moment—1 per cent. For day-to-day loans, three-quarters to 1 per cent. For long term loans, with correspondingly easier terms for bankers' acceptances.

Last week the Treasury disposed of 91-day bills at the average rate of 0.06 per cent per annum, a fantastic figure.

The financial, industrial and business world have learned that the time to raise money is when the rates are attractive. The government can hardly hope to experience more attractive borrowing terms than those now ruling.

IF CONGRESS adjourns, as Washington predicts, by the middle of June, without passing too much disturbing legislation—prospects may thereby brighten, the more so if President Roosevelt decides to take a long rest, and to give the country a rest from fresh experiments.

Investment Bankers Assessed for Code

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP.)—All investment banking houses in the country have been placed under a mandatory requirement to pay from $25 to $300 for the administration of their code of fair competition.

NRA's act listed the investment bankers as one of the first code groups in which financial support of the Code Authority is a compliance condition. Firms which refuse to pay may have their Blue Eagle removed and also become subject to prosecution for code violation.

WARNS SOUTH ON COTTON

International News Service.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 28.—The cotton-producing South including Oklahoma, was warned today that it is approaching "the gravest crisis of the depression" in an address by D. P. Trent, assistant director in commodities in the AAA.

Citing the conflicting reports as to cotton acreage planted the past six weeks, Trent said:

"I would not hazard a prediction as to the amount of this new acreage but I will say I have heard reports that the total planted acreage ranges from 28,000,000 acres to 35,000,000 acres. Probably the truth is somewhere between these two."

He recalled that the intended cotton crop this year, through government curtailment, was to have been not over 25,000,000 acres, and that the Bankhead bill aimed at a 10,000,000 acre crop.

Women Hold 19% Of Plate Glass

There were 5,081 stockholders of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at the end of the first quarter of this year. Of the total, 42 per cent, or 2,122, were women, who owned 19 per cent of the total number of shares outstanding, and 45 per cent were men, who owned 25 per cent of the outstanding stock. Trust companies and estates own 49 per cent of the stock, of which the largest single stockholding interest is that of the Pitcairn Company of Philadelphia, which owns approximately 33⅓ per cent of the total shares outstanding. The Pitcairn Company manages the affairs and the investments of the estate of the late John Pitcairn, formerly chairman of the board of the company.

Loan Bill Seen Aiding Retail Merchants

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The possibility of action shortly on the administration's direct loan to industry bill, making it possible for small businessmen to obtain the credit facilities which many are not now in a position to obtain through regular banking channels, has again revived the hope of that section of the retail trade which admittedly stands in need of credit.

While major executives in the retail field and heads of national retail organizations are inclined to be non-committal about the question of direct governmental aid to the retail trade, due to the controversy among some groups, others point out that if banks, railroads and others have been helped freely by the use of government funds, then certainly the small or large retailer, who constitutes the backbone of the nation's channel of distribution, is entitled to and should receive financial aid.

While the question has been argued for some time, and some outstanding members of the trade have espoused the cause, it had remained more or less of a theoretical queston until recently when the textile trade, through the Textile Industry Mortgage Corporation, obtained such aid for textile firms, and the legislation in Congress for direct aid to small firms received renewed impetus through the backing of the administration.

While the argument of those who had been opposed to such aid had consistently been that such aid would only prolong the existence of inefficient, high overhead and profitless stores, a recent study by one credit executive would appear to refute such claims. He pointed out that there has been a decrease of nearly a half million units in the retail field during the past four years of depression, and those that have survived have been forced to readjust their financial structure to present economic conditions.

It was pointed out in several studies that a number of stores have been forced to carry their customers through hard times. As a result, it is estimated that "frozen" accounts on retailers' books exceed $80,000,000, much of which will eventually be collectible when some semblance of normalcy returns to the consuming public.

Neither frozen accounts nor excess inventories constitute acceptable collateral as a rule for credit accommodation through regular banking channels. The only hope for many, it was stated, lies in obtaining direct governmental aid, the same as has been extended to other forms of industry.

BUSINESS GOES ON DESPITE NEW DEAL

By LEWIS HANEY,
Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, May 28.—The stock market closed last week about where it began. Weakness in steel issues, and the failure of silver issues to respond to the proposed "broadening of the monetary base," were notable features. But when all is said, the most striking fact was the extreme dullness of the market and the low volume.

Only 3,184,000 shares changed hands all week. Not so long ago this would have been considered a fair day's volume. It compares with 22,741,000 shares traded during the same week a year ago.

Considering the news of the week, this dullness is probably the outstanding fact. What with the drought, strikes, money tinkering and stock exchange regulation bill—to say nothing of the curtailment of textiles, automobiles and steel—one might well have expected more weakness and selling pressure. But the market merely turned dead.

Thus the long gradual decline in April

The Thin Man

By DASHIELL HAMMETT

"I think you got the boy wrong," Studsy said. "I knew the dame. She used to come in here with him sometimes. They was just playing. He wasn't nuts enough about her that he'd have any reason for weighting her down like that. On the level."

"Was she on the stuff, too?"

"I don't know. I seen her take it sometimes, but maybe she was just being sociable, taking a shot because he did."

"Who else did she play around with?"

"Nobody I know," Studsy replied indifferently. "There was a hat named Hunheim used to come in here that was on the make for her, but he didn't get nowhere that I could see."

"So that's where Morelli got my address."

"Don't be silly. All Morelli'd want of him would be a crack at him. What's it to him telling the police Morelli knew the dame? A friend of yours?"

I thought it over and said: "I don't know him. I hear he does chores for the police now and then."

"m-m-m. Thanks.

"Thanks for what? I haven't said anything."

"Fair enough. Now you tell me something: What's all this fiddlededee about, huh? That guy Wynant killed her, didn't he?"

"A lot of people think so," I said, "but 50 bucks'll get you a hundred he didn't."

He shook his head. "I don't bet with you in your own racket"—his face brightened—"but I tell you what I will do and we can put some dough on it if you want. You know that time you copped me, I did lead with my right like I said, and I always wondered if you could do it again. Some time when you're feeling well I'd like—"

I laughed and said: "No, I'm all out of condition."

"I'm hog-fat myself," he insisted.

Leave Studsy

"Besides, that was a fluke; you were off balance and I was set."

"You're just trying to let me down easy," he said, and then more thoughtfully, "though I guess you did get the breaks at that. Well, if you won't—Here, let me fill your glasses."

Nora decided that she wanted to go home early and sober, so we left Studsy and his Pigiron Club at a little after eleven o'clock. He escorted us to a taxicab and shook our hands vigorously. "This has been a fine pleasure," he told us.

We said equally polite things and rode away.

Nora thought Studsy was marvelous. "Half his sentences I can't understand at all."

"He's all right."

"You didn't tell him you'd quit gum-shoeing."

"He'd've thought I was trying to put something over on him," I explained. "To a mugg like him, once a sleuth always a sleuth, and I'd rather lie to him than have him think I'm lying. Have you got a cigaret? He really trusts me, in a way."

"Were you telling the truth when you said Wynant didn't kill her?"

"I don't know. My guess is I was."

At the Normandie there was a telegram for me from Macaulay in Allentown:

"Man here is not Wynant and did not try to commit suicide."

Talks With Guild

I had a stenographer in the next morning and got rid of most of the mail that had been accumulating; had a telephone conversation with our lawyer in San Francisco—we were trying to keep one of the mill's customers from being thrown into bankruptcy; spent an hour going over a plan we had for lowering our state taxes; was altogether the busy businessman, and felt pretty virtuous by 2 o'clock, when I knocked off work for the day and went out to lunch with Nora.

She had a date to play bridge after lunch. I went down to see Guild: I had talked to him on the telephone earlier in the day.

"So it was a false alarm?" I said after we had shaken hands and made ourselves comfortable in chairs.

"That's what it was. He wasn't any more Wynant than I am. You know how it is: we told the Philly police he'd sent a wire from there and broadcasted his description, and for the next week anybody that's skinny and maybe got whiskers is Wynant to half of the state of Pennsylvania. This was a fellow named Barlow, a carpenter out of work, as near as we can figure out, that got shot by a man trying to stick him up. He can't talk much yet."

"He couldn't've been shot by somebody who made the same mistake the Allentown police did?" I asked.

"You mean thought he was Wynant? I guess that could be—if it helps any. Does it?"

I said I didn't know. "Did Macaulay tell you about the letter he got from Wynant?"

Discuss Roseben

"He didn't tell me what was in it."

I told him. I told him what I knew about Roseben.

He said: "Now, that's interesting."

I told him about the letter Wynant had sent his sister.

He said: "He writes a lot of people, don't he?"

"I thought of that." I told him Victor Roseben's description with a few easy changes would fit Christian Jorgensen.

He said: "It don't hurt any to listen to a man like you. Don't let me stop you."

I told him that was the crop.

He rocked back in his chair and screwed his pale gray eyes up at the ceiling. "There's some work to be done there," he said presently.

"Was this fellow in Allentown shot with a .32?" I asked.

Guild stared curiously at me for a moment, then shook his head. "A .44. You got something on your mind?"

"No. Just chasing the set-up around in my head."

He said, "I know what that is," and leaned back to look at the ceiling some more. When he spoke again it was as if he was thinking of something else. "That alibi of Macaulay's you was asking about is all right. He was late for a date then and we know for a fact he was in a fellow's office named Hermann on Fifty-seventh street from five minutes after three till twenty after, the time that counts."

"What's the five minutes after three?"

Time Narrowed

"That's right, you don't know about that. Well, we found a fellow named Caress with a cleaning and dyeing place on First avenue that called her up at five minutes after 3 to ask her if she had any work for him, and she said no and told him she was liable to go away. So that narrows the time down to from 3:05 to 3:20. You ain't really suspicious of Macaulay?"

"I'm suspicious of everybody," I said. "Where were you between 3:05 and 3:20?"

He laughed. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I'm just about the only one of the lot that ain't got an alibi. I was at the moving pictures."

"The rest of them have?"

He wagged his head up and down. "Jorgensen left his place with Mrs. Jorgensen—that was about five minutes to 3—and sneaked over on West Seventy-third street to see a girl named Olga Fenton—we promised not to tell his wife—and stayed there until about 5. We know what Mrs. Jorgensen did. The daughter was dressing when they left and she took a taxi at a quarter past and went straight to Bergdorf-Goodman's. The son was in the Public Library all afternoon—he reads funny books. Morelli was in a joint over in the Forties." He laughed. "And where was you?"

"I'm saving mine till I really need it. None of those look too air-tight, but legitimate alibis seldom do. How about Nunheim?"

Guild seemed surprised. "What makes you think of him?"

"I hear he had a yen for the girl."

"And where'd you hear it?"

"I heard it."

He scowled. "Would you say it was reliable?"

"Yes."

No Candidate

"Well," he said slowly, "he's one guy we can check up on. But look here, what do you care about these people? Don't you think Wynant done it?"

I gave him the same odds I had given Studsy: "Twenty-five'll get you fifty he didn't."

He scowled at me over that for a long silent moment, then said: "That's an idea, anyways. Who's your candidate?"

"I haven't got that far yet. Understand, I don't know anything. I'm not saying Wynant didn't do it. I'm just saying everything doesn't point to him."

"And saying it two to one. What don't point at him?"

"Call it a hunch, if you want," I said, "but—"

"I don't want to call it anything," he said. "I think you're a smart detective. I want to listen to what you got to say."

"Mostly I've got questions to say. For instance, how long was it from the time the elevator boy let Mrs. Jorgensen off at the Wolf girl's floor until she rang for him and said she heard groans?"

Guild pursed his lips, opened them to ask, "You think she might've?" and left the rest of the question hanging in the air.

"I think she might've. I'd like to know where Nunheim was. I'd like to know the answers to the questions in Wynant's letter. I'd like to know where the four-thousand dollar difference between what Macaulay gave the girl and what she seems to have given Wynant went. I'd like to know where her engagement ring came from."

Synopsis

Nick Charles, noted detective, who tells the story of "The Thin Man," and Nick's wife, Nora, meet Dorothy Wynant, daughter of a former client, in a speakeasy. Dorothy asks where her father is and Nick refers her to Herbert Macaulay, Wynant's attorney. Macaulay, calls on Nick and tells him Mimi, Wynant's divorced wife, is hunting him.

Next day Nick reads of the murder of Julia Wolf, Wynant's secretary. Mimi found the body when she went to get Wynant's address.

While a Mr. Norman is telephoning to Nick a loud report as of a shot is heard and his words end abruptly.

It is learned Julia was a former sweetheart of a racketeer.

Dorothy appears at Nick's apartment and flashes a gun which she says she got in a speakeasy. She is drunk and Nora puts her to bed. Morelli, a gangster, is suspected in Julia's murder.

Nick is shot by Morelli. Police find Dorothy's automatic in Nick's apartment. Dorothy, beaten by Mimi, seeks shelter at Nick's, and tells new story about gun. Nick and Nora visit Jorgensens', but leave suddenly. Julia served time for working badger game, Guild tells Nick. Wynant's letter urges Nick hunt slayer. Nick gives Gilbert story on cannibalism. Nick talks with Studsy.

Now go on with Charles' narrative.

WAR WITH ENGLAND—SURRENDER OF DETROIT—CAPTURE OF GUERRIERE

Congress declared war on Great Britain in 1812. Gen. Hull was to invade Canada. He not only failed, but surrendered Detroit August 16 (above left). Other attempts ended similarly.

In contrast to defeats on land, the U. S. Navy scored victories. The U. S. frigate Constitution, Capt. Hull, subdued the British Guerriere, Capt. Dacres, August 19 (above right); under command of Capt. Bainbridge, "Old Ironsides" seized the Java.

The frigate United States, Capt. Porter, forced the Macedonia to surrender December 25.

The land campaign of 1813 followed three lines (see map below): North (in region of Lake Champlain), U. S. Gen. Hampton commanded; center (Niagara and Lake Ontario), was headed by Gen. Dearborn, commander in chief; West (Lake Erie, Detroit, etc.), was led by Gen. Winchester, soon replaced by able Gen. Harrison.

Winchester suffered defeat at Frenchtown, Jan. 22. British attacks on Forts Meigs and Stephenson (Fremont) were repulsed by Gen. Harrison.

Gen. Dearborn captured York (Toronto, April 27, 1813). Gen. Wilkinson, succeeding Dearborn, aimed to strike at Montreal jointly with Gen. Hampton; the ensuing campaign was a draw.

Meanwhile Com. O. H. Perry captured a British fleet on Lake Erie (Sept. 10), enabling the army of Gen. Harrison to advance into Canada.

Some outstanding engagements on the sea in 1813: Capt. James Lawrence, commanding the Hornet, captured the British Peacock in February; commanding the Chesapeake, he was mortally wounded in battle with the Shannon in June. (United States History)

DUTY BEFORE LIFE—DEATH OF CAPT. LAWRENCE

Capt. James Lawrence commanded the U. S. frigate Chesapeake in June, 1813. Sailing along the New England coast, he sighted the British warship Shannon. Though his ship was inferior to the Shannon, he gave battle, true to his duty. Mortally wounded, his last command was: "Don't give up the ship." Heroic words sealing a heroic deed. If the choice is between duty and life, heroes always choose duty. Many such noble characters made the supreme sacrifice on battlefields to preserve country and liberty for us. Memorial Day (May 30) is dedicated to their memory. (Character Building) (89 III 8)

AUTOGIRO IN FLIGHT

KING ALFRED IN THE MONASTERY SCHOOL

King Alfred of the West Saxons (871-901), scholar, educator and lawgiver, warred continuously against Danes, Swedes and Norwegians, still barbaric Teuton tribes. These tribes raided the western coast of Europe, the last great migration of the Teutonic race. They discovered Iceland, Greenland, visited even North America (Vikings). Rollo, a chieftain of the Northmen, established himself in today's Normandy (911), embracing Christianity. His successors were destined to rule England. (World History)

INSECTS, MAN'S CHIEF COMPETITORS

Insects, a class of the jointed leggers (arthropoda, 12th phylum) comprise about 600,000 species, including grass-hoppers, beetles, bugs, ants, roaches, lice, flies, moths, butterflies, etc.

They have hard skin (exoskeleton), which is split off (molted) to grow in the new soft skin until that hardens. Shape changes generally from molt to molt (larva, pupa, adult) called indirect metamorphosis. If shape is similar, the metamorphosis is direct. Insects destroy plants, carry disease. Some are beneficial doing scavenger work, distributing pollen, giving silk, honey, shellack, etc.

Above: Indirect metamorphosis of horsefly. (Gen. Science)

Class	Legs	Body Regions	Antennae	Breathing Organs
Crustacea	Many	Cephalothorax, abdomen	Two pairs	Gills
Myriapoda	Many	Head, trunk	One pair	Tracheal system

AUTOGIRO OR WINDMILL PLANE—INVENTION OF CIERVA

It is an airplane with small, fixed wings and a four-bladed rotor (the windmill) of great diameter, which rotates freely around the nearly vertical axis by the resistance of displaced air. The rotor blades have aerofoil sections and are hinged so they adjust themselves automatically, equalizing lift, the greater part of which they furnish. The autogiro stays in the air at less than half speed (about 23 miles an hour) than the ordinary airplane (with only fixed wings). It is "spin" "stall"-proof, can land, take off almost any place.

Songs Without Words

The spectacle of a little lady of the stage claiming to be the creator of boop-boop-a-boop is nothing unusual.

She says they are stealing her childish thunder. And that expression dates back further than coffee. It goes right through the book to Shakespeare's time.

Twenty years ago, an old minstrel man listened to a new arrival in vaudeville. Leaving the theater sadly he said: "They are copping poor old Eddie's wa-wa-was."

We don't know the difference between a wa-wa and a boop.

If there is any, it is certainly not mental.

Either one could be the philosophical remark of a middle-aged oyster opening his shell to take a look around, and finding the water deeper than he thought.

No special theatrical training is essential to the operatic and technical rendering of a wa or a boop.

Either one might result from an impediment in the vocabulary.

Setting them to music does not improve their value to science, dramatics or the world of melody.

It is difficult to visualize Toscanini with his baton poised in air, turning to the guest artist, and saying, "Do you want my philharmonic orchestra to wa or boop?"

We would just as soon have them take snuff and sneeze the complicated score.

There is neither finesse nor services unique in the yearning rendition of a wa-wa. There is nothing in the ripple of a boop-a-boop that cannot be duplicated by smacking a ripe pumpkin twice with a bed slat.

If that's all you require for a career, we are going back on the stage. We've got more than that and we were stopped by the Northwest Mounted Police. Before they got their first man they practiced on us.

Actors, dramatists and critics who are deploring the evaporation of the speaking stage might ponder on wa-wa and boop-a-boop.

If that is speaking, then that is what happened to the speaking stage.

ODD FACTS

Men who are found in Russians street suffering from intoxication are taken to "sobering institutions," where they are bathed, put to bed, and otherwise tended. No punishment is imposed until it is proved that drunkenness is becoming habitual in anyone.

Polar flowers seldom have any perfume. The colors of these boreal blossoms are generally of the cold tints, as if in harmony with their chilly surroundings. White and light yellow predominate.

The peculiar heavy leather hats worn by the fish-porters in Billingsgate market, London, weigh between five and 6 pounds each and cost approximately $7. It takes 14 hours' work to make a hat, as each one contains hundreds of nails.

The Royal Scots is the oldest British regiment, being formed 300 years ago by a royal warrant signed by King Charles. It claims 99 battle honors.

Human hairs are stated to have an average life of between four and five years each.

The Munitions Evil

The Commercial Desire to Stimulate the Demand For Arms Incites to War.

President Roosevelt's message to the Senate on the subject of munitions was timely and admirable.

Expressing his gratification at the appointment by the Senate of a committee to investigate the private manufacture of arms and munitions of war, and the international traffic therein, he bespoke the generous support of the Senate for this committee, at the same time pledging all the aid which the executive departments of the government can render to its investigation.

The PROBLEMS growing out of the private manufacture of munitions and the international traffic in arms are MANY and SINISTER.

The commercial urge to extend the use and stimulate the demand for the output of the munition factories of the world has been demonstrated to be an ACTUAL and PROXIMATE (not remote and indirect) INCITEMENT TO WAR.

To suffer this traffic to continue without supervision and regulation is to connive at all its consequences.

A potential cause of war is thus permitted to operate without check, while the nations of the world rack their brains and exhaust their energies to reduce and, so far as possible, eliminate the occasions of war.

President Roosevelt is right in describing the private and uncontrolled manufacture of arms and munitions as "a serious source of international discord and strife."

He is also right in asserting that the effective control of such an evil cannot be achieved by the isolated action of any one nation.

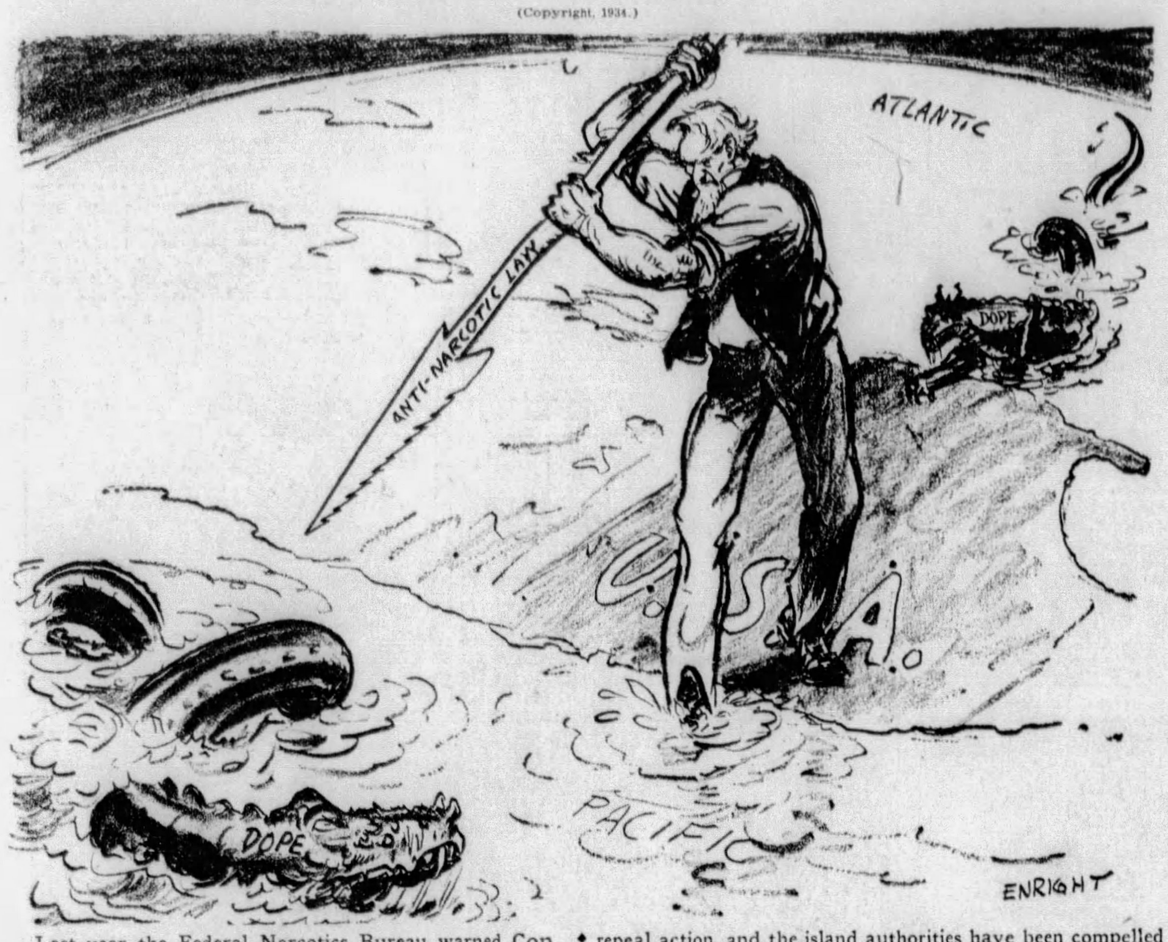
Specifically asking the Senate to consent to the ratification of the convention signed at Geneva in 1925, for the "supervision of the international trade in arms and ammunition and in implements of war," he expresses the hope that at the Geneva meeting scheduled for May 29, the nations there assembled will agree upon a more far-reaching convention for the supervision of the traffic in arms than the 1925 convention.

The United States should heed President Roosevelt's appeal that the American people give a concrete indication of their willingness "to make their contribution toward the suppression of these abuses, which may have disastrous results for the entire world if permitted to continue unchecked."

It is inconceivable that the appeal should pass unheeded!

From the East as Well as the West

(Copyright, 1934.)



Last year the Federal Narcotics Bureau warned Congress and the country that smuggled "dope" from Asia had become a grave problem on the Pacific Coast.

In violation of international agreements, Manchukuo and Jehol had been made new centers of the nefarious narcotics trade.

That was bad enough. But now, it appears, our eastern and our southern frontiers are also threatened by new invasions of contraband, habit-forming drugs.

On the Atlantic littoral, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon are the latest headquarters of the traffic. According to a report made to the League of Nations Opium Advisory Committee by Louis Bourgois, the French member, rum-runners in the two northerly isles, experienced at smuggling practices, have turned from liquor to "dope" since our repeal action, and the island authorities have been compelled to take restrictive measures.

Obviously, with such plain notice, the Federal Government must also take adequate measures to protect our Atlantic cities.

Moreover, we must evidently strengthen our defense in still another direction—on the south. Stuart Fuller, our State Department representative at Geneva, has voiced official "suspicion" that narcotics smuggling into this country has been organized in Latin America despite the anti-narcotics campaign instituted by friendly Mexico.

In sum, the narcotics menace is far from conquered.

And Government—National, State and local—must exercise the utmost vigilance to check the triple invasion and stamp out the soul-destroying narcotics vices.

The Passion Play at Oberammergau Is Much the Same as When First Produced 300 Years Ago

By Edwin C. Hill

GERMANY has changed violently and often in the last 15 years from Hohenzollern to the republic and finally to Hitler, but the Passion Play of Oberammergau embarks on its tercentenary very much the same as it has been since the Benedictine monks wrote the text.

The rest of the world rolls by this fairy village of the Bavarian Alps, stopping but once every 10 years to look in upon it while 1,200 of its 2,000 men, women and children re-enact the life of the Nazarene, from Gethsemane to Golgotha.

The origin of the play dates with the year 1633, when the Black Plague left its mark on almost every doorstep in Europe, save, so the legend says, Oberammergau. In thanksgiving for their deliverance, the villagers pledged themselves every 10 years to portray the story of the passion. The pledge has been kept and in time it has brought to Oberammergau contentment and wealth.

From the start, it attracted attention, first of the nearby villages, then of Germany and then of the world. Music was introduced in 1814, composed by the village schoolmaster, Richus Dedlar. The turn of the present century saw it raised to an international event through the writings and praise of journalists such as William T. Stead. The world had discovered Oberammergau, whereupon Oberammergau in 1900 built a great theater in a natural, open-air setting and with more than 5,000 seats.

The village has kept its rare, medieval charm and the villagers their piety and simplicity. Peter, Caiphas, Pilate, Mary, and The Christus walk through the spotless streets in native costume, or sit at their benches with their wood carvings and pottery when they are not at the theater. The village itself is worth the journey, being as it is, one of those elfin-like places peculiar to the highlands of Germany and to Switzerland, with the picturesque houses and their frescoed walls and window boxes.

This year the play runs from May 21 to September 16, given at intervals determined, no doubt, by the attendance and the influx of tourists. The special production in 1930, which by the way broke the 10-year chain, ran for 80 performances, a high-water mark.

The play opens at 8 o'clock in the morning and continues until 12 when there is an intermission for two hours. Another four hours, from two until six, elapse before it is finished. Of the 1,200 players, as many as 600 at one time are on the stage during the larger scenes. The leading roles this year are Alois Lang as Jesus, which he portrays in a virile manner, and the lovely Anni Rutz as the Virgin Mary.

Perpendicular Drinking Resumed

BY legislative decree and the approval of His Excellency, the Governor of the State, perpendicular drinking will be renewed in New York on July 1, a fact which brings up a matter not without its interest. Indeed, repeal has been with us lo, these many months. But one misses something. Where, oh where, is "Sweet Adeline?"

Perhaps the restoration of perpendicular drinking will bring back that most famous of all vinous ballads. We await the event with the keen interest that attaches to all such social phenomena. For some 30 years, the flower of American manhood has been getting incandescent every once in a while and going out under the moonpine for "Sweet Adeline." Whether it was just a gentle little bun, or one of those souses which rises practically to the eyeballs, it called for "Sweet Adeline." Nothing else could soothe the troubled soul. Nothing else could relieve the overburdened heart.

"Sweet Adeline, for you I pine,
In all my dreams,
Your fair face beams,
You're the flower of my heart
Sweeeeeetttt Adddd-eee-liiiiine."

That ballad has kept more neighbors awake in the last 30 years than all the crying babies and back-fence cats. It has been warbled positively everywhere in these United States, except in the new Cathdral of St. John the Divine, the dentists' chair, the bottom of the Pacific Ocean and Campbell's undertaking parlors.

Often Heard At European Bars

DURING prohibition it was sobbed in Mucrice's bar, Paris, headquarters for the visiting firemen; Simpson's and Ye Olde Cheshire Cheese in London, and Alfredo's spaghetti dive in Rome.

And the funniest thing about it is that this old ditty which suggests a sweet, demure, old-fashioned girl with long skirts and 40 yards of fluffy petticoats under it—a girl who wouldn't say boo to a mouse—is the invariable, never-failing inspiration and solace of Sammy the Souse.

It made a mayor only a few years ago, that song. John F. Fitzgerald, of Boston, was elected and re-elected on a straight "Sweet Adeline" ticket, and when Boston won the world's series one year, the Mayor started proceedings by throwing his silk hat in the air and bursting into "Sweet Adeline."

Down in Baltimore, after they had nominated Woodrow Wilson and were lolling back in their chairs giving the raspberry to windjammers, who were putting Hoozis in nomination for Vice President, it was "Honey" Fitz, of Boston, who quieted the tumult by leaping to the platform, hurdling the chairman and leading 16,000 more or less deserving Democrats in the barber shop ballad that's much better known than "The Star Spangled Baner."

Dick Gerard and Harry Armstrong turned out "Adeline" when they were living in St. Luke's Place, where Mayor Jimmy once lived, and while Jimmy was writing that other deathless work, "Will You Love Me in December as You Did in May?"

The boys wrote their piece in Luke O'Connor's old-time saloon in Greenwich avenue, where John Masefield used to tend bar.

McNair's Other Side

The Good Sense That He Shows at Times Makes His Clowning All the Less Excusable.

Mayor W. N. McNair addressed a Rotary Club meeting at Glassport the other night. The editor of the Glassport Times drove with him to the meeting.

The editor was astonished, and so were the business and professional men at the meeting. They had been led by what they had read about Mr. McNair's actions as Mayor to expect a buffoon, and lo! the editor tells the world, in a long first-page article in his paper, "he gave one of the most scholarly and profound talks" that his audience ever heard.

Furthermore, the conversation of Mayor McNair, on his ride with the Glassport editor, the latter says, was marked at all times by good sense. He raises the question, accordingly, if Mayor McNair is not being misrepresented by the Pittsburgh papers.

This is a not uncommon experience. People meet the Mayor for the first time and come away from the meeting impressed with his intelligence and convinced that he has been done an injustice. Even those who come in frequent contact with him say it is hard to believe that the shrewd, keen-witted Mayor with whom they talk on one day is the same man who spoke and acted so foolishly the day before.

Mayor McNair's excessive and harmful clowning is all the harder to forgive because he has shown himself capable of sound judgment and rational behavior.

Abuse of Authority

A Philadelphia Judge Makes Another Charge Against Squires and Constables

Another charge is added by Judge Horace Stern of Philadelphia to the growing indictment of Pennsylvania's squire and constable system.

Judges James H. Gray and Elder W. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, expressed the opinion that many of the nearly 3,000 boys and young men who were summarily convicted of petty offenses and sentenced to jail by Allegheny County's squires last year were prosecuted solely for the sake of the costs that the constables would get out of the cases.

And now comes the statement of Judge Stern that some magistrates and constables have abused their authority by making themselves auxiliaries to "bluffing collection agencies." From the bench of Quarter Sessions Court this Philadelphia jurist declared that magistrates' offices had been used as an appendage for private business, and that it was a common practice for constables, without authorization, to issue summonses to help collection agencies squeeze money out of debtors.

For a claimant to sue a debtor is one thing, said Judge Stern; but when he is merely bluffing, magistrates and constables have no right to extend aid. To lend the authority and power of a public office to such a scheme, the Judge added, is "a serious and harmful violation."

He was talking of conditions in Philadelphia, but he might just as well have been talking of Allegheny County, for it is common talk that local squires and constables engage in practices of the same sort.

It is another argument for the abolition of this discredited system, a relic of oxcart days.

Instead of squires and constables, whose remuneration comes from fees, Pennsylvania should have a minor judiciary system in which the judges of petty courts would be persons learned in the law and paid regular salaries. One such court for every 50,000 of population probably would be sufficient.

Herron's New Position

The People Are Fortunate in Having the Former Mayor Again in Their Service

The appointment of ex-Mayor John S. Herron to the County Board of Viewers by the judges of the Common Pleas Court bears witness to the high esteem in which he is held, as well as to his ability.

Because of his talents and experience Mr. Herron should hold a high executive position in the public service.

But the people of Allegheny County are fortunate in having him serve them in any capacity.

CALIFORNIA DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—We saw the widely publicized Cecil B. De Mille in action today filming "Cleopatra." My wife's 82-year-old aunt, whose middle name is Cleopatra and whose husband's name was Anthony, sat on the black marble throne, photographed with De Mille on one side of the star, Joseph Schilkraut, on the other.

Great golden urns suffused their smoulders of incense and four peacocks, the beautiful lines of a quatrain, swept by in rythmic roll. The training of the peacocks for the intense heat of 75 giant lights that beat down upon the apron of the throne is a study in patience.

For two months they became inured to the blast by easy gradations. At first they screeched and darted away. But fineally they caught the idea and now stroll as nonchalantly as the hardened mime. The peacock, a natural feathery actor, loves to strut and is in element before the camera.

Afterwards lunching in the studio restaurant, Bing Crosby, Cary Grant, Genevieve Tobin, Jack Oakie, Mae West, and others drifted in, wearing their costumes of the day. Everybody seemed in mardi-gras mood and the queer assortment of raiment, of course, added the carnival touch. Studio life seems perpetual holiday.

Among innovations on the vacant street lots are midget auto race courses and pony ranches. In pint-sized, motor-propelled racing cars, men and women may attain a speed of 30 miles an hour. The ponies, moth-eaten Shetlands featuring the heaves, are for the children. All of my life I've wanted a Shetland somehow. All my life I have!

To watch a sunset at Santa Monica burn in watery prisms the scarlet splendor of the morning mad habicus — he's ululating again!—is an unforgettable emotion. The ocean for me is melancholy, forever booming lament in liquid bass. The Pacific's ceaseless and wordless proclamation might be exclaiming "A thousand years in His sight are but a day!" A cluck and sag roll back a lifetime. A big breaker suggests eternity.

Young girls out here (And how freshly vibrant they are!) wear gaudy cowboy shirts and hippy tight bell-bottomed trousers of silk and corduroy along streets without self consciosness. It is a standard of informal juvenile dress. All right for youngsters, but at Marlene's years ladies should be their age.

Hollywood was qui vive over Will Rogers' try at a legitimate stage role in "Ah, Wilderness!" He mecidined himself against a flop. He would, in that eventuality, close the show with a plea "the star suffered nervous fatigue." Anyone as jumpy as Bill is entitled to a fit of fatigue any time, any place in any language. But as it turned out, his version of the George Cohan part is a smash, an achievement that pleased Rogers more than any other in his varied career. He is like a boy with a new red top.

As the French have it: "The more it changes, the more it is the same thing." An evening seven years ago this month I dropped into a familiar haunt in Paris, having arrived by boat train a few hours earlier. At a table, ringed by many glasses, in a corner sat Floyd Gibbons, Basil Woon, Hank Wales and Jed Kiley. About the same hour last evening in this part of the world, I dropped into another familiar haunt and at a table in a corner sat Basil Woon, Hank Wales and Jed Riley. Only Gibbons was missing. So we sent a telegraphic round robin-bob-bob-bob-bin to him.

The English hunt breakfast is a popular Sunday diversion. I missed Miriam Hopkins' yesterday by late sleeping. She has Myron Selznick's villa in a Beverly arroyo, a morning-gloried dell that suggests hoopskirts, black mammies and pot likker. Studio folk, used to early rising, arrive on time, all merry and bright. Another sun-up survival is the Breakfast Club, in its 12th year, which at 8 a. m., has entertained all the visiting firemen of headline caliber. It is a Rotarian rigamarole of songs, gestures and funny sayings, but is different and good fun, At least once.

S'death - to - the-dastard melodrama Chris Morley once so popularized in Hoboken has taken firm root here. "The Drunkard;" also opened in New York, is in its second year here with no indication of folding. It has all the whispering asides of the ten-twent-thirt. And movie folks go for a lark and to drink the free beer. Irvin Cobb has been five times. Jesse Laskey and Hal Roach go every week.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

America—What Do You Know About It?
What Can You Do About It?

A little woman in North Carolina read that terrible book, "I WENT TO PIT COLLEGE."

She couldn't believe it! Such frightful things could not possibly be happening in HER AMERICA. Destitution and disease, hunger and hopelessness, lasting not "just through depression," but year after year, poisoning generation after genereation. Thousands of families—grandparents, children—born, living, dying, right here in America, with never a glimpse of American decency or comfort. Living worse than the most wretched African slaves lived.

It couldn't be! Maybe in China things like that happened, or in Russia—but in America, no!

She looked around at her cosy home, her quiet garden, the friendly street where happy mothers visited and healthy children played. This was America. This was the America she knew.

Yet that young girl, Lauren Gillfillan, had found another America—right at her back door. Not just a few acres of another America—one isolated group of miserable mine or factory workers—but thousands of miles of another America, which stretched from New York to California, from Michigan to Louisiana. Everywhere, in every state, millions and millions of people, living like that!

It couldn't be! She wouldn't believe it. Of course one reads horrid things. Tiresome things. All this excited talk about new codes. Company unions. This whole new deal. What was the use of it? Why did everyone get worked up like that? America was all right. These horrible things weren't true!

Yet, even as she said the words, even as she stepped to the window for comforting assurance, she knew they were true!

This pleasant, kindly little town wasn't America. There was another America, a grim, menacing America which she'd never seen. And that America hadn't existed "just since the market crash," "since the war." It had always existed. It had always been in the background—growing, growing—coming nearer, nearer.

And now nobody could hide it any longer! There it stood, huge and hungry and horrible, for all the world to see! And unless something was done about it—

But what could be done about it? What could she—one, unknown, helpless little woman in North Carolina—do about that Other America? She had no money, no power, no famous friends. She couldn't even "write a strong letter to her congressman." What could she do?

You've asked that, too, haven't you, reading of that Other America; realizing it—the shame and pity and menace of it—for the first time? What can YOU, "a nobody with nothing," DO ABOUT IT ALL? Anything? Yes! YOU CAN DO PLENTY!

First, you can admit that it exists. You can stop believing or broadcasting pretty platitudes and fairy tales about "My Country 'Tis of Thee." You can stop poohpoohing rumors that all is not well, and indignantly branding as traitors those who dare criticize or warn. You can put your pride in your pocket, and your platitudinous Fourth of July speech in the fire, and FACE THE TRUTH.

Second—Having faced the truth, you can FIND OUT WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT. You can stop passing up the front page news "because it's so full" and turning to the sports and funnies instead. You can stop yawning at news reels, crabbing at news broadcasts, and acting like a wet-nosed pup generally—and you can make yourself do some real serious studying and thinking and talking about this country of yours.

Then you'll know WHY we have "home loans" and "farm commissions" and CCC boys camping back in the hills. And the whyfore of several other innovations that have been getting in your hair.

And after that?

AFTER THAT YOU CAN PROCEED TO BE A REAL AMERICAN AND OF SOME REAL WORTH TO AMERICA.

Aren't you, at present?

Answer that for yourself.

Suppose you hired a carpenter who didn't know any more about houses than you know about your country—what would you think he was worth?

MARRY-GO-ROUND

De-Frosting Love

It is an awful surprise to the average man to discover how "awful" he is, when he hears his wife's lawyer describing him in court.

* * *

The more a man thinks about love and women, the more he imagines that he has reduced his vast ignorance of feminine psychology to a science.

A woman always keeps a warm corner in her heart for every man she has once thought she loved; but to a man, nothing is so completely refrigerated, beyond the point of de-frosting, as day before yesterday's heart-throbs.

* * *

Men like to think of themselves as "gay deceivers"; but when a man tries to fool a woman who has his number, he displays all the subtlety and technique of an ostrich.

* * *

Marriage is becoming such an uncertain affair that a bride sometimes wonders whether or not to unpack her hope chest until she finds out whether it is going to be a continuous engagement or merely a try-out.

* * *

Modernistic ideas about love, marriage and domesticity may broaden a girl's mind and stimulate her thinking powers, but they are pretty sure to ruin her talent for keeping the buttons on a man's clothes.

* * *

When an attractive man begins to near 50, he should put wax in his ears, insulate his vanity and padlock his heart. That is the Age of Indiscretion—and, married or single, he is easy plucking.

A girl likes to keep a man constantly telling her that he loves her, because she probably figures that, if she can make him say it over often enough, he'll begin to believe it, himself.

The first sign that a man has found a new heart-interest is his impatience with the old one, who happens to be in the way.

Japanese Contention Disproved by Record

By James T. Williams, Jr.

SECRETARY SWANSON serves notice that if Japan insists upon reopening the question of naval ratios, adopted at the Washington Conference, the Roosevelt administration will consider renewing American naval fortifications in the Pacific, which were halted by an agreement entered into at the same conference.

Japan's rejoinder to this American admonition comes from the chief of the navy's propaganda bureau, Rear Admiral Sakano, who pretends that "the Washington ratios menace the Japanese empire's safety." He advances the novel theory that the Washington treaty for the limitation and reduction of naval armaments "was framed to meet special conditions immediately after the war" and that it is now "long outdated."

The official record knocks this Japanese propaganda into the traditional cocked hat. Thoughtful Americans will turn to the record before swallowing whole any more alien propaganda from any source regarding American defense.

The record reveals that the United States has long been the leading advocate of reduction and limitation of naval armaments by international agreement.

* * *

Method Decided At Conference

THE record shows that the method of limiting naval armaments, consistently championed by this country, has been the limitation of tonnage in categories, that is, in classes of ships.

This method was agreed upon at the Washington Conference as fair to all the nations participating. By this method each nation which signed the Washington Treaty reserved to itself the right to build within such tonnage in each class of ship the type it considered best suited to its own defense needs, provided the maximum size and maximum caliber of guns fixed by that treaty shall not be exceeded.

The record further shows that this country has consistently advocated "the reduction and limitation of naval armaments to as low a point as the strongest nation would come," provided the ratios established by the Washington Conference were preserved.

These ratios enabled the United States, Great Britain and Japan each to build a navy that would assure to each nation "an equal opportunity to protect its commerce and other national interests" in those areas of the world in which operations for that purpose must inevitably be carried on.

In other words, the Japanese navy, by the preservation of the 5-5-3 ratio agreed upon at the Washington Conference, would equal in effectiveness the British or the American navy, should either attack Japan in the Far East.

* * *

Would Give Navy Equal Opportunity

THE same ratio, it was estimated, would give the American Navy equal opportunity to defend its commerce and other national interests, as against the Japanese or English navy in those areas of the world where such a defense might have to be undertaken.

And the same equality of opportunity was assured the British navy in its own areas of defense by the same ratio.

Therefore, Japan under the Washington Treaty got the same measure of naval equality for defense that was assured to Great Britain and to the United States by the 5-5-3 ratio.

This ratio was slightly modified at the London Conference in favor of Japan, but the principle upon which the Washington Treaty was negotiated and is now enforced still stands. Should Japan persist in her threatened intentions to demand the wiping out of the Washington ratios and the abandonment of the method agreed upon at that conference for the future limitation and reduction of naval armaments, the United States would be forced to take one of two positions:

In the face of such a demand from Japan, the United States would be compelled to resume her naval fortifications in the Pacific as a defense against a Japanese navy powerful enough to dominate the Pacific, or to surrender that ocean to the naval supremacy of Japan.

If the Roosevelt Administration firmly adheres to the position just announced by Secretary Swanson, the world, including Japan, will receive a timely reminder that there is again a Roosevelt in the White House and that he means what his Secretary of the Navy says about resuming the fortification of our Pacific possessions, unless Japan keeps the faith she pledged at the Washington Conference.
